10 Planes Lost in Two Days in Bomb Raids Over Communist-Held Sector

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam's antiaircraft defenses knocked down three more U.S. planes Monday as American jets pounded the Communist north with a record 139 combat missions. Ten American planes have been lost over North Viet Nam since Sunday.

More than 300 planes probably took part in the assault, since a mission may involve three or four planes. But a U.S. spokesman said there had been other days on which more planes had been sent against the north although on fewer missions.

The three planes lost Monday were all Air Force Thunderchief fighter-bombers, the U.S. command said. Two were shot down 60 miles northwest of Hanoi. The third was hit 55 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. Only one pilot was rescued, and two are missing.

Five of the seven planes lost Sunday were Thunderchiefs. Six pilots are missing from those raids.

As the North Vietnamese brought the number of U.S. planes lost above the 17th Parallel to 329, the ground war picked up in South Viet Nam. U.S. Marines battled a North Vietnamese company through the night near the demilitarized zone and other American troops tracked a battered Communist battalion in the central highlands after it mauled a U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Company.

Reports from the highland battleground said the cavalrymen counted at least 85 enemy dead and estimated at least 100

No Injuries Reported

Blast Rips NAACP Milwaukee Office

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An explosion blew windows out of a building housing the Milwaukee offices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People early today and caused minor fire. There were no injuries.

The blast, the cause of which has been undetermined, occurred about 2:15 a.m. At about 3 a.m. a local radio station (WOKY) received a call from a man who said he had planted a bomb in the building.

Firemen said that when they arrived at the scene they found several small fires in and around the building which were quickly put out with hand extinguishers.

Back Hallway

The first floor of the two-story office and apartment building also housed a realty firm office. The structure has two apartments upstairs, one of which is vacant and the other occupied by two elderly women. They were not injured.

Firemen said the explosion occurred in the back hallway of the building.

Detective Inspector Leo Woelfel said after visiting the scene that officers could not determine immediately what caused the blast other than "some kind of explosive."

He said there wasn't "too much fire damage" but that the windows in the NAACP offices had been blown out, the door to the office was damaged, and some windows in buildings nearby had been shattered.

Woelfel said, however, that there appeared to be no damage at the realty firm or in the apartments on the second floor.

The explosive, he said, went off near a milk chute just below a window in the back hallway.

Search Party Finds Body of Slain Texas Girl

Two Youths Held In Three Killings Near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A search party has found the body of a teen-age girl who police say was raped and choked to death after her two male companions had been shot and killed.

The discovery Monday night ended a search touched off early Sunday when a curious fisherman opened the trunk of an

Investigators charged Roy Green, 18, and Kenneth McDuff, 20, both from the Marlin area 100 miles south of here, with murder, then lodged rape complaints on the basis of a statement by Green.

The two youths were accused of slaying Robert Brand, 17, of

Negotiators in Airline Strike To Try Again

Labor, Management Yield to Appeal of House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for striking mechanics and five trunk airlines agreed today to make another effort at solving the dispute that has grounded about 60 per cent of the nation's airline capacity.

The parties, who met into Monday night without narrowing the gap between their positions, yielded to urgent personal requests from the House Commerce Committee, which is considering a back-to-work bill already passed by the Senate.

Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, D-Md., presiding over today's hearing, asked first the president of the International Association of Machinists, P.L. Siemiller, and then the chief negotiator for the airlines, William J. Curtin, whether they were willing to meet this afternoon. Both said they were.

Afternoon Meeting

The meeting was set for 2:30 p.m. at the Labor Department.

Nothing happened at today's committee hearing that gave any indication the negotiators would do any better at reaching common ground than they did Monday.

The assessment when they broke up Monday night was "ceiling zero, visibility, zero," on prospects for a negotiated settlement in the month-old walkout.

The committee has before it a Senate-passed resolution that would order the 35,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists back to their jobs on five

Milwaukee Area Lumbermen Vote To Go on Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Teamster and lumber yard employes voted Monday to strike today against 22 Milwaukee-area lumber yards in Milwaukee, Washington, Ozaukee and Waukesha counties.

Lumbermen's Local 1582 and Teamster Local 200 voted rejections of a wage increase of 20 cents an hour offered by the Greater Milwaukee Lumbermen's Association which represents the 22 affected yards.

Union spokesmen said talks would continue in pursuit of a contract replacing one that expired June 1. They said the walkouut involves about 225 lumber yard workers and 60 truck drivers.

Senate Okays Jobless Pay Regulations

Federal Standards Will Go Before Conference Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to write compulsory federal standards into the 31-year-old unemployment insurance law, sending the measure to a Senate-House Conference Committee where fate of the controversial standards is uncertain.

The 53-31 Senate vote Monday on the bill which would impose such requirements on the states for the first time was an important victory for President Johnson who had asked Congress to fix such standards. The Senate bill fell somewhat short of his proposals, however.

Labor Consolation

It also was some consolation to the AFL-CIO which has had rather lean legislative pickings in the current Congress. AFL-CIO President George Meany had declared the unemployment compensation measure would be worthless without federal standards.

These are the standards the states would have to meet under the Senate measure:

1. Some benefits would have to be paid to a worker after 20 weeks of employment in a year. Only two now fail to meet this.

2. An employe qualifying for benefits would have to get 50 per cent of his own pay up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the statewide average wage. Thirty-two states now fall below this standard.

3. A worker employed for nine months in a year would be assured 26 weeks of jobless benefits if he needed them. Ten states do not meet this now.

Broader Coverage

In addition to fixing standards, the Senate bill would broaden coverage of the law to bring in 2.3 million more workers in addition to 49.7 million now eligible for benefits, set up a permanent program of 13 weeks' extra benefits in times of recession, and raise unemployment compensation taxes to pay for the broadened program.

The House, in passing the bill June 22, did not include any standards provisions.

4 Persons Shot in Racial Violence in Lansing, Mich.

Gangs Throw Bricks, Bottles, Fire Bombs at Passing Cars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons were reported shot, non seriously, as Lansing, Mich., Monday had its second straight night of violence. Gangs of Negro youths threw fire bombs, bricks and bottles at passing cars.

Several other persons were injured before 250 city, county and state police — armed with shotguns and ax handles and using tear gas grenades to disperse crowds — brought the situation under control.

The officers sealed off a section of the city's predominantly Negro West Side when a crowd of about 200 gathered at an intersection and began throwing missiles at passing cars.

20 Youths Arrested

Police said at least 20 Negro and white youths have been arrested since the trouble began Sunday night.

In Mississippi, civil rights leaders have charged that state highway patrolmen used tear gas to break up a Negro voter registration rally at Grenada.

Highway patrol and city police were unavailable for comment.

A Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker, Robert Johnson, claimed that one state trooper fired two gunshots — "one at me."

Hosea Williams, an aide to the conference president, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was addressing about 600 Negroes attending the street rally, Johnson said, when a highway patrolman ordered the crowd to disperse. "When they didn't move, the officer opened fire with tear gas," Johnson said.

The alleged incident was announced to the conference's annual convention, being held i Jackson, Miss., just after U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had finished speaking.

The senator proposed a massive program to upgrade the lives of Negroes in this country. He said the United States is spending $2 billion a month to defend the 14 million people of South Viet Nam, and asked:

"Why shouldn't we make the same kind of effort for the 20 million people of the Negro race right here in America whose freedom and future is also at stake?"

Kennedy also urged Negroes not to draw away from their white supporters. "The greatest gains in civil rights have come when black and white have worked together," he said.

King also called for a massive effort to help Negroes reach a higher living standard. And he said the civil rights bill pending in Congress is virtually useless.

Without the open housing provision, he said, the measure would only "continue the pattern of leaving Negroes in overcrowded ghettos with no possibility of ever gettnig out."

In Chicago, a conference spokesman told a civil rights rally Monday night that the next major target of their open housing drive would be Cicero, an all-white suburb on Chicago's western border which had one of Illinois' worst race riots 15 years ago.

No date, other than sometime this week, was set for the demonstration at Cicero.

Senators Vote 'Yes' On Jobless Measure

Study Landing Sites

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Lunar Orbiter, a flying photography lab was poised for launching today toward an orbit about the moon to snap pictures of the hidden backside, Surveyor 1 and nine potential astronaut landing sites.

An Atlas-Agena rocket was to blast off between 2:03 p.m. and 4:42 p.m. EDT to start the 850-pound spacecraft on its intended 238,944-mile journey.

With its four solar panels folded down to give it the appearance of a giant four-leaf clover, Lunar Orbiter was to dart through the weightless world of space for 90 hours, reaching the vicinity of the moon Saturday morning.

Previous Attempts

If successful, it would be the first payload sent into orbit around the moon by the United States. Seven previous attempts failed, six in the early days of rocketry between 1958 and 1960. The Soviet Union succeeded with Luna 10 last April but it carried no cameras.

Lunar Orbiter is a much more sophisticated vehicle than any of the others and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it had a much greater chance of success than the earlier U.S. tries.

About 550 miles from the moon, after two tricky midcourse maneuvers, a ground signal was to trigger a spacecraft motor, slowing the speed so the probe would be caught in the moon's gravitational field.

For several days, the ground planned to track the craft as it whirled in an orbit ranging from 110 to 1,100 miles above the moon. Then the motor was to be fired again to drop the low point to 26 miles above the sunrface.

While in the high orbit, Lunar Orbiter's two cameras were to take a few general interest pictures, including glimpses of the side of the moon that never faces the earth. The only previous shots of the backside were made by the Soviet Union's Luna 3 and Zond 3—from 37,000 miles and 6,000 miles as they raced past the moon.

Photos of the nine potential astronaut landing areas were to wait until the spacecraft dipped to the lower course, starting about Aug. 22.

The nine areas are located in a narrow band stretching across the moon's equator and include major types of terrain — flat plains, craters and highlands.

One of the areas is in the Ocean of Storms near the crater Flamsteed where Surveyor 1 landed in June and transmitted 11,237 closeup pictures. Officials hoped Lunar Orbiter would ob-

Nigeria's New Military Boss Orders Reform

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's new military boss, Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, has ordered an end to the central government and promised elections. But he set no "firm timetable" for returning the nation to civilian rule.

In a broadcast Monday, Gowon presented a three-stage plan to:

Repeal at once the decree of the previous military government creating a unitary state. The nation will return to the federation form that Nigeria had before the military coup in January ousted the civilian government.

Convene an advisory committee, including nominees of the military governors of the four regions, to recommend "a form of constitution best suited to Nigeria."

Hold a referendum on the constitution.

Final Challenge Remains

House Expected to Pass New Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a broad new civil rights bill is expected today but a final challenge still remains to its key open housing provision.

Voting should begin late in the day after the House completes its section-by-section consideration of the measure.

It wrapped up the next-to-last section Monday night, writing a federal antiriot law into it, and leaving only two relatively noncontroversial provisions to be disposed of today.

All actions taken by the House during the 12 days it has been working on the bill are subject to separate roll call votes just before final passage.

Final Attempt

Opponents are believed ready to press a final attempt to defeat the housing provision by asking for a roll call on an amendment exempting individual homeowners from the proposed ban against racial discrimination in housing.

The amendment, which House leaders consider vital to final approval of the measure, was adopted by a one-vote margin, 180 to 179. If it should be defeated on a roll call, a final motion to knock out the whole section of chance of carrying.

The House wrote a major change into the bill Monday when it adopted an amendment by Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., aimed at prevening outside agitators from inciting racial riots.

Little Dissent

The amendment, shouted through with little dissent, would make it a federal crime, punishable by up to five years in jail or a $10,000 fine, for anyone to cross a state line with the intent of encouraging, inciting or taking part in a riot.

Cramer and many other speakers said the rash of racial violence in some northern cities in recent weeks calls for a federal law to protect citizens against such violence.

Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., one of the few who spoke against it, said it would mark a severe encroachment by the federal police power on state and local jurisdictions. He said there is no evidence local authorities have failed to enforce their own laws against rioting, looting and burning.

Crimes of Violence

Lutheran Unit Elects Leader At Convention

DePere Pastor Heads Area District of Missouri Synod

North Wisconsin members of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod elected their first full-time president in convention session this morning at Lawrence University.

At the same time, delegates were told to chart a "bold and courageous course in the river of life, avoiding stagnant pools of dead orthodoxy and rampaging rapids of radical liberalism."

The Rev. Lloyd Goetz, D.D., pastor of Hope Lutheran Church, De Pere, was named president by the assembly of almost 270 pastors, teachers and lay delegates on the first ballot.

He did not accept the post, however, explaining that he felt it necessary to first consult with his congregation.

Incumbent President

Pastor Goetz is the incumbent in the chief executive's post, having filled the position part-time during the past four years. The 1964 convention of the North Wisconsin District approved a full-time presidency for the district, to start after the convention.

The Rev. Gerald E. Kohn, Ann Arbor, Mich., told delegates in the first section of his three-part essay that "there is a passionate need on the part of the American people to make all things new."

This applies also to the Church, he said. "We should not be lost in reminiscing over the past. There is a new springtime in the Church," the former Merrill pastor added.

"The Church is the functioning of God in creatures of flesh and blood made new. God is really present in His people," the essayist concluded.

In other convention business, delegates:

Major Expansion Program Sought for UW-Fox Valley

Najem Asks Outagamie County Supervisors to Help in Planning For 10-Year Project on Campus

A critical point in enrollments at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley campus, with student population expected to more than double in the next 10 years, was foreseen by Dr. Robert Najem, outgoing dean of the school, in an address to the Outagamie County Board this morning.

Najem, newly-appointed director of the Articulated Instructional Media Program of the UW extension division, asked supervisors to help the institution undertake a major expansion program at the Town of Menasha campus.

Najem said projected enrollment figures show 1,500 students on campus in 10 years, compared to a present figure of 600. The term beginning this September, he added, already should have 700 students enrolled, with 50 instructors.

Curtail Enrollments

If expansion is not undertaken soon, he added, the point will be reached where enrollments will have to be curtailed. He said the present facilities are "utilized almost to the fullest" and are showing a "100 per cent return."

Najem outlined the problems now being experienced at the center. He said that from the student standpoint, there are practically no recreation facilities, a relatively poor athletic program and negligible outlets for social life.

Handicaps facing the faculty, he said, are crowded office conditions, no faculty lounge, little storage area, no first aid room and limited use of the basement area due to low-hanging pipes and dampness.

"Within a month, we'll have to begin considering renting office space," Najem told the board.

Two-County Operation

"I find myself in the embarrassed necessity of coming to you to seek help for Outagamie County's students," the dean explained.

He outlined the operational setup at the Fox Valley campus, explaining that it is the only one in the university system operated by two counties.

Najem went on to say that his campus is "caught between two giants," Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh to the south and Lawrence University to the north. "Both are excellent schools and are growing rapidly," he explained.

No action was taken by the county board this morning on Najem's request for a continued county commitment at the school. Najem indicated he has not yet fully outlined the needs to the Winnebago County Board, but has made it aware of the need of expansion.

Salaries Okayed for Appleton Teachers

School Board Also Votes to Help Finance Insurance Policy

A salary schedule for teachers in the Appleton Public School system for the 1967-68 school year was adopted Monday night by the board of education.

Salaries for new and beginning teachers in Block I, which includes five steps, range from $5,400 to $6,048; those with 15 credits over their bachelor degree, from $5,550 to $6,198; those with bachelor degrees plus 24 credits, from $5,650 to $6,298; those with master degrees, from $5,800 to $6,546, and those with master degrees plus 15 credits, from $5,950 to $6,696.

In Block II, which includes steps six through 10, salaries for teachers with a bachelor degree will range from $6,264 to $7,056; bachelor plus 15 credits, from $6,414 to $7,206; bachelor plus 24 credits, from $6,514 to $7,306; masters, from $6,728 to $7,560, and masters plus 15 credits, $6,878 to $7,710.

Other Schedule

In Block III, including steps 11 through 15, the salary for teachers with bachelor degree is from $7,264 to $8,096; bachelor plus 15 credits, $7,414 to $8,246; bachelor plus 24 credits, $7,514 to $8,346; masters, from $7,768 to $8,600; and masters plus 15 credits, $7,918 to $8,750.

In Block IV, including steps 16 through 18, teachers with a bachelor degree will get salaries ranging from $8,304 to $8,598; bachelor plus 15 credits, $8,454 to $8,748; bachelor plus 24 credits, $8,554 to $8,848; masters, $8,808 to $9,596; and masters plus 15 credits, from $8,958 to $9,746.

The salary plan, put together by the board's professional improvement committee and members of the Appleton Education Association, was adjusted so as not to exceed $400 in any one classification above salaries in the 1966-67 schedule.

Phase Out Schedule

According to Charles Buchanan, president of the board who was in charge of the improvement committee, the head-of-family schedule, which provides for higher wages for persons who are the main support of their families, will be phased out in the next two years.

"This was set up during the depression when times were tough for everyone and we feel that since this is no longer the case, the idea has outlived its usefulness," he said.

In the agreement, the board of education also agreed to finance one-half of the cost of a group term life insurance policy for all employes, equal to $1,000 of term insurance for every $1,000 of annual salary, not to exceed of $10,000.

According to terms of agreement, however, it will be the responsibility of teachers to secure the necessary requirements of 75 per cent of the employe participation in the program.

Board Okays Truck Purchase

Low Bid of $25,100 Accepted for New Airport Facility

Without question or a single dissenting vote, the Outagamie County Board's airport committee this morning obtained permission from county supervisors to purchase a fire truck for the airport.

Appleton Supv. John Dietz, vice chairman of the airport unit, said after the vote that the $25,100 truck will be ordered immediately from the Howe Fire Apparatus Co., Anderson, Ind. It probably will not be delivered until spring, Dietz said.

The Howe firm was the lowest of three bidders. Other bidders were Pierce Auto Body Works, Appleton, and Melray, Inc., Hortonville.

Money to purchase the truck will come from the 1967 airport budget.

The airport committee at a meeting Aug. 1 recommended approval of the Howe bid. None of the county board members questioned the request.

Emergency Runs

The Appleton and Grand Chute fire departments now handle fire and emergency runs to the airport. Specifications for airport fire apparatus were drawn with the assistance of Appleton Fire Department officials.

The Howe unit, on a Ford chassis, is designed to carry 500 gallons of water, plus chemicals for fighting airplane fires. The unit has special nozzles and can be manned by one person.

The airport committee also won unanimous approval of two

Anti-Pollution Programs Get First Chance at Monetary Aid

Kellett Report To be Delayed

Committee to Make Statement On Legislator Pay

MENASHA (AP)—The Kellett committee's recommendation on pay raises for Wisconsin lawmakers may be delayed at least a week beyond the original target date for finishing the study.

The report had been planned for next Monday, but William R. Kellett, chairman of the committee, said today, "The questionnaires did not come back quite as quickly as we planned."

The retired president of Kimberly-Clark Corp. said at his office here that members of the blue ribbon committee would assemble to study the statistics as soon as an analysis by computer is completed.

"I'm hopeful that we can get going on it before the end of next week," Kellett said.

He said the delay "is only a matter of a few days, rather than any extended period."

Proposal Vetoed

The prestigious businessmen's committee was asked by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to study the pay issue after Knowles vetoed a proposal to hike annual salaries of senators and assemblymen from $5,400 a year to $9,600.

The Kellett committee's recommendation is to be used by personnel officials in setting the new pay level for legislators by the end of this year.

The committee surveyed all legislators and conducted private interviews with civic leaders. The results are being fed into a University of Wisconsin computer before they are reviewed by committee members.

Kellett said the meetings to sift the statistics will be closed, but the final session to adopt a recommendation will be open to the public. He said no date had been set yet.

Firemen Called to Blaze at Prange's

Appleton firemen were called to the H. C. Prange Co. at 7:13 p.m. Monday to extinguish a wastebasket fire in a rest room of the building's restaurant.

Priority Given to Localities Under State Abatement Orders

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Localities now under orders of the state government to build water pollution abatement facilities, or those likely to receive such orders soon, will get first consideration in the distribution of state and federal financial aid for such improvements, the state resource development board decided Monday in its first policy-making meeting.

In other major actions, the governing board of the reorganized State Department of Resource Development approved the filing of a test case in the State Supreme Court to determine validity of the new state credit program designed to aid localities in fighting pollution, and to hold a series of hearings on the division of the state into districts for the administration of the new water protection law recently enacted by the Legislature.

Such a mapping of the state and creation of district advisory committees must be completed by Jan. 1, the new law provides.

The decision of the board to channel federal aid in a different fashion may affect the plans and hopes of some localities severely.

Assure Aid

But it evidently will assure such assistance, as well as early state credit assistance if requested, for communities now under state clean-up orders including Algoma, Cecil, Kaukauna, New London, Potter, Wabeno and Winneconne, among others, which already have aid applications on file.

Heart of the new anti-pollution program is a plan for state underwriting of the interest costs of up to $300 million worth of municipal pollution control projects, and local government use of state building corporations for the issuance of bonds.

Board members expressed confidence the court will uphold the constitutionality of such a program, but Chariman John Potter of the group explained that bond counsel in New York and other bond markets will withhold approval of such issues unless there is literal and

Wisconsin Synod District Meets

Lutheran Attacks Evolution Theory

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"The theory of evolution contradicts every major point of our Christian doctrine," delegates to the Northern Wisconsin District convention of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod were told today.

Speaking at the second day of the golden anniversary convention was the Rev. Dr. Siegbert Becker, head of the religion department at Milwaukee Lutheran Teachers College.

At the meeting, the Rev. John C. Dahlke, Weyauwega, was re-elected to the post of district president. The offices of first and second vice president and secretary were to be filled later in the day.

Reviews Time Element

In stressing his major point of evolution versus Christian doctrine, Dr. Becker reviewed the time element involved in the creation of the world, the creation of man, the meaning of original and actual sin and the Christian doctrine of death.

"The context of the word 'day' is so clear and so definite that we can't question the meaning of the length of the day. It states: God divided the light from the darkness and God called the light day and the darkness He called night," he emphasized.

This, he said contradicts the evolutionary idea that a day in the Bible could mean millions of years.

Evolution also states that men were once nothing more than beasts, different in degrees but not in kind from all the rest of the animal world, he said.

"Created Intelligent"

"The Bible states, however, that man is created in the image of God, intelligent and conscious right from the beginning," Dr. Becker said.

In evolutionary philosophy, therefore, original sin is only the remnant of the beast in us for which we can hardly be responsible, but the Christian concept contends that one ancestor of the whole human race fell into sin, and his consequent depravity and guilt were passed on to all descendants who are born in the natural way, the minister said.

"The evolutionary philosophy also destroys the whole Biblical doctrine of actual sin," Dr. Becker said.

According to Genesis, sin is the violation of a command of God and guilt is the state of being liable to punishment — in this case, death. In the evolutionary view, there is no such thing as absolute commands from God: laws rather are rules of conduct that are developed by experience, he said.

Death is Tool

"Evolution is also incompatible with the Christian view of death. The Bible says that death came into the world as a result of the sin of Adam: the theory of evolution contends, however, that death is the basic tool of evolution and has no connection between death of man and his sin," Dr. Becker said.

"But if this is true, what is the significance of the death of Christ? If death were not the wages of sin, what did Christ die for?" Pastor Becker asked.

In the past few years, there has been the new approach by some church bodies to "bring the Christian thinking in line with evolution by interpreting

Glory Days at Quarterback Gone

Matte Returns to Halfback

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Tom Matte is back with the troops, running at halfback for the Baltimore Colts. His days of glory as the fill-in quarterback are gone but not forgotten.

"I doubt if I'll see action again as a quarterback," said the Ohio State product who filled in for injured Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo in last December's crucial periods.

"I enjoyed it," he said. "I always wondered if I could do it. Now I know I can. The offensive unit put out a little more for me in the emergency and the defensive team was super.

"We're still a little bitter about that field goal call in the tie playoff game with Green Bay. It cost us all money. The Playoff Bowl game with Dallas was the best I ever played.

"Back to Reality"

"Now it's back to reality. I just hope I can be a big help to the club. I think last year should make me more effective on the running pass play. It made Frank Gifford and Paul Hornung. Maybe it can help me."

Matte took over last year after Unitas and then Cuozzo were injured while the Colts were driving down the stretch. Although he hadn't played quarterback since his days at Ohio State with Woody Hayes' "three yards and a cloud of dust" offense, he did a fine job. Matte led the Colts to victory over Los Angeles, forcing a tie playoff with Green Bay. The Colts lost to the Packers 13-10 in 13:39 of a sudden death period. Then they bombed Dallas 35-3 in the Playoff Bowl, with Matte throwing two touchdown passes.

"Carried On Wrist Band"

"Yes, it was true that I carried the offense on a plastic wrist band," said Matte. "I would check the defense and then check the play chart in the huddle. It did help me. I had our whole offense on it, 50 or 60 plays.

"When they sent the wrist band to the Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, Don Shula said, 'There goes our whole offense for the world to see.'"

Matte became a celebrity on the strength of those final games. He spent the winter making appearances, speaking in 10 countries and 15 states. He toured the NATO bases in Europe, showing films of the Green Bay and Dallas games.

Coach Shula has no plans to use Matte at quarterback this season unless another emergency arises. However, he does expect to make more use of him as a running back. And, if the occasion arises, don't be surprised to see Matte flipping a pass.

Dressen Still in Serious Condition

DETROIT (AP) — Doctors say there is no evidence Charlie Dressen has suffered additional heart damage, but the Detroit Tigers manager remains hospitalized in serious condition.

Dressen, 67, recovering from his second heart attack in 14 months, entered Henry Ford Hospital Sunday, suffering from a kidney infection.

The hospital reported late Monday he "seems to be responding to treatment and shows slight improvement. However, he continues to have some elevation of temperature and his condition remains serious."

Hearing Slated to Determine Cassius Clay's Status in Draft

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A hearing Aug. 23 could provide the basis for determining if heavyweight champion Cassius Clay is exempt from the armed services draft because of his religious beliefs.

Clay, a convert to the Black Muslim religion, claims exemption as a conscientious objector. Under his present 1-A classification, he is eligible for the draft.

Clay will be represented at the hearing by New York attorney Hayden Covington, who handled hundreds of Jehovah's Witnesses cases during World War II when that religion claimed deferment for its members.

This is the second hearing for Clay, who successfully defended his heavyweight crown last Saturday night against Brian London.

The champion met with his local board last March 17, claiming deferment.

Clay failed the army mental examination twice, and was classified 1-Y.

Landing Plane On City Street Costs Man $100

Waukesha Pilot Pleads Guilty of March 21 Violation

William A. Skaife, 34, Waukesha, who on March 21 landed his small airplane on W. Whittier Drive, Monday morning was fined $100 and costs after he changed his plea to guilty of operating a vehicle in excess of eight feet wide on Appleton streets.

A second charge, landing an aircraft on lands of another without consent, was dismissed on a motion by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, who told the court he was not sure the state could prove beyond a reasonable doubt that consent was not implied.

Schaefer recommended the maximum fine on the other charge after Skaife pleaded guilty through his attorney, Edward Bollenbeck. Skaife originally had pleaded innocent to both counts.

Schaefer and Bollenbeck "exchanged words" during the court proceedings this morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Bollenbeck said in regard to the charge that was dismissed that he believed it had been brought under an outdated 1929 state statute. He suggested that Appleton adopt an ordinance covering the landing of airplanes on city property.

'Ridiculous'

Regarding the second charge, that of operating an overwidth vehicle on city streets: "It was absolutely ridiculous to search through the statute books to get a charge to stick the defendant with," Bollenbeck said. The count was a motor vehicle charge, he added.

The unauthorized landing charge was brought by Schaefer on March 25, while the second count was brought in May.

Counsel Named For Pair Charged In Oneida Theft

Two young men charged with burglarizing a Town of Oneida service station July 3, were found indigent when they were arraigned Monday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller set bond at $2,500 each for Michael Rico, 18, Okauchee, and Wayne F. Meunier, 25, Sullivan. Judge Keller appointed William Schuh to represent Rico and Philip Schlicting to represent Meunier. The cases were continued to Friday afternoon.

The pair was arrested by Outagamie County authorities following investigation into the burglary at Bob's Citgo Service.

A cash register was taken from the Oneida station.

Pleads Guilty of Bad Check Count

Ralph T. Helser, 29, 807 Koehnke Road, pleaded guilty Monday to a worthless check count brought by Outagamie County authorities.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller deferred sentencing to Sept. 13. Helser is free on $100 bond

The Appleton man is charged with cashing a worthless $10 check July 15 at a Little Chute Humble Service Station. The check was drawn on a Marinette bank.

Goldberg Predicts Space Peace Treaty

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union will reach an agreement soon on a treaty pledging peaceful use of outer space, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg predicts.

Goldberg, who has been negotiating the treaty in Geneva, told a news conference Monday about 80 per cent of the treaty has been settled and he hopes a complete text will be worked out in time for approval by the U.N. General Assembly at its session beginning Sept. 20.

The negotiations are being conducted in the legal subcommittee of the U.N. Special Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

Lutherans of Two Snyods Told to be Strong in Faith

50th Annual Convention by State District

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

About 300 pastors, teachers and lay delegates from the Northern Wisconsin District of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod were encouraged to faithfully keep witnessing for the Lord, at the opening service Monday of the synod's golden anniversary convention.

Speaking at St. Matthew Church on the text taken from Timothy I, the Rev. George Kobs, Markesan, told his audience, "Be not thou, therefore, ashamed of the testimony of the Lord."

In Bible times, as today, Pastor Kobs said, men were commissioned to spread the testimony of the Lord. And like today, this was often resented "Because the Gospel is often humiliating and unnatural to man and his carnal nature, and there was, and is, the danger of compromise."

But if we are to witness for the Lord, we can't compromise: because the Bible explicitly tells us to 'Go and preach the Gospel to every creature,' the pastor said.

"This is a huge command and involves tremendous work but at the same time we also have Christ's promise, "I'm with you — even to the end of the earth'," Pastor Kobs said.

And with only this command the men of God had to, and have to, expose the Gospel to people who were, and still are, entrenched in their old beliefs and ways, he added.

"But though the cause was unpopular, there never was greater glory and victory," the pastor said.

Don't Be Ashamed

No man is ashamed of power, or wisdom, liberty and freedom and inheritance, he said, so why should we, as ministers of the church, be ashamed of these virtues.

"We all strive for wisdom and power, so shall we not strive for the greatest of all wisdom and power? We fight and live and die for liberty and freedom, so shall we not do the same for the freedom from sin and bondage? We hope for inheritance, so shall we, the heirs of His testament, be ashamed of everything that has been handed down to us?" the pastor asked in conclusion.

Liturgist for the service was the Rev. Sylvester Johnson, St. Matthew pastor.

Business sessions, which include elections and reports, started this afternoon. The convention will run through Wednesday. About 150 congregations within the district are represented.

375 Delegates Hear Official From St. Louis

BY HENRY SIMON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Be steadfast in the faith and abound in love," Dr. R. P. Wiederaenders told more than 375 persons attending the opening convention service of the North Wisconsin District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod Monday morning.

"Say it aloud for all ears to hear," he urged delegates. "God gives us salvation through Jesus Christ."

The first vice president of the synod, from St. Louis, spoke at the traditional rite of Holy Communion at Faith Lutheran Church.

Faith and the love which motivates that faith is necessary more than ever because "Our world is coming progressively apart." Dr. Wiederaenders told pastors, teachers, lay delegates and visitors at the service.

The responsibility of Christians is not just to safeguard the purity of doctrine, the official reminded his listeners. "If purity of doctrine is dear to us, we must permit it to work in us and through love."

'Can Do The Work'

"We must abound in love. We must have confidence in the purity of God's Word and that it can do the work necessary in the church," he said.

"We are first and foremost believers in Jesus Christ, not members of an organization," Pastor Wiederaenders emphasized.

"Only through the context of Christian faith can we understand the war in Viet Nam and the social, economic and racial revolutions, or face the problems that are causing heartache in our synod," he said.

"While we must not gloss over differences, we must use love," Dr. Wiederaenders said.

He called for a stop to "loveless attacks" and "sowing the seeds of suspicion" among the 2.75 million-member church body.

'Face Tensions'

"We must face these tensions honestly and in the fear of God. A deep sense of humility is necessary: it must draw us unto God," the official said.

Business on the agenda included a synodical report by Dr. Wiederaenders, the report of the committee concerned with the duties of the district's first full time president and reception of new pastors and congregations.

The convention is meeting on the campus of Lawrence University. Sessions are being held in Memorial Chapel.

Open committee hearings will be held tonight. Convention activity started Sunday evening, as about 60 men arrived to hold preliminary committee meetings.

The convention, which marks the 50th anniversary of the district, will run through Thursday. Almost 240 congregations with 100,000 members are represented at its sessions.

Village's Second Annual Festival

5,000 Persons Enjoy Sauerkraut, Country Hospitality at Bear Creek

BY LORRAINE A. WILL Post-Crescent Correspondent

BEAR CREEK—More than 5,000 persons partook of sauerkraut by the votful and old-time country hospitality at the second annual sauerkraut festival here Sunday.

Bands provided music for dancing in the popular and polka styles, while an auction featured a Holstein calf reputed to smile when it ate thistles.

An antique country store featured old items and a gift shop contained many displays of needle and fancy work.

Through it all visitors kept eating sauerkraut, prepared in various dishes with kraut taken from the Flanagan Brothers, Inc., factory. The German dish was heated on a special stove designed by men of St. Mary Roman Catholic Church, hosts for the festival.

Parade Begins Promptly

Highlighting the event this year was the parade, which began promptly at 2 p.m. as scheduled, even though a heavy downpour had forced visitors to seek shelter only an hour before.

The line of march included an honor guard, bands, floats and kiddies parade contestants.

Winners in the kiddies costume story book parade were George Suehring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Suehring, first; Randy Bricco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Bricco, second; Debbie Jarvais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jarvais, third; Todd, Timmy and Tammy Miller, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller, and LuAnne Jepson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Jepson, fourth, and the William Sullivan children, fifth.

Feature Flag Raising

Ceremonies at noon featured the flag-raising ceremony and talks by the Most Rev. John B. Grellinger, pastor of the parish and auxiliary bishop of the Green Bay Diocese; State Senator Gerald Lorge, and Village President Leonard Lisbeth.

Miss Micheline Rhode was crowned queen of the festival by 1965 queen Jean Young following the parade.

The parish had prepared for the village-wide event by converting its grounds into a park-like setting, including paving several areas and planting shrubbery.

Uncle Sam, Below, clearly has the best view of the parade in Bear Creek's second annual Sauerkraut Festival. A parade participant, above, wheels enough cabbage for Uncle Sam and many more. (Will Photos)

Man Nabbed After Chase Gets Jail Term

Rural New London Resident Becomes Violent After Capture

A 21-year-old rural New London man, who had to be restrained after Shiocton police chased him and finally located him under a bridge, was sentenced to 45 days in jail and fined $25 and costs after he pleaded guilty Monday of disorderly conduct, intoxication, and driving without a license.

Daniel Ybanez, route 1, was arrested early Monday morning by Shiocton Police Chief Raymond Muskavitch who was called to a beer bar about 12:30 a.m. when the proprietor said a car ran into his gas pump then sped off.

Muskavitch told the court Monday afternoon that when he arrived at the scene, Ybanez had returned and was arguing with the proprietor. Ybanez became belligerent, Muskavitch said, and when police went to the squad car to radio for assistance, the man fled toward the river.

Fled Again

Muskavitch said that a short time later he received a call that Ybanez, a foundry worker, was attempting to get into a car near a Shiocton restaurant.

Ybanez fled again and this time was located under the Wolf River bridge on State 54.

Muskavitch said Ybanez had to be handcuffed and on the way to jail "swore, spit on the windshield, threw his head against the window and kicked at the squad car radio equipment."

Ybanez began hitting his head against the wall at the jail office, the court was told.

The man presently is on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for operating a vehicle without the owner's consent, a charge of which he was found guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 last March.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered 15 and 30 day sentences, respectively, on the charges of having no drivers license and disorderly conduct, and a $25 fine or 12 additional days in jail for intoxication.

Boys Must Wear Belts, Administrator Says

Miniskirts Taboo at New London High School

NEW LONDON — Changes in style will not alter the school administration's policy on dressing standards, Supt. H. James Ramsdell has announced. Miniskirts are out.

After board of education approved having the administration continue to set attire policy, Ramsdell said, "We are aware of and recognize the change in styles.

"Rules are enforced because of dress or hair styles which are very accented or in poor taste."

Ramsdell said items on the forbidden list, in addition to mini-skirts, would be cleats on shoes and sports wear other than shirts. He added that students will be required to wear belts.

On the side for the students, Ramsdell said, will be a broad policy on hair styles.

In other action at the school board meeting Monday, sale of Northport School to the Town of Mukwa was approved for $3,000.

Lone Bidder

The town was the lone bidder for the white-frame schoolhouse which was closed at the end of last school year. An offer for the building had been made by the town, but the school board thought it would be fair to put it up for public sale.

Price quotations for updating the outdoor lighting at Washington School will be sought by Ramsdell for presentation at the next board meeting.

Dedication of the new senior high school will take place in mid-October. An open house is planned.

Board members discussed what sort of program would be held, including a speaker for the ceremony and refreshments. Committees to complete the program will be named at the next meeting.

Student Participation

Laying of the cornerstone will take place in ceremonies the first week of school, Aug. 29 to Sept. 2, with the student body taking part. The ceremony will be separate from the dedication and open house.

Bids were awarded to:

—Bi-County Co-op, New London, for about 22,000 gallons of gasoline with a bid of 20.4 cents per gallon, including seven cents for state tax.

—Cities Service Co., New London, for motor oil with a bid of 66 cents per gallon in barrels and 86 cents per gallon in case lots.

—Continental Oil Co. for about 50,000 gallons of fuel oil at a bid price of 10.08 cents per gallon.

—New London Farmers Co-op Oil Co., with a bid of $12.85 per ton for coal.

—Borden Milk Products, Clintonville, with a bid of 4.98 cents for white milk and 5.23 cents for chocolate milk in one-half pint containers.

All Concerned Could be Hurt By Air Strike

Continued Refusal To Settle Might Bring Tight Control

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the worst messes of the year — the airlines strike — is beginning to cause the kind of irritation that in the end may put tight strings on both management and labor.

The machinists' union has been on strike against five airlines over a month. This shutdown represents 60 per cent of the country's air services.

But this is an election year and Congress, not anxious to antagonize labor, has been hemming and hawing about passing legislation to force the strikers back to work until a settlement is reached.

The machinists say the airline companies figure they can hit a better bargain if Congress forces the strikers back to work and therefore for the past week have made no new offers. There was no bargaining last week, but talks resumed Monday.

Wage Increases

The machinists on July 31 voted down as not big enough a wage increase agreed to by their own negotiators and the airlines and blessed by President Johnson who intervened to get a settlement.

The strike continued. Then the Johnson administration pussyfooted in this election year and refused to take a stand one way or the other on whether Congress should pass a law forcing the strikers back to work.

The Senate finally passed a resolution ordering them to return to their jobs for 30 days and giving the President authority to keep them there another 150 days until a settlement is reached.

(It would be a worse mess still if, after such a measure became law, the strikers refused to return to work.)

National Emergency

At first the Senate sought to justify its action on the grounds that the strike had caused a national emergency. But Johnson's secretary of labor, W. Willard Wirtz, said there wasn't any such thing.

Then the Senate said the strike "threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive any section of the country of essential trasnportation services."

The House Commerce Committee is now considering action on the Senate bill but meanwhile the chairman, Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., urged the strikers and the companies to settle the dispute to avoid legislation "you will regret the rest of your lives."

Negotiators Called

Thereupon Wirtz summoned the negotiators of both sides to a joint session.

There have been basic frustrations about these negotiations — as there always are about any such dragged-out negotiations resulting in long strikes affecting the public interest — and the results eventually may not be good for management or labor.

For more than 20 years, when big crippling strikes have occurred, there have been calls for compulsory arbitration to prevent any more of them. It seems certain that the only thing which prevented Congress from passing compulsory arbitration for labor and management was this simple fact: That the big crippling strikes were scattered far enough apart to allow public indignation to cool down between them. But now the talk starts again.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a liberal New York Republican, has predicted within a year Congress will pass permanent legislation to deal with strikes in airlines and other industries which, like airlines, are government-regulated.

And Vice President Hubert H Humphrey said unless business, industry and unions display "self-discipline" on wages and prices issues it could lead "to something nobody will like." He said there was a possibility that this something might be anti-strike legislation

Backing LBJ Best Course For Candidates

Campaign Chiefs From Both Parties Agree on Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Democratic and Republican campaign chiefs agreed today the best course their party candidates can follow in this fall's congressional election is to support President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

Sens. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, head of the Democratic Campaign Committee, and his GOP counterpart, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, also agreed in separate interviews that full employment is likely to offset in part dissatisfaction with rising consumer prices.

Magnuson looked for an even exchange of Senate seats, with the Democrats retaining their 67-33 Senate margin. Morton felt the Republicans would pick up from three to six Senate seats in 35 contests in 33 states.

Not Pressing

Magnuson said that while he isn't pressing senatorial candidates to follow the advice of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to campaign in full support of the administration's Viet Nam policies, he has found that those who do have won most of the primaries.

"The Republicans aren't making Viet Nam an issue in most races and I think that is because there is wide support for the President's policies," Magnuson said.

Morton said that most Republicans take the position that Johnson is pursuing the right course but hasn't done enough yet to bring the war to an honorable conclusion.

Issue Simple

"I think that from the Republicans' standpoint, the issue is simple," he said. "We don't debate how many angels can stand on a pin. We have nearly 300,000 men in Viet Nam and we and the President want to get them out under honorable conditions.

"We are not weakening our President. It is the statements of prominent Democrats that we don't have a sense of purpose in the war that have encouraged the North Vietnamese to keep on fighting.

"The greatest service the country could do for the President in this respect would be to give him more Republicans in Congress."

Magnuson said that while inflation will be a problem in the election, he believes the administration is "doing a great deat to slow it up."

more were killed by U.S. air and artillery fire.

The fighting was accompanied by a sudden spurt in helicopter losses. Nine U.S. Army and Marine choppers were casualties Monday. Two crashed and burned west of the highland town of Pleiku, while seven more were damaged in other action.

With the help of air and artillery support, two small Marine units stood off an estimated 150 North Vietnamese through the night just south of the demilitarized zone where the Leathernecks met and scattered a division of Hanoi regulars last month.

Helicopters brought in reinforcements after daylight, but the enemy had broken off the fight and disappeared into the rugged jungle covered hills. The Marines began a hunt for the North Vietnamese unit.

Casualties Unknown

Casualties in the small - scale but intense fighting were not immediately announced. The American wounded lifted out by helicopter included a company commander.

Farther south, U.S. infantrymen and cavalrymen searched for a North Vietnamese battalion of about 500 troops that inflicted heavy casualties on the cavalry company Monday. Military authorities said the company took heavy losses, meaning perhaps 50 of the 150 men were killed or wounded.

The company was hit from three sides as it prowled the Ia Drang Valley, only a few miles from the Cambodian border and the site of the first major American encounter with the North Vietnamese last November.

Served As Bait

The company offered itself as bait in Operation Paul Revere in which 15,000 allied troops are trying to prevent an enemy drive across the central plateau to the sea in the waning months of the rainy season.

The Communists unleashed the attack after the Americans flushed out 15 or 20 Reds from bunkers in the brush along the Ia Drang River, killing nine and capturing five. The Reds threatened to overwhelm the cavalrymen but U.S. artillery and planes poured 2,000 shells and tons of searing napalm on the Communist positions in the 3149o shrd shrd shrdl shrdlhrdl thick elephant grass.

U.S. Marine tanks caught a column of about 30 Viet Cong 15 miles south of Da Nang during Operation Macon and killed 12 of them, a spokesman reported. He said this had raised the enemy toll in the operation to 263 killed.

8 SAMs Sighted

During the bombardment Monday of North Viet Nam, U.S. pilots sighted eight surface to air missiles, a spokesman said. As usual, he refused to say whether any of the aircraft lost were brought down by missiles or conventional ground fire.

Air Force pilots concentrated Monday on railroad yards and barges in North Viet Nam while Navy fliers hammered water transportation and routes facilities, a spokesman said.

Navy F4C Phantoms from the carrier Constellation ranged near Haiphong, hitting a petroleum storage area with rockets and 500-pound bombs, he added.

In the south, U.S. Air Force pilots flew a record total of 1,592 single-plane combat sorties against enemy targets in the past week, an announcement said.

The U.S. command reported that an Air Force F4C Phantom jet crashed and burned in South Viet Nam Monday after a strafing run over Communist positions 35 miles north of Saigon. Both crewmen were killed. It was the 120th U.S. plane reported lost in combat in the South, excluding helicopters.

On the diplomatic front, North Viet Nam joined Communist China in denouncing a joint call by the Philippines, Thailand and Malaysia for an All-Asian peace conference. The Hanoi Communist party newspaper Nhan Dan termed the proposal "a cheap farce staged by the third-class henchmen of U.S. imperialism."

Despite the surface unity between Hanoi and Peking, a Yugoslav correspondent reported some evidence of strain between the two allies, particularly over U.S. air raids.

Paper Dragons

"Peking considers American planes paper dragons," said Radoslav Jovic in a dispatch from Cambodia to the Belgrade newspaper Borba. "Hanoi has felt that they are made of steel."

Jovic also said "Peking regards the proposal by Indian Premier Indira Gandhi and other statesmen for a new Geneva-type conference as a Soviet-American-Indian plot, while Hanoi does not." But he warned against supposing there is "a definite rift between Peking and Hanoi" and said President Ho Chi Minh's diplomacy was "sufficiently delicate" to keep the differences from growing into a major problem.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand, one of the chief promoters of the All-Asian peace conference, said in Bangkok that despite the initial discouraging Communist reaction to the proposal, Peking eventually would have to take into account "free Asian opinion" in favor of a settlement.

Negotiators in Airline Strike To Try Again

major airlines for up to 180 days.

At the urging of the committee, negotiators met for nearly eight hours Monday in the first face-to-face session since the strikers rejected 10 days ago a tentative settlement reached under White House auspices.

When Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz adjourned the talks Monday night, he said he had no present plan for further negotiations and reported that prospects for ending the walkout at the bargaining table had ebbed to "ceiling zero, visibility zero."

"I can't offer one single ounce of encouragement," Wirtz said.

The chiefs of the 12 largest union locals were called into Monday's negotiations. This was an apparent effort to avoid any repetition of the July 31 vote by strikers rejecting the agreement which had been worked out at the White House.

The 12 officials, representing a majority of the 35,000 strikers, were from New York, Miami, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago Minneapolis and Kansas City.

tain pictures of Surveyor 1 and its surroundings.

Lunar Orbiter, made by the Boeing Co., planned to take 32 pictures of each area, some of which might be relayed live to nationwide television. Each frame would have a medium resolution picture showing an area 23 to 56 miles and a high resolution picture of an area 10 by 40 miles in the center of the larger photo.

The high resolution pictures would clearly show objects the size of a card table. The best earth telescopes, by contrast, can't clearly identify objects less than half a mile in diameter.

Lunar Orbiter's pictures were expected to have more clarity than those obtained by the television-type cameras of Surveyor and the earlier Ranger series. The craft was to take 400 pictures like an earthbound photographer and process them in its own automatic laboratory, converting them to radio signals to relay to the earth.

A few were to be transmitted after processing, but the majority were to be stored and sent later over a period extending to about Sept. 15.

Lunar Orbiter also carried instruments to measure radiation, micrometeoroids and to gauge the shape of the moon.

Science Trying To Duplicate Nerve System

Work Could Lead To Revitalization of Disabled Muscles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Science is striving to measure and artificially duplicate the functions of the human nervous system. It is possible that some day science may be able to duplicate the functions of certain nerves in human bodies.

Such research may mean hope — though many years off at best — for persons crippled by nerve diseases which have left muscles still available, though useless.

Polio is an example. So is the possibility of rehabilitating an arm left useless after a stroke. Nerve research also may lead to artificial limbs that can be operated by signals from the brain such as those that control muscular movement in normal bodies.

At present there are two principal aims of work on artificial nerves:

1. To learn more about how nerve cells work to govern movement, impulses, thoughts and emotions.

2. To learn how brains work and how man can use this knowledge.

This research takes two main avenues. One is neural modeling — making electronic or mathematical models of individual nerve cells to duplicate certain functions.

The other is actual psyiological measurement — the direct study of the actions of the nervous system. Scientists view neural modeling as a useful theoretical supplement to physiological measurement.

The problem of determining how the brain functions is enormous. There are at least 10 billion nerve cells in the brain and each is further complicated in itself and in connections to other nerves.

Neural Model

Leon Harmon, an electronic engineer at Bell Telephone Laboratories, has been working on neural modeling for about 10 years.

Each neuron, he says, "is in itself not as originally thought some years ago — a simple relay or a telephone switchboard-like element which just flashed on or off if it was suitably energized. But rather each of these tiny neurons packed in your head is in itself a miniature computer."

Human neurons ranged in length from less than one-thousandth of an inch to nearly four feet. The longest starts in a toe and ends with a connection in the spinal cord.

Many Neurons

There are so many neurons in the human body that the loss of about 50,000 a day appears to make little difference in physiological or intellectual functionings.

"Between the ages of 20 and 50, we lose about 10 per cent of our nerve cells," Harmon says. "They die out through natural attrition of one kind of another — X-rays, fever, disease, old age."

So far as is known, none of these neurons is replaced.

Harmon and his colleagues have been working on the sensory part of the nervous system — how the eye sees, how the ear hears.

One model resembles electronically a network in the human ear. The results of experiments with it, checked later at a laboratory in Japan, determined that in monkeys, at least, the ear seems to work according to the way the model had predicted.

Spinal Cord

While Bell at Murray Hill, N.J., is working on the eye and ear, scientists at Johns Hopkins applied physics laboratory — in conjunction with the National Institutes of Health near Washington, D.C. — are working on motoneurons, the nerves in the spinal cord that control muscles.

Work at Johns Hopkins turned to the nervous system when engineers found themselves looking for improved control systems for missiles.

"We hope that what we have learned in missile control systems may be applied to gaining knowledge of the nervous system," says Fred Hiltz, a Johns Hopkins engineer. "And conversely, we hope that the nervous system may teach us more about control systems and information processing."

Duplicate Functions

Hiltz's group has built electronic duplicates of nerve cells found in various nervous systems. "We have duplicated to a limited extent certain functions of networks of neurons found in the spinal cords of cats," he says.

"The hope is to employ these or similar devices in things like heart pacemakers and prosthetic devices where a person has temporarily or permanently lost certain neuromuscular functions.

Estimated at $2.9 Million

Cost of TFX Warplane Soars to $5-8 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The costs of a big military project — the controversial TFX warplane and its Phoenix air-to-air missile weapon system — have skyrocketed, Defense Department figures show.

The department made the multimillion-dollar increases known in reply to series of questions submitted by The Associated Press.

The Pentagon figures show the cost of the TFX, known as the F111, to be about $5 million for the Air Force version and $8 million for the Navy model.

In 1962 there was testimony before Congress that the unit cost of the F111 would be about $2.9 million.

Phoenix System

The original estimated cost of developing the Phoenix system was $137 million. The cost now is $258 million and the weapon still reportedly is having guidance and control problems.

The Pentagon said the reasons for 85 to 90 per cent of the increased costs were "government change orders to improve the capability and increase the versatility of the F111."

The Air Force version of the F111 — the F111A— is being built at Fort Worth, Tex., by General Dynamics, while Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., Calverton, N.Y., is building the Navy's F111B.

Evaluation Board

The F111 was selected by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara despite the recommendation of a 235-man evaluation board that a Boeing Co. design be accepted.

McNamara said the General Dynamics design would ultimately save the Defense Department $1 billion.

One of the reasons, he said, was that it offered a high degree of identical parts for the Navy and Air Force versions.

The Pentagon said more than 82 per cent of the air frame parts are common. It did not use the term identical.

The term "commonality" arose during 1962 Senate hearings on the craft. The Boeing design offered parts that were "common"; that is, similar General Dynamics offered identical parts.

Behind Schedule

The plane and its weapons system also are behind schedule. The Pentagon said the "F111B and Phoenix schedules have been revised to provide for a more optimum weapons system development. They should provide for the delivery of an operations system within the desired time frame — the 1970 era."

Other sources said the F111B weapons system is 12 to 18 months behind schedule.

Search Party Finds Body

Alvardo, his cousin, Mark Dunnam, 16, of Tarzana Calif. and Edna Louise Sullivan 16, of Everman.

The slain trio was last seen Saturday night after attending a movie. Miss Sullivan had been dating young Brand about six weeks.

Concentrated On Search

Investigators concentrated their efforts on the search for Miss Sullivan, a brown-haired high school sophomore whose name was found scrawled in lipstick across a window of the death car.

At least twice authorities took Green into the vicinity but each time the youngster was unable to lead them to the girl's body.

Late last night the bushy-haired youth, sketching a crude map on a napkin, directed searchers into the general vicinity of the girl's body, but was led away before the discovery was made.

A small band of searchers, who stayed behind after the organized hunt had been called off, stumbled upon the body face down in tall grass beneath an oak tree.

Worm Diggers Turn Again In Wiscasset

WISCASSET, Maine (AP) — Maine worm diggers have turned on the worm dealers again.

Sand worm diggers along the Sheepscot River were on strike today backing demands for a 25-cent increase in the fee they receive for digging up 100 worms.

Between 75 and 100 sand worm diggers struck Monday. They want $1.90 for each 100 worms instead of the $1.65 they now receive.

Last week, 300 blood worm diggers won a strike against worm dealers in which they demanded $2.50 per 100 worms, an increase of 25 cents.

Sand worms and blood worms are used as bait by sport fishermen.

Rainmaker's Spirits Also Undampened

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Edmond Charles Jeffery, a rainmaker still standing on dry ground, isn't fuming. But his efforts are.

Interested, if skeptical, spectators said Jeffery's chemical activities atop a 36-foot tower at nearby Morena smelled just like rotten eggs.

His efforts to create rain by chemical gases failed to yield even a dribble Monday but he said he would stay at it all week.

In failure he at least has escaped the sad fate of Charles Mallory Hatfield, whose disciple Jeffery claims to be. Hatfield was hired by the city in 1916 to save the city from a catastrophic drought.

After a month's effort Hatfield was rewarded by a downpour so great that reservoirs overflowed and 20 persons drowned. When the council refused to pay his $10,000 fee he departed, broken in spirit and pocketbook.

Jeffery claims he knows Hatfield's secret. He says it is based on the theory that gases emitted by volcanoes produce rain.

"Just wait, you'll see," said Jeffery.

Zoo Animals Saved From Death at Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—Fifty-five animals, four of them African antelope ordered by the Milwaukee County Zoo, headed today for an island in Long Island Sound instead of being dumped into the sea.

The Agriculture Department had ruled the animals from Kenya could not enter the United States because their ship had visited unauthorized ports violating disease - control regulations.

Protests, however, led the department to agree to spend $25,000 for a special 60 - day quarantine of the animals in pens while the imports are studied for illnesses that might affect American livestock and wildlife.

The Milwaukee zoo was one of 13 U.S. zoos having ordered the shipment. Department personnel will care for the animals before they are shipped to Clifton, N.J., for a regular 30-day quarantine.

Commission Gunboat

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The Asheville, a $3-million aluminum gunboat designed for counterinsurgency patrols and attack, has been commissioned here. The ship is named after the North Carolina city.

Steel Prices and Inflation

President Johnson remarked last week that the government may have to cut spending for projects like the space program "if particular segments of our economy continue to raise their prices." It was obvious he was referring to the recent increases in the prices of strip and sheet steel.

At first glance we were startled. Was one of the basic laws of economics beginning to seep into Presidential thinking? Was the President saying in effect that huge government spending for the purchase of such commodities as steel was a factor in forcing steel prices up?

The thought was only a fleeting one. His full statement read like this: "If particular segments of our economy continue to raise their prices and increase the cost of this (space) and other programs, it will be necessary for the government to reduce its expenditures, particularly in those areas where prices are rising in an inflationary way."

The total statement was a mild threat to the steel industry and any others contemplating price increases that the government might retaliate. And it reiterated the absurd simplification that price increases can be blamed solely on the whims of industrial management without reference to existing conditions in the market place.

Without meaning to, the President, however, hit upon one solution to further inflation in this country — reduction in government spending.

What profits our economy for the government to take more and more money away from the American wage earner for Social Security and income tax withholding, thus reducing private spendable income, if the federal government then merely turns around and spends all the additional tax income itself?

What has happened to the old-fashioned idea that in times of prosperity when government revenues are high some of those revenues should be applied to reducing the government debt?

A combination of reduction in government spending and increased application of tax revenues to debt reduction would be the most effective program possible for controlling inflation. Federal debt reduction has the beneficial effect in times like these of reducing the supply of credit available nationally.

The President in his comments on steel price increases inadvertently stumbled upon the perfect solution to his problem. But we doubt it will ever be put into effect.

A Program of Street Repair

The contract has now been awarded by the Common Council and Appleton will soon have an estimated 15 miles of streets resurfaced in keeping with provisions of a new maintenance policy which will provide proper treatment of roadways when they require it.

The resurfacing program has been a long time in coming but in the final analysis, members of the Council are to be praised for the manner in which they arrived at agreement in adopting a policy calling for a continuing resurfacing program.

Instead of aldermen putting in requests for street repairs, or property owners petitioning for same, as had been the policy in the past — the Department of Public Works has now been vested with the authority to come up with a proposed program each year. Streets to be treated will be those with the most traffic and in most need of repair. All streets in the city will be designated a priority rating, based on annual inspections.

Property owners will be assessed accordingly for the resurfacing projects on their respective streets and all will be treated on a fair and equitable basis.

The new street maintenance policy is what Appleton has needed for some time and should go a long way in improving the city's road system while giving neighborhoods a better look in general.

After all, good streets do speak well for a community.

The Use of Atomic Bombs

The controversy over whether the United States should have dropped the A-bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki once more has been in the news with former President Eisenhower's statement that he now doubts that we should have unleashed the atomic destruction. But the hard fact is that such slaughter is the inevitable result of war.

Governments at war attempt generally to get the people aroused to the point of willingness to sacrifice all for victory. Even in nations where such efforts are more subtle, as they usually are in this country, the populace begins to share a consolidated hatred for the other side born out of casualties among their own friends and kin. When the lists of dead and wounded are expanded in their natural horror by atrocity stories, the emotional response also grows. In a short time, a military response of almost any nature is simply considered the deserved punishment for barbarities.

It was the treatment of concentration camp inmates combined with the bombing raids on England which was greatly responsible for the day and night bombing of German civilians by the American and British air corps. And certainly the Bataan death march as well as the high casualties we suffered in the island by island reconquest of the Pacific contributed to the decision to drop the A-bombs whatever the true military picture at the time.

So far this hatred has been noticeably absent in the Vietnamese war. In part this is to the credit of the Johnson Administration's efforts to limit the fighting. In part too it represents what may be a widespread feeling of the American people that we do not belong in Viet Nam and that whatever the Communist nature of the Hanoi government or even that of Peking, they are not a direct threat to our freedom.

But in spite of ourselves, it will be hard to maintain this aloofness for long. The increased American casualties, pictures of captured American airmen being led through North Vietnamese streets for the taunts of the crowds, the threat of war criminal trials, all combine to take a reasoned response in the war away from us.

Let us hope that in some future years we will not be arguing about whether or not we should have dropped a nuclear device upon Hanoi, Peking and the capital cities of all who do not agree with us. Of course if the prophets are right about what would happen to our world in a nuclear war, there won't be much to argue about or many of us to do the arguing.

Looking Backward

'Union' Signatures Fraudulent

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Aug. 9, 1866.

It appears that most of the names of known Republicans or Union men appended to the call for the "Bread and Butter" State Convention have been used without warrant of authority.

They signed a call for a Convention last June under different circumstances and for a different purpose Their names now have been published as signing the call for the Convention next Wednesday.

They have never placed their signatures to a call for a Convention to send delegates to Philadelphia to cooperate with Pendleton, Vallandigham, Augustus Caesar Dodge, Henry L. Palmer and that class of politicians, with a view to placing the Government into the hands of rebels and Copperheads.

Such is now the obvious purpose of the Convention which is to meet at the Capitol in Madison day after tomorrow.

Under such circumstances it is not surprising that men who have been neither rebels nor Copperheads, and who do not prize the President's bread and butter above all things, are beginning to disown the whole affair.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 5, 1941.

William Koester, Oshkosh, was elected president of the Koester family at its reunion at Telulah Park, Appleton. Other new officers were Miss Leone Bolte, Appleton, vice president; Mrs. Harold Christen, Appleton, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Frank Smith, Appleton, picnic chairman for the next year.

Officers elected at the Rohm family picnic reunion at Telulah Park the previous Sunday were Ed Rohm, president; Seldon Powell, vice president; Florian Heinrich, treasurer; Mrs. Florian Heinrich, secretary; Ralph Rohm, director.

Members of the Boelter-Timm family elected officers at its third reunion at the homestead farm of Oscar Boelter in West Bloomfied. They were Hans Zuberbier, Weyauwega, president; Mrs. Frank Ritzke, Appleton, secretary; Oscar Boelter, treasurer, and Miss Arlene Koplein, Weyauwega, historian.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, Aug. 7, 1955.

Richard Willis was to portray the role of the cartoonist in Attic Theatre's presentation of "The King of Hearts," comedy by Jean Kerr and Eleanor Brooke. Others in the cast included Mrs. Willis, Jim Wilson, J. Russell Podzilni, Joyce Ihlenfeldt, Malcolm McIntyre, Barry Helms, P.C. Homes, Peter Roberts and Robert Bonini Jr.

R. A. Peterson, president of Valley Iron Works, was awarded an honorary "rail-splitter" membership in the 84th Reserve Division for his support of the reserve program.

Mrs. C. C. Schroeder, Appleton, was one of the 8th District Republican delegates to attend the GOP National convention in San Francisco later that month.

Dallas Acts to Fight Juvenile Delinquency

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the Dallas Crime Commission, John McKee, says the city should build a workshop to help rehabilitate the increasing number of juvenile lawbreakers no matter what it might cost.

He said juveniles account for nearly half the major crimes in Dallas, and that the number of repeat offenders shows that "our basic system in handling the problem today is wrong."

McKee said the city and county could go in together to build the prison workshop to teach juvenile offenders a trade.

'Well, at least they're all pointing the same way.'

Brezhnev Consolidating Position In Russia; Kosygin Behind 8 Ball

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Western Europe diplomats on post in Moscow privately confirm that Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev is putting Premier Alexei N. Kosygin more and more behind the eight ball.

It took Nikita Khrushchev six years to consolidate his Kremlin power. Brezhnev has achieved a speedup. Our relations with the U.S.S.R. are narrowing.

Taylor

These impeccable diplomatic sources say Brezhnev first served notice on Kosygin behind the scenes last December when he made I. V. Kapitonov executive head of the party apparatus. Kapitonov, widely regarded as Kosygin's rival, is Brezhnev's man.

Next, Brezhnev has reinstated V. V. Scherbitsky as party chief in the vital Ukraine. Soviet is the Russian word meaning council. But in the Soviet Union the soviets exercise no power and are merely the organization of the Kremlin government in the states. Party leadership in the Ukraine, however, is different. This was the steppingstone for Khrushchev as well as for Brezhnev himself.

BLOCK FOR SHELEPIN

In the same stroke Brezhnev designed a block against up-and-coming Alexander N. Shelepin, 47. Largely unknown in the West, Shelepin (intensely anti-American) has inside holds absolutely unique in the power pyramid.

His climb was cross-buttressed by his positions as a member of the government, a secretary of the Central Committee, and thus a member of the Presidium, and also chief of the secret police. Moreover, Shelepin's ties were with the Soviet youth. He began to climb as leader of Communist youth organizations.

Brezhnev removed him as deputy premier and head of the powerful committee for party and state control and shifted him to the party secretariat. This put Shelepin under Brezhnev's command.

This Shelepin shift has involved a reorganization of the Soviet security systems. While these remain intercompetitive (as often are ours) and the police arms continue to devour each other and their own members, Brezhnev is reorganizing these into stricter channels.

Simultaneously he is buttering up the armed forces leaders. Hitler Adjutant General Wilhelm Burgdorf once boasted, "The Fuhrer has so many generals he can use them to feed the pigs." Breshnev is clearly avoiding that arrogant mistake.

The Moscow diplomats see him moving with equal relentlessness toward exclusive control on the hard-pressed economic front. He moved in Deputy Premier Veniamuiu E. Dymshits, as chairman of the State Committee for Material and Technical Supply, the central agency that distributes industrial goods throughout the U.S.S.R.

The result appears to be a running dogfight with Kosygin protege Nikolai N. Baibakov, chairman of the State Planning Committee and Vladimir N. Novikov, Kosygin's pet pup who is supposed to supervise the industrial ministries inside the paperwork jungle.

DECLARATION OF WAR

Meanwhile, Brezhnev seems to be coordinating the fruits of the Tri-Continental Congress which met in Havana at Castro's invitation January 3-16. This was attended by Red delegates from 82 countries and added up to an open declaration of war on the United States.

Brezhnev has put the congress's machinery in the hands of an executive secretariat composed of representatives from 12 countries, four from each continent. And the chairman of the secretariat reports to him.

The effect is a double policy now throughout much of Latin America by which the Soviet government operates at one level and the Communist party at another.

Brazil is an example. The Soviet government does not attack the Brazilian government that overthrew the Red-oriented regime. In fact, on the surface it maintains an elaborate cordiality with Brazil's new leadership that came out of the army Putsch. But the Kremlin's Communist activity through the local party constantly increases its undercover power plays in Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo and the Amazon back country, pushing toward the fall of the government.

In many respects the Kremlin is a house of cards, but the game is poker and stakes are power. The Western diplomatic sources find atrabilious Breshnev as blankly official and orderly as a census paper but a power fanatic nevertheless.

These diplomats have a saying about de Gaulle: "Resist him, he hates you. Obey him, he scorns you." They say the same now about Brezhnev.

Wisconsin Report

September Date for State Primary Old And Archaic System

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The bystander occasionally wonders whether the candidates for statewide elective office have some reservations about the state's traditional election calendar, as they pursue the voter during hot summer months when his attention is clearly on other matters.

Wyngaard

Virtually everyone who has thought about the matter is likely to conclude that the election date schedule inherited from the pioneers is now archaic and irrelevant for current conditions, not only from the viewpoint of the convenience and advantages of the vote-seekers, but from the viewpoint of the public interest.

An election campaign in its highest and best definition is an exercise in democracy, a too for civic education, and an essential ingredient of self-government and electoral responsibility.

Yet in today's situation, which is reasonably typical of Wisconsin experiences in many past years, some of the principal candidates are wearing themselves out and emptying their purses at precisely the time when the voters who are their targets are least likely to be paying heed. Vacation schedules, and a hundred seasonal diversions make the body politic virtually deaf at this time of the year, as against spring or autumn.

HOW IT GOES

The lively competitors for the Democratic nomination for the governorship illustrate. Four of them have been frantically criss-crossing the state for weeks. At best, they have had a fractional attention. They will wind up their ardous work about mid-September, exhausted in spirit and physical strength, and with campaign treasuries bare. Immediately the winner will be expected to begin the serious part of the struggle, which is the campaign against the Republican nominee. In this instance, at least, he can be expected to come into the fight fresh and with his financial resources unimpaired.

More to the point from the view of the body politic, the victorious Democrat will have only a few weeks to make his case against the incumbent governor, whatever its merits may be. The calendar inherited from other times and deriving from ancient causes is clearly not suited to the conditions and the party relations of today.

Why should the law provide more time for the debate and publicity involving nomination issues than for the struggle between the parties? The reason is fairly plain. The basic machinery of Wisconsin elections was contrived half a century ago or more when Wisconsin was a one-party state and the voters' choice was basically within the Republican Party and its two factions. A more logical and effective arrangement today would be to have the primary election in late spring or midsummer to permit the fullest development of the issues between the parties and the programs of the party nominees.

That spring or early summer primary could very well be combined with the ordinarily scheduled April elections, which are now held in April for about the same reason that the fall elections are held so late. The obvious purpose of the early legislators was to accommodate the convenience of a rural farm population with respect to planting schedules in the spring and fall, and the quality of the Wisconsin climate.

But none of those considerations or the peculiarities of party structure that influenced calendar making early in the century are pertinent today. The surprising thing is that the politicians themselves, most directly and selfishly involved in this awkward system, have not thought to initiate improvements and reforms. A few months ago there was a promise of such revision, in connection with a rewriting of the presidential primary law on a bipartisan basis. But that fell a casualty to the pressures of the short spring legislative session. Needed now is another bipartisan review of an archaic election schedule.

Strictly Personal

Are Humans Heading For Fate of Dinosaur?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Have you noticed how people are getting larger all the time? Last evening, sitting in a restaurant, I was practically dwarfed by a party of high-school boys and girls having an after the-dance supper.

Harris

It's those vitamins and stuff they're feeding the infants these days, I'm sure. When I was a toddler, no one had heard of vitamins; the most I ever got was a daily dose of repulsive cod liver oil, which may have been good for my "system," but which didn't manage to get my stature over 5 feet 9.

Six-foot lads used to be a rarity when I was a lad; now one finds those boyish heads bobbing in the stratosphere all over the place. It can't be anything but changed dietary habits that does it. As Amram Scheinfeld, the population expert, recently remarked, "The human body is undergoing the most remarkable changes since the dawn of history."

This Alice-in-Wonderland mushrooming is even more startlingly evident among the girls. I happened to be in a ladies' shoe store not long ago, and the salesman confided that women's feet are getting bigger every year. Sizes 9 and 10 are not at all uncommon, and a dainty 5 is virtually unheard of among high school girls nowadays.

In England, where no false coyness prevails, and where there is a club for everything, there has been formed a British Association of Women with Large Feet, which has been pressuring manufacturers to produce more shoes in bigger sizes.)

The social and psychological problems of a tall girl can be extremely intense, even with an increasing number of tall men around. Tall girls apparently find it hard to seem poised, graceful and feminine — and this very concern, of course, makes them more awkward, and self-conscious.

There seems little doubt that growth can be controlled by diet; and it might be advisable for mothers to stop dropping vitamin pallets wildly into their girl babies' mouths, on the silly assumption that if one vitamin is good, six are six times as good. Vitamins are needed only when there is a real diet deficiency; and most Americans are not deficient in this respect.

All the other animal species that spurted in size became extinct, like the dinosaur which grew too cumbersome to cope with its own bodily needs — and giant human beings don't live too long. When men get too much over six feet tall, their longevity drops to an alarming degree. It may be acceptable to breed our boys for basketball teams — which is already approaching freakish proportions — but what in the world do we intend to do with all those elongated girls?

Italians Show Right Way to Make Honey

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian agricultural officials reported encouraging results from the use of imported Italian bees.

Colonies at Punjab Agricultural University at Nagrota yielded 27 pounds of honey per hive, compared with the average Indian yield of 10 pounds, they said.

Officials said they hope, through use of Italian bees, to increase India's honey production from 1.5 million pounds to 10 million annually.

Genetics Looks At Body Growth

they are able to cause these changes, or mutations. Ahead lies the task of understanding how to control the changes, to make sure that mutations which occur are desirable.

Tinkering with genes can bring great peril as well as great benefit.

Scientists are confident that not only the shape but the very thoughts of men can be controlled genetically, by predetermining the structure and function of the organs that generate emotions.

What if, in the not too distant future, some nation set out to breed a race of war-loving supermen — while the United States was breeding peaceful intellectuals?

Such a situation probably is several generations distant; and man may have improved himself enough genetically to meet it with wisdom.

Other Crises

But there are other crises closer at hand.

The recently learned skill of transplanting kidneys and implanting artificial hearts has created a small furor over the question. Should ability to pay be the primary factor in determining who gets this chance at extended life?

Geneticists believe they some day will be able to relieve the current shortage of human "spare parts." They would take a bit of healthy tissue from a failing heart, for instance, and direct its genes to grow a whole new heart — easily transplantable back into the patient because the patient's body would not reject its own flesh and blood.

But even if enough spare parts were available for all who needed them, the transplanting would require considerable skill and effort.

Ethics Question

Serious questions of ethics arise.

What kinds of people will be worth this trouble? Scientists? Politicians? Clergymen? Physicians? White collar workers? Laborers?

Who shall decide which are worthy?

And who shall pick those who decide?

Loaded with questions like these, the coming genetic explosion could rip society wider apart than a hydrogen bomb.

Oh it could create a paradise on earth.

Genetics Aims To Learn 'How' Of Body Growth

Regenerating Parts, Creating New Ones Could be Possible

EDITOR'S NOTE — The day when man will control his own evolution — predetermine his own shape, thoughts and emotions — may soon be here Few outside the field of science realize what is being accomplished The following first of four articles explores the existing — and sometimes frightening — prospect opened up by recent gains in a comparatively new field of research: Genetics.

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer

Would you like to be able —

To grow a new heart, brain, kidney, arm or leg whenever you need it?

To grow gills and live in the ocean or wings and fly with the birds?

To explore other planets in a strange new body adapted and made impervious to the most hostile environment?

Or would you settle for something simple, like a doubled or tripled life span in a world cleansed of disease?

Those are some of the more exciting possibilities scientists believe have been opened for the human race through recent advances in genetics.

There is a grim side, too. The same advances conceivably could be used to turn men into a race of slaves whose thoughts and emotions are predetermined through genetic tinkering.

Need for Decisions

Eminent scientists — men such as Dr. Melvin Calvin of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California and Dr. Ray Owen, chairman of the Biology Division of the California Institute of Technology — already foresee a need for decisions arising from this new trend in research.

Genetic tinkering is almost certain to generate opposition — from environmentalists who believe the way to improve man is to improve his environment, not his heredity; from religious leaders who believe the human form exists today as it was created originally by God and should not be altered.

Genetics is the science of heredity.

'To Give Birth'

It deals with genes — from a Greek word meaning "to give birth" — and how they control growth, using patterns handed down from generation to generation.

Although incredibly tiny — every human body cell has an estimated 150,000 of them in its nucleus — genes are the most powerful living force yet found.

Genes control the manufacture of protein molecules, the building blocks of life. And now science has learned that genes themselves can be controlled.

Thus man eventually may be faced with deciding whether he wants to go on looking and thinking like his ancestors — or whether he wants to be something completely different.

The first big breakthrough in genetics — discovery that heredity and growth are influenced by a chemical substance called DNA — came in the 1940s, almost simultaneously with another great scientific discovery: The unleashing of the forces of the atom.

Household Word

"Atomic" has become a household word. "Genetic" is destined to become one.

There are many scientists who believe that cracking the genetic code, learning the language of life, is at least as vital to mankind as cracking the atom, perhaps more so — the promised ability to control what we are made of could lead to a race of men invulnerable to radioactive fallout.

When will this brave new "genetic age" come to pass? Authoritative estimates vary from a generation to a century.

Elementary efforts at genetic tinkering, altering the genes of lower life forms, have already succeeded Heat, X-rays and drugs have changed the offspring of bacteria and even insects so that they are hardly recognizable

Cause Mutation

In the past 10 years, biologists have begun to understand why

Democrats Worried by Prosperity Problems

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Under normal circumstances, economic prosperity swings elections heavily in favor of the party in power . . . This rule holds even though in non-Presidential election years, the dominant political party in Congress usually loses some seats.

Porter

Will this rule govern to the customary extent this November? Or will the mounting problems of 1966's prosperity increase the Democratic party's anticipated losses?

Whatever happens in Viet Nam will, of course, be an overriding election force, and developments here will also profoundly affect our economy. Since guessing about Viet Nam 90 days from now is a futile exercise, let's assume the November election is held against today's economic background.

Economic Boom

On this assumption of no change, the fundamental economic factor in the politics of November will be our prolonged boom.

Wages and salaries are at a peak. Farm income is way up and net income per farm is at an all-time high. Total profits are still climbing to new records. Employment is the highest ever and unemployment is approaching a minimum.

So it goes. I need not strangle this analysis with statistics. The fundamental of prosperity is indisputable.

But it also is indisputable that since late 1965, our economy has developed "irritations" which are marring our spectacular record. To be specific:

Fixed Incomes Hit

Inflation. This is bound to be a top issue made to order for the Republicans. The Democrats may argue that accelerating price increases reflect the fact that our economy is finally operating at full capacity and the boom itself is putting strains on materials and manpower. They may insist that our economy is so taut only because of Viet Nam's extra pressures. They may point out that the rise in our price level is still within tolerable limits and our price performance is the best of any industrialized nation. Nevertheless, accelerating inflation is undermining consumer confidence, is eating into the buying power of all dollars earned and saved, is pinching millions on fixed incomes. It can't help but be an election issue.

Tight Money. An irony of this election well may be that the traditional "easy money" party will be combatting the charge from the traditional "hard money" party that under President Johnson, money has become the tightest and most expensive of modern times.

The Democrats may argue that today's historically steep interest rates are the result of the boom-created demands for credit and the Federal Reserve's clampdown on credit. They may insist that the credit squeeze is preferable to a hike in income taxes which would directly cut the take-home pay of tens of millions of individuals and the after-tax profits of millions of businesses. They may point out that they are as worried as anyone about the impact of tight money. Nevertheless, the fact is that the worst credit squeeze in a generation has developed under a Democratic-controlled White House and Congress. This can't help but be another big issue.

Housing Problem

The Slump in Housing. the rising cost of installment loans, the squeeze on savings and loan institutions, the pinch on small business. All these painful developments are due primarily to tight money — and tight money, mind you, is due to the heated boom. Nevertheless, apart and together these developments hurt millions of voters. It will not be easy for a Congressman up for reelection to explain the subtleties of a "healthy" housing decline to millions of frustrated homebuyers, homesellers, homebuilders.

Threat of Income Tax Hikes. Who will be blamed for the economic situation which has created this threat?

This is only a sampling of the major "irritations" and how much they will influence November's elections I would not presume to project. But even this short listing suggests the problems of prosperity will be plaguing the party in power this November.

Man Jailed for Beating Wife

A 42-year-old Bear Creek man who injured his wife in a beating Sunday night, was sentenced to 30 days in jail Monday after he pleaded guilty of battery.

Merl Hendrickson appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, on a complaint signed by his wife, Hilda. She told authorities her husband "slapped her and struck her repeatedly" on the face.

The incident was investigated Sunday by Bear Creek Constable David Fletcher.

Mayor Sees Cat Who Came in From the Rain

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

You wouldn't believe it but a cat staged a sit-in at the Appleton City Hall Monday.

The feline, expressing itself with loud and clear "meows", undoubtedly was speaking out against a proposed cat ordinance.

Letters pro and con have been received by the mayor and aldermen, and some have not been too complimentary.

A few persons speaking out in favor of the ordinance have been badgered by angry phone-callers, one of them threatening physical harm. The matter has been turned over to police for investigation.

No one knows where the cat came from but it had enough sense to come in out of the rain.

City hall observers said they didn't think the incident was a "plant," taking the position the animal just happened to stray in when it saw the two doors open.

Startled Secretary

The surprise visitor first startled the city attorney's secretary by making an unannounced entrance into her office.

"At first I couldn't believe it . . . a cat sitting right there next to me," she exclaimed.

Several attempts to usher the vocal cat out the building proved unsuccessful — each time it managed to sneak its way back to the basement level offices.

Finally, the cat got its apparent wish — an audience with Mayor George Buckley — when the secretaries brought the animal upstairs and asked him what to do about it.

Private Lounge

The mayor took note of the feline's opposition to a cat-regulation ordinance proposed by Ald. John Steidl (18th) recently, and advised it be turned over to the department of inspection.

However, the inspectors were all out on official duties and it was necessary to convey the cat to its own private lounge in the boiler room.

A secretary in the finance director's office then called the Humane Society.

The color of the pet was described as "tattle-tale white with spots."

Having been in and out of the rain, the secretaries admitted the intruder was a pretty damp bundle to be carrying around.

State Youth Held for Alleged Threat Against President Johnson

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A youth from Mondovi, Wis., was being held here today on a federal warrant alleging that he threatened to kill President Johnson.

U.S. Atty. Patrick Foley identified him as Roger Lee Rutschow, 19.

Foley said Rutschow allegedly told Secret Service agents he thought he would kill the President.

The Secret Service, Foley said interviewed Rutschow on the the basis of remarks previously made to Army recruiting officers. He was arrested during the interview.

Poor Conversationalist Asks Ann for Much Needed Advice

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: All my life I have been a poor conversationalist. You have printed letters from others who have had this problem and you've told them the world needs listeners. Well, I'm not even good at that.

I often sit silently, hanging on to every word, when I don't understand a thing. It's almost as if I am listening to a foreign language. I graduated from high school with honors so I can't be retarded, although at times I've felt this was a very real possibility.

I once thought my problem was a limited vocabulary, so I made an intensive study of words, their origins, meanings and everything I could lay my hands on relating to the subject. It didn't help.

When I see a play I know if I like it or I don't like it but I can't speak coherently about what I have seen. The same goes for movies. I can't even repeat an amusing incident to a friend without losing my train of thought.

When we lived in a small town I managed to bluff, but in Indianapolis it's rough. My husband is a successful business man and his friends are bright. He is very attractive and I feel sure that he just stays with me because of the children.

Can you offer any advice or am I — Hopeless?

Dear Friend: Your problem is not mental or intellectual. It is emotional. Your enormous feeling of inferiority has created a psychological block which makes comprehension virtually impossible under such circumstances.

You need psychiatric help and I hope you'll get it at once.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I married my husband 22 years ago, he neglected to mention that he had been married before — to a girl who was pregnant with his child. I learned of it 13 years later, by accident.

When I confronted him with the information, my husband said he didn't see any reason to tell me since the girl meant nothing to him. He said he stayed with her only until the child was two weeks old, then disappeared from sight.

The child, a girl is now 27 years old. She is married and is the mother of three small boys.

Last year the child "discovered" her father and now she won't let him alone. She lives in another city, but she phones and writes letters to him and he has gone to visit her three times. How can anyone be so stupid? This man has proved he didn't care about her so why does she continue to pester him?

My husband seems to enjoy his new-found family. I've asked him to stop seeing these people but he has ignored my feelings completely. Will you please tell me what to do? — Fruit Cake

Dear F.C.: You can do nothing, so stop trying.

It might help if you would accept the fact that none of this is the girl's fault. She may be stupid but she's human. Her father is a rat but he is still "father" to her and she wants to establish a family relationship. He apparently wants to establish a family relationship, too. So be friendly if it kills you — because if you aren't friendly, it'll kill you sooner.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Area Golden Agers Spend Sunny Day at Park

Smith Park, with its lovely formal gardens and broad green lawns was the sunny setting Saturday for Golden Age club members from the Northeastern Wisconsin Area. About 700 of the senior citizens arrived for the all-day program and were greeted by a 'welcome' sign as they entered the park.

Official welcomes and announcements of the program preceded community singing and a buffet lunch.

The afternoon program was designed to please everyone. There were lovely Smith Park models to lend a gracious air to the day, displays of the Elks American Historical Flags, flower gardens, and old time picture booth, Vincent Galassie's miniature car, and George Larson's old time Ford and bicycle; penny ice cream cones served by Betty Rebekah Lodge, and a refreshment stand, manned by members of the Kiwanis Club.

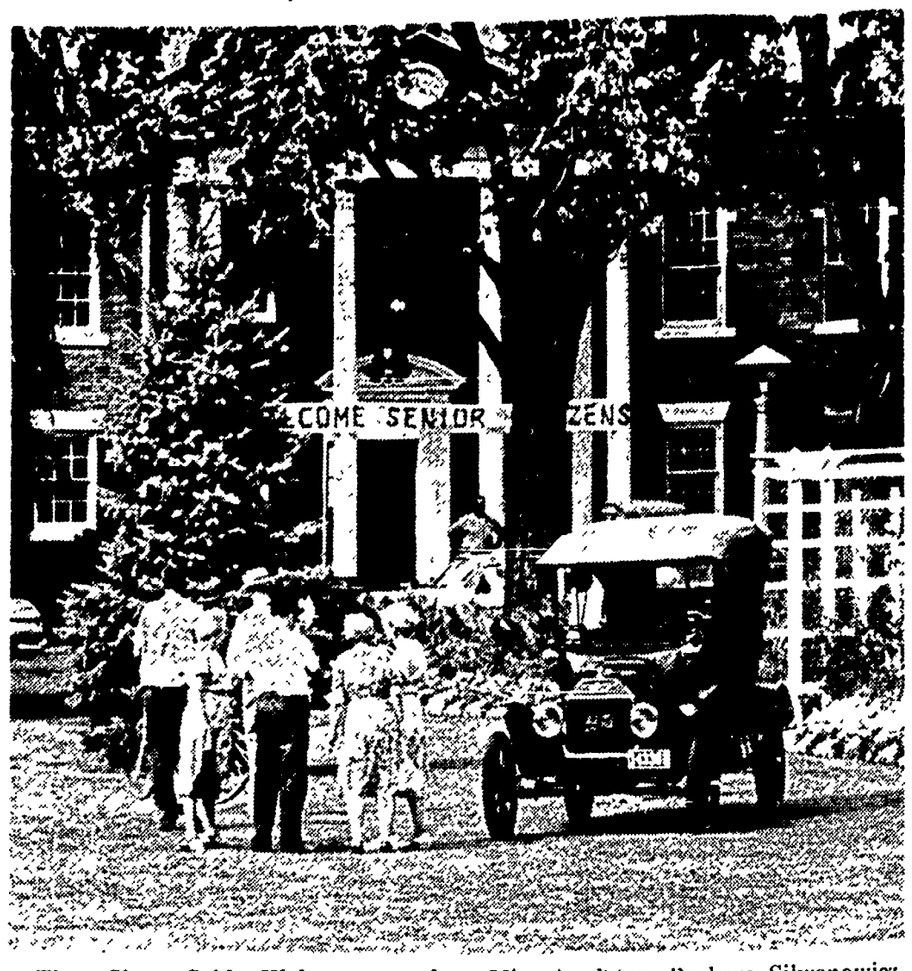
Albert Rosin, Kaukauna, his pipe clenched between his teeth, walked across the Smith Park lawn to join friends.

Special Interests

There were also special interest activities. Card tables were in abundant supply and well used; square dancers gave an exhibition at 1:30 p.m.; the Golden Agers themselves danced from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Gilbert Pavilion; the Menasha City Council played former Council members in a 3 p.m. softball game, and, before the day ended, leaders of the club conducted their business session.

Members attended from Two Rivers, Manitowoc, Marinette, Shawano, Gillette, Appleton, Kaukauna, Wausau, Oshkosh, Oconto, Neenah, Menasha, Green Bay, Sheboygan and Sheboygan Falls.

Mrs. Lilly Albrecht, Appleton, ate a penny ice cream cone as she visited with out-of-town guests. Below, Walter Hansen, Wausau, brings a fresh supply.



The Sign Said Welcome, and throughout the day the hundreds who attended the annual summer get-together were made to feel that way. Above, George Larson's Ford gave the park an old time appearance. Below, Miss Appleton, Barbara Silwanowicz, Menasha, chats with Mrs. Stella Gehring, Wausau. Last year's Miss Appleton, Luane Kay Briske, and Miss Fond du Lac also greeted visitors at the all day program. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Golden Agers love to play cards, and games went on all day Saturday at Smith Park, as about 700 senior citizens met for their annual Northeastern Wisconsin Area get-together. As some concluded a game, others took over their tables. Above, Mrs. Elizabeth Lievense, Sheboygan Falls, concentrates on her game. At right, community singing is another favorite party occupation, with many of the Golden Agers filling in with two and three-part harmony. Singing are Mrs. Helen Lau, Kaukauna, August Franzen, Fond du Lac, and Mrs. Emma Agen, Kaukauna.

Club Plans Show Of Twin Fashions

The Mothers of Twins Club has announced plans for a 'Twins Fashion Fair', to be held at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 8 at the Country Aire Club. Featuring fashions for children and mothers, the dessert program will have a carousel theme. Proceeds of the program are slated for families of dependent children.

Mrs. Ralph Erdman will serve as mistress of ceremonies at the show, with Mrs. Joseph Zolkoske as moderator. Mrs. Thomas Heidke will perform as a clown, in keeping with the theme.

Mrs. James Cowan and Mrs. Don Moder are general co-chairmen. Serving as committee heads will be Mrs. Zolkoske, decorations; Mrs. Robert Van Dyke, refreshments; Mrs. Jerry Zapp, publications; Mrs. Lawrence Gorges, models; Mrs. Erdman, background, and Mrs. Richard Allen, moderating.

Twin fashions, shown through the courtesy of the Carousel Children's Shop, will be modeled by Jeff and Katie Feavel, Peter and Pam Veitenhans, Kelly and Gary Cowan, Amy and Eileen Hoheisel, Sandy and Randy Langner, Tim and Tod Turkow, Debra and Diane Hurlbert, Joey and JoAnne Gorges and David and Dick Moder.

Women's fashions, through the courtesy of Wohlford's Fashion Corners, will be modeled by Mrs. Erdman, Mrs. Zolkoske, Misses Sheila and Melanie Rose, Mrs. Donald Dahl, Mrs. Jerry Zapp, Mrs. Richard Rose, Mrs. Richard Morey, Mrs. Thomas Feavel, Mrs. James Cowan, Mrs. John Hoheisel and Mrs. Donald Langner.

Midnight Dip

No illumination should be in pools where swimmers wear Martha Sleeper's skinny dippers. These huge circles of rubberized vinyl were designed for the lady who likes to dip au natural before going to bed. It floats like a giant lily pad until the lady surfaces through the hole in the center — and comes up and out fully covered.

Promises Exchanged

NEW LONDON — Emanuel Lutheran Church was the setting at 7 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Vivian Tyrrell and Gary Falk. The Rev. Frederick Heidemann officiated at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. LeLand Tyrrell, 1202 S. Pearl St., are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Falk, route 2, Shiocton.

Serving as the couple's honor attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Steven Fletcher, Northport, a brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the Rainbow Supper Club.

Day Camping Planned by Retarded Youths

CLINTONVILLE — A week of day camping is planned for exceptional children of Waupaca County at Camp Vic-to-Rae near Northport Aug. 15 through 19.

The camping program will be supervised by the Waupaca County Association for the Mentally Retarded. Activities will be planned by Senior Girl Scout Troop 288 of Clintonville which has sponsored a Girl Scout troop of exceptional girls during the past year.

Women from Clintonville and Waupaca and the New London Woman's Guild will serve as advisors. The Catholic Nurses Association will provide nursing care.

Campers will be transported to the camp by bus each morning. The bus, furnished by Joint School District No. 1, will pick up and return participants at designated places and times in each community.

Children will take part in a program of crafts, hikes, games, songs and outdoor skills.

Mrs. Marilyn Spear will act as business manager for the week and Mrs. C. H. Rafoth, camp director.

Illuminated

The zaniest dress by avant garde designer Joan Morse, and worn by her to Arthur's and the Cheetah, is an above the knee, battery-operated shift that blinks. Rows and rows of tiny light bulbs provide the illumination.

Name Winners in Glad Show

Three members of the Fox Valley Gladiolus Society took major awards Saturday at the Peshtigo Gladiolus Show. Mrs. E. A. Nelson, Neenah, won the grand champion trophy in the single-spiked miniature category; Miss Cora Mielke, Seymour, grand champion trophy in the arrangement class, and Sidney Wilson, Menasha, champion trophy in men's arrangement class.

This show, sponsored by the Marinette-Menominee Twin City Gladiolus Society, is the first of four shows to be held this month in the northeastern district of the state. Others are set for Wausau, Manitowoc and Appleton. The Appleton show is scheduled Aug. 20 and 21 at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Culprit Found After Hand Out

"I'm going to catch the culprit tonight," Sherlock Holmes remarked to Dr. Watson as they entered the bridge club. "One of the players is counterfeiting Confederate money." The great detective caught the criminal after watching this hand.

East won the first trick with the ace of hearts and returned the queen. West ruffed the king of hearts and returned a diamond. Declarer won with dummy's ace of diamonds and drew trumps.

South eventually lost two club tricks, going down one. Sherlock Holmes then produced a pair of handcuffs and took the criminal off to jail.

Who was the criminal, and how did Sherlock Holmes know that he was the counterfeiter? Decide for yourself before you read on.

South misplayed the hand woefully. He should play a low heart on East's queen at the second trick, thus allowing East to win.

If East leads a third heart, South must play low from his hand and ruff in the dummy.

The idea is to save the king of hearts so that South can eventually win a trick with it.

Declarer then draws trumps and leads the king of hearts to discard a club from the dummy. This limits the club loss to one trick. South loses only one club and two hearts, making game and rubber.

Sherlock Holmes put the handcuffs on East because he noticed that East's pockets were full of counterfeit Confederate money. Holmes was too wise a bird to think that South was a criminal just because he played bad bridge. If we put all the bad bridge players behind bars the rest of us would die of loneliness.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S A Q J 10 4 H K 7 5 3 D 7 C 8 3 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. If South's hearts were headed by the ace or by the king-jack instead of by the king, the hand would be worth an opening bid. Likewise, South would bid one spade if the queen of spades were changed to the king. The difference is only one point, but there must be a dividing line somewhere between a biddable and an unbiddable hand.

Upward Bound Students Entertained at Picnic

Students involved in the Upward Bound program at Lawrence University this summer have had their share of hard work, for books and classes were what the program is all about. They've also had some fun. Families have invited small groups to dinner and organizations have invited more to share a good time.

Members of the Memorial Presbyterian Church Guild entertained the entire group of 51 students and 10 counselors and teachers Thursday evening at a picnic at Plamann Park. Nineteen families from the congregation attended the event, and others participated by helping to provide picnic fare.

The supper was served buffet style, with entertainment, games, contests and community singing all included in the program.

The picnic was arranged through the chairmanship of Mrs. John F. McMahon, vice president of World Service. Mrs. Leigh Hili and Mrs. E. B. Jacobi were co-chairmen of the food committee and Clyde Rusk and George Miotke had charge of entertainment.

Upward Bound Students and their hosts, members of Memorial Presbyterian Church, participated in a number of games and contests after their Thursday evening picnic. One was presenting a prize for the broadest grin. Competing above is Clayton Martin.

The Ailing House

Many Coats Needed for New Color

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: Our patio awning has been a burgundy color for several years. Now we are going to paint the house white, with green trim. Can I paint the awning green as well?

A: Probably with only partial success. Most assuredly it won't look green from the underside if you only paint the top, which is usual with awnings.

Stretch it out flat, and keep it that way until you've finished spraying or brushing on the green. If brushed, thin the paint by a quarter. Be prepared by a good many coats, in order to overcome the heavy color at present.

If the underside isn't OK after you've finished greening the top, paint it as well.

Q: The flat tin roof's tar gets soft under the warm sun. I'd like to use this as a sun deck, as it's the roof over our porch.

I'm not too interested in a decking of wooden slats, if you can suggest something else.

A: You might well consider roofing panels of exterior grade plywood, covered with special roofing canvas. Gives a nice underfoot surface. Is tough, so normal foot traffic and shuffled furniture won't be a wearing problem.

Easy to install, can be painted as often as desired. Looks good, too. Ask your roofer to get it if he doesn't already stock it.

Q: I have had a great deal of trouble with my woodwork. Originally, all the doors, window frames and moldings in our house were dark mahogany. After we moved in, I tried to make it look brighter by painting the woodwork with off-white enamel.

But each time, the mahogany began to bleed through the enamel in only two or three months.

After several such repainting experiences, a friend told me that if I merely sanded the enamel surface nice and smooth, then gave it a coat of aluminum paint, I'd have no more trouble with the mahogany stain bleeding through. Is he right?

A: He'd have a hard time being righter.

Miss Mary Laabs in Cooking Competition

Miss Mary Laabs has become expert at making 'Savory Ham and Eggs' and will compete this month in Chicago in a national contest in Chicago. (Post-Crescent Photo)

A favorite midwestern breakfast dish has taken Miss Mary Laab, 939 W. Short St., into national competition in a bake-off. "Savory Ham and Eggs," a recipe Mary admits she's never had for breakfast, has won the former Menasha High School student a berth in the Aug. 22 through 24 Chicago contest sponsored by the National Egg and Poultry Association.

"It all began in my home economics class," Mary recalls. "I just picked up an entry blank because I thought the competition might be fun."

And it has been fun for the sprite chef who easily took honors at the Green Bay regional contest July 12 and the state contest held in Milwaukee last week-end. Mary's first places have netted her a $100 savings bond and an all-expense paid trip to Chicago for her and her mother, Mrs. Mahlon W. Laab, for the up-coming national contest. Included among the prizes for the lucky national winner is a $500 shopping spree in Marshall Fields which Mary admits she'd love to have.

Mary, who plans to attend the Institute of Technology, Madison, this fall with an eye on a career in dental technology, says she became interested in cooking from her mother. The ham and eggs recipe was one selected from her mother's cook book because it featured Wisconsin favorites, cheese, eggs and cream.

The state's representative in the national contest insists she cooks just for the fun of it and says her mother's really the head chef in the family. "I had no idea at all I might win when I began," Mary says. "Guess I will just have to wait and see what happens next."

This is Miss Laab's prize-winning recipe:

Savory Ham, Eggs

- 8 hard cooked eggs
- ¼ cup melted butter
- ½ tsp. Worchestershire sauce
- ¼ tsp. prepared mustard
- 1 tsp. minced parsley
- 1 tb. grated onion
- ½ cup chopped boiled ham
- 1 cup grated American cheese

Halve hard-cooked eggs lengthwise; mash yolks, add butter, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, parsley onion, and ham and stuff whites. Arrange in buttered chafing dish or baking dish. (9x9)

Pour Bechamel Sauce over eggs. Sprinkle with grated cheese; bake at 325 degrees about 20 minutes.

Bechamel Sauce

- 3 tb. butter
- 3 tb. all-purpose flour
- 1 cup chicken stock
- ¾ cup light cream
- salt, pepper, paprika

Melt butter, add flour, then chicken stock gradually. Add cream. Bring to the boiling point and cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add desired seasonings.

Serves four people.

Cubans to Try Avocado For Cosmetics

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The tasty but calorie-packed avocado will beautify rather than fatten milady if a Cuban scientist's idea works out.

Havana Radio said today it has been discovered that avocadoes are a dandy base for cosmetics.

Cuban women have had to exert their makeup artistry to the utmost in recent years because of a shortage of lanolin, the main skin-preserving ingredient of modern female warpaint.

Pilot Project

The broadcast monitored in Miami said Castro's food ministry is backing creation of "the industry of avocado oil and by-products." It said a pilot project will utilize 2,200 pounds of avocado oil in manufacturing cosmetics.

The government wil plant avocado groves to provide oil for the makeup-makers, the broadcast said.

Summer Time Has Not meant vacations for those members of the King's Daughters and the Appleton Junior Woman's Club working at the establishment of a Family Service Agency in Appleton. The group is about to set up a board of directors and has announced plans for a speakers bureau to inform the community of the services the agency will offer and what is needed to get the agency started. Meeting last week at the home of Mrs. Gerald Schomisch, were seated, Mrs. Wilmer Stach, chairman of the Steering committee, and Mrs. David Weiland, representing the Appleton Junior Woman's Club. Standing are Mrs. Donald Hovde, co-chairman of the steering committee; Mrs. Schomisch, a member of the speakers bureau, and Mrs. Harold Bravick, who will help with decorating an agency office. Speakers Bureau Set Up to Tell of Family Service Agency

Many months of work have gone into initial planning for the proposed Family Service Agency, a project which all circles of The King's Daughters, through the King's Daughters Council, have undertaken.

Planning has now progressed to the point where the King's Daughters is beginning to set up a board of directors and appoint committees to handle the myriad details involved with a program of such scope.

Also announced is the setting up of a speakers' bureau, with representatives prepared to explain the proposed agency to any clubs and civic groups interested in learning about it and giving it support.

Initially started as a King's Daughters endeavor, the Appleton Junior Woman's Club has voted the project the entire proceeds from its Spring Fling scheduled in '67.- Members of the organization will also serve on committees working toward the Family Service Agency.

Mrs. Wilmer Stach has served as chairman and Mrs. Donald Hovde as co-chairman of the King's Daughters Council Steering Committee, which has initiated the project. Working with them has been Art Malin of United Community Services.

Appointed to head committees are Mrs. Verner Haag and Mrs. Joseph Shiff, fund raising; Mrs. Karl Stumpf and Mrs. Don Herrling, speakers bureau; Mrs. Harry Hall and Mrs. Vincent Derscheid, publicity; Mrs. H. F. Hackworthy, constitution; Mrs. Ralph Bohl and Mrs. Jeffrey Burmeister, housing for the agency office, and Mrs. Harold Bravick and Mrs. William Spanagel, decorating and furnishing of the office.

Organizations wishing to schedule a speaker for their fall and winter programs may contact either Mrs. Stumpf or Mrs. Herrling.

Order Issued: Luci, Pat Not To be Disturbed

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Traditional British reserve may be helping Patrick and Luci Johnson Nugent enjoy a honeymoon free of sightseers as they relax at a luxurious waterfront home.

"Bahamians observed a friendly White House request that the couple be allowed privacy," said an Information Ministry official.

Asked to arrange for newsmen to talk to the Nugents, Bahamas officials contacted the U.S. Consulate. The word came back from Washington: "Their privacy is not to be disturbed."

Secluded

The Nugents are staying at Capricorn, the $250,000 home of Rebekah Harkness-Kean, a socially prominent philanthropist who is in New York. It is secluded by thick tropical foliage on three sides. The fourth opens onto a white sand beach.

Camera crews who hurried to the British island after the Nugents flew in from New York Sunday waited outside for the newlyweds.

The Nugents were reported to have made a boat trip and it was not certain if they had returned.

Machinists' Rebuff Blow To President

Withdrawal From Strike Settlement Indicates Dilemma

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Accustomed to ordering Congress around, President Johnson has now given a most un-Johnsonian demonstration of withdrawal symptoms from the exercise of Presidential power in the airline strike.

Evans Novak

As of this writing, he has flatly refused to say where he stands on the vital issue in the strike: whether there should or should not be legislation to end it by Presidential fiat.

In short, Mr. Johnson has buckled to terrific pressure from organized labor, led by AFL-CIO president George Meany. He tossed the hot potato of anti-strike legislation into the lap of Congress without a recommendation of any kind. Having intervened in the strike and having engineered a settlement that fractured the wage-price guidelines, Mr. Johnson then simply walked off the field when the machinists' union, in a direct insult to him, rejected the settlement.

Called Ugly Names

Thus, in Congress this week the President was being called some pretty ugly names, both by the liberals, who themselves don't want to take the initiative in ordering the strikers back to work, and by the conservatives, who privately charge him with ducking a clear Presidential responsibility.

So strong is the feeling among the conservatives that two of the President's close friends in the Senate, neither known as pro-labor, told us Mr. Johnson should have summoned Congress to an emergency session on last Sunday, the day the union rejected the settlement, and asked quick passage of a law ending the strike.

"When the union showed its muscle to the President," said one senator, "that's when the President should have showed his muscle right back."

But Mr. Johnson refused to take the risk of antagonizing labor. He had failed organized labor on two counts in the 89th Congress. He was unable to get Congress to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which now permits states to pass right-to-work laws banning all forms of compulsory unionism, and he had failed to get Congress to liberalize another section of Taft-Hartley which bans certain types of picketing.

Big Grievance

Thus, the unions already have a large grievance against the President they helped elect in 1964. Furthermore, the political arm of organized labor has an entirely separate grievance, dealing with the President's handling of the Democratic National Committee. The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) was angry when the National Committee's beefed-up Registration Section was virtually dismantled in an economy move. And in Texas, the AFL-CIO has refused to endorse the Democratic senatorial nominee, Waggoner Carr, despite backstage Presidential pressure.

In short, Mr. Johnson has precious little money in labor's bank today. He is obviously unwilling now to take the lead in legislating an end to the airline machinists' strike, just as he has been unable to recommend a new law for handling crippling local strikes, such as last winter's transit strike in New York City. The administration has been unable to agree on the form the new law should take.

Future Looks Bad

Coming on the heels of his dramatic, 11th hour entry into the airline dispute at 2 a.m. July 29, Mr. Johnson's sudden withdrawal from the battle bodes ill for the far more serious labor problems that await him next year when major contracts in rubber, the auto industry, oil, communications, and meatpacking are up for negotiation.

The White House handling of the airline strike is not reassuring for these harder battles. For example, no one in the administration anticipated rejection of the President's suggested settlement. Mr. Johnson counted on the union president, P. L. Siemiller, to sell the new contract to his union, while Siemiller counted on President Johnson's prestige to put it over. Both were wrong.

But more important than this failure of intelligence, and the specifics of the airline strike, is the President's wholly uncharacteristic withdrawal from the fracas at the climactic moment. It has hurt him badly on Capitol Hill — and will make it all the more difficult when he confronts the next challenge from a labor union.

The Law and You

Manendangering Act Can Lead to Murder Conviction

Mike Madd picked up his pistol, aimed it at his wife and fired. But Mike is a poor shot. The bullet accidentally killed a neighbor next door. Mike is charged with attempted murder of his wife, and with his neighbor's murder.

Though Mike did not mean to kill his neighbor, the law says that it is still murder. The law transfers his intent to kill his wife to intent to kill his neighbor. Mike can be convicted of both charges.

This same rule applies to other highly dangerous acts. Suppose a person shoots into a crowd or at a moving train or car, or commits any "manendangering act" with malice. He can be convicted of murder. Such an act alone is enough to become murder.

From this a "felony-murder" rule has grown up in the law. The person who commits a felony in the course of which he accidentally kills someone can be charged with murder.

Dangerous Felony

The person who commits a highly dangerous felony, such as robbery, arson, or mayhem runs the risk of a third degree murder charge. If such a crime results in a death, the court can find the felon guilty of third degree murder, the penalty for which is not more than 15 years in prison plus the sentence for the felony.

For years the law did not examine how the death came about just so long as it was a part of some felony, say robbery or kidnapping.

Under a recent Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling it was held that the Wisconsin Statutes now contain what was the felony-murder rule at common law. The proper test as to whether the rule will be applied is whether or not the murder was a natural or probable consequence of the commission of the felony, and whether or not the murder occurred by reason of or as part of such felony. In other words, there must be a connection between the felony and the murder under Wisconsin law.

Club Plans Donkey Game In Greenville

GREENVILLE — The Greenville Athletic and Civic Club will sponsor a donkey baseball game Aug. 16 at the Community Park.

Plans for the game were made at the club's August meeting. Fredrick Kaphingst was appointed chairman. Those in charge of recruiting teams are Louis Rudloff, Kenneth McClellan and Chuck Schroeder.

The club will hold an appreciation night for the homecoming workers and members Tuesday, Aug. 23, at the park shelter.

A favorable report of the homecoming proceeds was given at the meeting. The Helpful Hands 4-H Club, which built 50 saw horses; Alois Griesbach, who worked on the farm and home space advertising, and the town board, which authorized blacktopping the park driveway, were lauded by the club.

In other club business, members decided to support Assemblyman Ervin Conradt's proposal to repave State 76.

'Carry All' Amphibious Vessel Is Launched

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — A 570-foot Navy "carry all" amphibious assault ship has been launched here. The $26-million vessel will carry six helicopters, 850 combat troops and 118 officers in the assault force, plus a crew. She was christened the Dubuque.

Before Deciding to Work

Women Should Weigh Sacrifices, Study Goals

Many women today are asking, "Should I take a job?" About one of every three women does work outside the home But each woman needs to answer this question for her own situation, according to Viola Wilkinson, family life specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

If you're considering a job decide what it will mean to the rest of the family. Take a look, also, at what you may earn. Social security, income taxes and job-rated expenses take from a third to a half of your earnings. Figure if a job will really bring in added income.

Think also about the effects on your children. When they are young it is difficult to manage a household and a job, too. The first years are important ones to be with a child but it's not the amount of time you spend but rather the kind of relationships you have.

For a young child, it's important to find a competent continuing mother substitute or reliable day-care service. When children are in school it's important to have someone at home when they return each day.

Perhaps you want to work to make use of your special talents and education, not to supplement family income. Consider your husband's attitude toward your being out of the home.

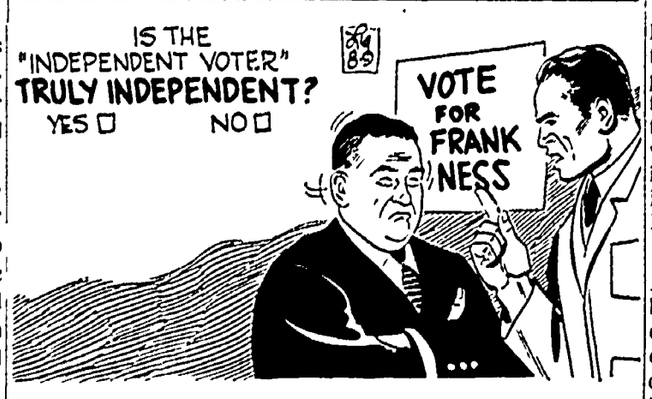
A woman who has an education which once qualified her for a profession may need to retrain after being out of the field. But the job she takes will probably boost earnings enough to cover cost of training and any household help she needs.

She can then contribute to a challenging position and still add financially to the family. That's one reason to encourage young women to continue their education after high school.

For more information on today's woman ask your county home economics agent Mrs. Joseph Burke for the bulletin called, "Women's Changing Role." Or write the Agricultural Bulletin Mailing Room, Madison, 53706.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.



No, say more than half a dozen social psychologists who have studied the question. Contrary to popular notions, the independent voter often has not weighed the issues of the campaign carefully and come to his own conclusions. He is not easily influenced by political propaganda not because he "thinks for himself" but also because he does not care. He withdraws himself from issues, pays little attention to politics and on election day votes his vague impressions (if he votes at all), and not his convictions

Women are too emotional to work under pressure.

False. Many a woman can work under sustained pressure with greater efficiency than many men. The idea that women are too emotional to stand up under an exacting job is a stereotype that has little basis in fact. It is true women express their emotions more easily than men, but this doesn't make them more "emotional." Because they don't bottle up their feelings so much, they suffer fewer heart attacks and ulcers than do men.

Creeping-Crawling Method Often Regarded as Unproved

BY DR. EVE. JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: If the Doman-Delacato system of remedial training helps kids with reading problems, why do most reading tutors go on using other systems? I'd like to find someone who knows this "creeping-crawling" method so my son can try it, but every tutor I have called is against it. MRS. H. W.

Many experts believe perceptual-learning prolems can best be solved by concentrating on perceptual-learning tasks under close supervision of experts in education and treatment, even though these traditional approaches occasionally fail to remedy matters.

The Delacato system is based on a different concept entirely, and many experts regard it as unproved. Many professionals also object to its commercial exploitation by people who are not themselves experts in education or treatment.

The institute whose name and address are being sent to you can supply you with more information about this method. As its application becomes more widespread, its merits can better be determined.

Dear Dr. Jones: I have a 13-month-old daughter who has a habit which is ruining our relationship. She wakes up at 5 in the morning and screams and cries until I come. I'm losing my nice disposition because I've only had 5 hours sleep a night for over a month. I would love to nap when she does, but since she must be watched constantly when she's awake, her nap times are the only time I have to do my housework.

Also, is it really horrible that she's not weaned from the bottle yet? That's what my mother says. I took the lunch one away, but she loves the other two so much that I don't want to try to get these away from her too unless they're like the pacifier, something one has to outgrow. MRS. C.D.

She's probably as confused as I am about whether you want her to be a dependent infant or want her to develop her growing independence.

Help clear up her confusion by encouraging her to drink from a cup at all of her meals, by giving her some time to play alone without your constant supervision, and by letting her suck her pacifier as much as she wants. If you have trouble understanding how all these are linked to developing independence, write again so I may send you the name of a book that explains child development in detail.

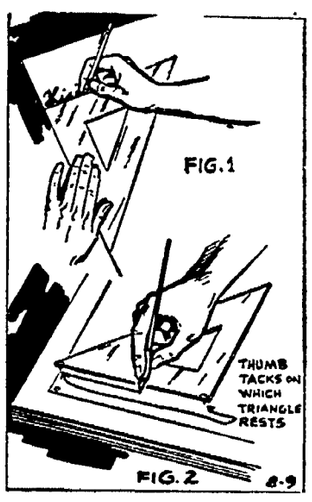
Transparent Triangle Proves Handy for Daily Drawing Use

BY CAPPY DICK

A transparent triangle can prove to be one of the handiest things in your mechanical drawing kit for daily use. Two valuable suggestions are shown in Figures 1 and 2.



Two valuable suggestions can make your use of a triangle more fun.

Lower Triangle

When you have completed a line of writing, lower the triangle, keeping the left edge lined up with the edge of the paper, and you have a perfect guide for the next line of writing.

Figure 2 shows how a couple of thumbtacks and a triangle can be combined to form a non-smear guide for ruling a piece of paper with an ordinary pen.

Watch Blotting

If you have a ruling pen you have no problem in creating smudges, but if you must do the ruling with an ordinary pen the chances are great of getting ink under the ruler or triangle and creating a ruinous blotch.

This risk can be overcome by resting the triangle on two thumbtacks pressed into the drawing board.

This will provide clearance between the paper and the triangle, preventing ink from being desposited on the paper except where the pen point places it.

Hearing Monday in Clintonville Slaying

Attorney for Delbert Hanson Asks Preliminary Examination

WAUPACA — A preliminary hearing on a second-degree murder charge against Delbert Hanson, route 2, Clintonville, will be conducted Monday in Waupaca County Court, according to District Attorney Richard E. Johnson.

Hanson has been charged in the death of his wife, Shirley Ann, at their rural Clintonville home early Saturday morning.

Taken into custody shortly after the slaying, Hanson was taken to the Clintonville Police Department, where he was questioned, and then to Municipal Justice Court in Waupaca, where he was arraigned before Justice George Whalen, who bound him over to County Court for trial.

Hanson is in the Winnebago County jail, Oshkosh, in lieu of $15,000 bond. He wil be returned to Waupaca Monday for the hearing. The preliminary hearing was requested by defense attorney Fredrick H. Fowle, Milwaukee, who was present in Municipal Justice Court, Saturday.

Hanson, 39, the father of eight children ranging from four months to 17 years, allegedly strangled his 34-year-old wife during a violent argument at their home early Saturday morning.

Waupaca County police and the Clintonville rescue squad were called to the Hanson home but Mrs. Hanson was dead when they arrived. The home is six miles northeast of Clintonville in the Town of Matteson.

Investigation is being headed by Undersheriff William Mork.

Mrs. Gilbert Found Dead In Her Home

NEENAH — Mrs. Theodore Gilbert, 62, was found dead in her home at 418 Green St. Monday morning.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller ruled the death a suicide and said Mrs. Gilbert died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

She was found by her cook, Mrs. Emery Kelly, 425 Fifth St., shortly after 9 a.m.

Mrs. Gilbert was the wife of the late Theodore Gilbert, president of Gilbert Paper Co. He died in 1961.

Survivors include three sons, two brothers, two sisters, eight grandchildren, one niece and one nephew.

A family service will be conducted by the Rev. Thomas K. Chaffee, pastor of St. Thomas Episcopal Church. A memorial has been established for the church in her memory.

The Kessler Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Ask Winnebago For New Sheriff Radio Station

OSHKOSH — The county board will be asked next Tuesday to transfer $19,500 from the general fund for a new base radio station and 14 mobile units for the county sheriff's department

A resolution is now being drafted by the Sheriff and Coroner Committee.

E. G. Steinhilber, committee chairman, said they wanted the equipment installed before the end of the year when the county's radio technician, Harold Davis, retires.

The cost of $19,500 was estimated by Davis. Bids will have to be taken for the equipment.

Whether the money is taken out of the general fund this year or put in the budget for next year, the cost will still be the same, Steinhilber said.

American Transfers Employes to New York

Special to The Post Crescent

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Some 127 employes in sales and marketing, now working for the Marathon Products division in Neenah and Menasha, will be transferred to the American Can Co. corporate headquarters in New York this fall, the New York-based company announced today.

The move, another phase of the consolidation of the company's management, will begin next month and will continue until the end of this year, a firm spokesman said.

Marketing personnel from Easton, Pa., and Union, N.J., also will be involved in the move.

The sales administrative center in Neenah won't be affected, nor will the consumer product marketing staff in Green Bay, a company official reported.

Last June 17, American Can announced that some 50 employes from the Twin City area would be included in the relocation program of the firm's engineering department at a new engineering center in Fair Lawn, N.J.

A new international headquarters for American Can Co. will be built in the New York area by 1970 and the firm hopes to have marketing and most of the other company functions centralized there by that time.

A company spokesman at the New York offices said this morning, "The move will not only offer the company important advantages in achieving greater efficiency but will improve service to customers by providing direct and good communications among the marketing people and the staff."

He said special arrangements have already been set up to assist employes in the transfer to the new location. This includes professional assistance in locating homesites, he stated.

Some employes in the Twin Cities have still expressed uncertainty about specific personnel reassignments and are waiting further word on the nature of the impending shift of operations. A company official said it was not known how many of the employes would actually move to the east coast with their jobs.

American Can merged with Marathon in December, 1957, after ratification by the stock holders of both companies.

In October 1964, American Can announced its intention to realign its seven divisions, of which Marathon had been one. The realignment has been to make the company a "centralized management operation."

Mrs. Catlin Now Directs Rehabilitation

NEENAH - MENASHA — Mrs. Priscila Catlin has been named program director of Rehabilitation, Inc., it was announced today by the board of directors.

This is the position held for the past two years by Robert Gellert who also served as social worker consultant. He will continue in the consultant's role on a parttime basis giving approximately six hours a week to the residents, in addition to his full time position at the Winnebago County Guidance Center.

The new program director will spend full time in social and vocational counseling, directing a volunteer program and conducting a weekly evening group meeting for the center residents and former residents. Job placement is an important part of the program director's and Mrs. Catlin expressed the hope that local business and industry will cultivate a growing awareness of the unique contribution Rehabilitation residents can make on the job.

She is available to talk with civic groups, church organizations and any person or persons interested in volunteering for becoming "first friends" for the residents.

Since its formation two years ago, the new program director has been continually on the scene at Rehabilitation, Inc. She was instrumental as an officer and director in the county and state mental health associations in formation of the half-way house facility.

Another change at Rehabilitation, Inc. is the naming of new house parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoare, who replaced the James Paynes July 30.

Before accepting the program director position Mrs. Catlin resigned as president of the board of directors, a post which the board expects to fill this fall.

Cancer Group Nearly Meets Drive Quota

Outagamie County's chapter of the American Cancer Society reached 98 per cent of its goal in the past campaign.

This news was announced Monday at the quarterly board meeting of the group.

A total of $21,379 was raised. The goal was $21,935. Funds collected will be used for research, education and service.

Albert Van Oort, 1506 E. Harding Drive, was introduced as the new field representative, replacing Miss Mona Weinberg, who has retired.

New officers are Peter Vollmer, president; John Huff, first vice president; Dr. William Hale, second vice president; Mrs. Orvie Buhl, secretary and Richard Schucart, treasurer.

New board members named are Mrs. Joan Hoffman, Dr. Pierce Meighan and Dr. Ralph Kennedy.

Re-elected for three-year terms were Sydney Jacobson, Dr. Paul Cunningham, Dr. William Chandler, Mrs. Robert Liethen, Dr. John Kloehn, Mrs. Elmer Otte and Vollmer.

Delegates to the October state convention in Oshkosh are Vollmer, Huff, and Dr. C. E. Fenlon, with Hale, Mrs. Robert Spooner and Mrs. H. P. Robinson as alternates.

Falling Branch Cuts Off Power

MENASHA — A branch, knocked across a high power wire on First Street Monday afternoon, resulted in the entire city being without electricity for ten minutes.

The downtown area was without power for about 20 minutes and the First Street area was blacked out for 1½ hours, according to F. Marion Hageman, Water and Light Utilities supt.

The branch was blown down during high winds and rain about 1:45 p.m.

Watchdog Belongs To Watchman, Not To Stokely-Van Camp

The Post-Crescent last week published a picture of a watchdog at the site of a migrant labor camp built in the Town of Grand Chute by Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., on N. Casaloma Drive.

John Esler, attorney for the canning company in an action brought by the Town of Grand Chute protesting the construction of the camp, claims the cutlines implied that Stokely-VanCamp placed the dog there.

Kenneth Carney, Stokely personnel manager, said today the dog was not placed there by the company. Carney said it belongs to Earl Bodah, Appleton, who was hired as a watchman. Bodah, Carney claims, brought the dog along for company. Carney said he had ordered the dog away from the property.

County Clerk Named Building Inspector

Outagamie County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer was named county building inspector today by members of the county board.

A motion for Miss Pfeffer's appointment was presented by Supv. George Kroes, Town of Vandenbroek, and accepted unanimously. County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler recommended to board members that a building inspector be appointed each year.

Frinzi Demands Carley Quit as Committeeman

SHEBOYGAN (A)P — David Carley should resign his post as Democratic national committeeman, Dominic H. Frinzi, one of Carley's rivals for their party's gubernatorial nomination, said today.

"I am shocked," Frinzi told a meeting of supporters, "that Mr. Carley, unlike Mr. Lucey, did not feel obligated to resign his role as patronage dispenser when he became a candidate for our highest office."

"State law explicitly forbids a candidate to promise or secure a job as inducement for support," Frinzi said after saying a committeeman's duty "is to nominate people for jobs."

"If nothing else," Frinzi added, "the threat of criminal penalties should scare a candidate from such an obvious conflict of interests and potential criminal violation."

NEENAH — Mrs. A. E. MacQuarrie, 80, 577 Chatham Court, a former member of the board of trustees of Milwaukee Downer College and active in community affairs, died Tuesday morning.

The former Mary Roylance Bergstrom, the daughter of Dedrick Waldermar Bergstrom and Sarah Hough Bergstrom, was born Feb. 19, 1886 in Neenah. She graduated from Milwaukee Downer Seminary and Milwaukee Downer College in 1904 and 1908, respectively.

Active with her husband in the life of her church, the Presbyterian Church of Neenah, Mrs. MacQuarrie served on its benevolence committee and worked in its Women's Society. She also served as president of the Presbyterian Women's Society in Minneapolis.

Mrs. MacQuarrie was a member of the board of trustees of Milwaukee Downer College before it joined Lawrence University.

She also was a member of the Women's Tuesday Club of Neenah, League of Women Voters and AAUW and was a sustaining member of the Theda Clark Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Memorials have been established for the Women's Society of the Presbyterian Church and Theda Clark Memorial Hospital in her name.

Rural New London Resident Becomes Violent After Capture

A 21-year-old rural New London man, who had to be restrained after Shiocton police chased him and finally located him under a bridge, was sentenced to 45 days in jail and fined $25 and costs after he pleaded guilty Monday of disorderly conduct, intoxication, and driving without a license.

Daniel Ybanez, route 1, was arrested early Monday morning by Shiocton Police Chief Raymond Muskavitch who was called to a beer bar about 12:30 a.m. when the proprietor said a car ran into his gas pump then sped off.

Muskavitch told the court Monday afternoon that when he arrived at the scene, Ybanez had returned and was arguing with the proprietor. Ybanez became belligerent, Muskavitch said, and when police went to the squad car to radio for assistance, the man fled toward the river.

Fled Again

Muskavitch said that a short time later he received a call that Ybanez, a foundry worker, was attempting to get into a car near a Shiocton restaurant.

Ybanez fled again and this time was located under the Wolf River bridge on State 54.

Muskavitch said Ybanez had to be handcuffed and on the way to jail "swore, spit on the windshield, threw his head against the window and kicked at the squad car radio equipment."

Ybanez began hitting his head against the wall at the jail office, the court was told.

The man presently is on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for operating a vehicle without the owner's consent, a charge of which he was found guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 last March.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered 15 and 30 day sentences, respectively, on the charges of having no drivers license and disorderly conduct, and a $25 fine or 12 additional days in jail for intoxication.

Educational System To be Discussed by Appleton Catholics

Appleton Catholics have been invited to attend a public meeting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday regarding the city's Catholic Educational system.

The meeting is scheduled for the St. Joseph School cafeteria.

Committees were appointed at a meeting last Wednesday to consider various facets of the problems of overcrowding and shortage of teachers that face Xavier High School and the grade schools of the city's seven Catholic parishes.

Members of the steering committee said a Monday night meeting of the committees was well attended by sisters, clergy and lay people representing every parish.

Participants agreed that a city-wide educational philosophy is necessary before definite action can be taken.

Campaign Committee Organized for Wussow

A "Charles E. Wussow for Assembly Committee" has been organized to aid in Wussow's attempt to win the Republican nomination for the Outagamie County first district Assembly post. Republican Harold E. Froehlich is the incumbent.

Officers of the committee are Stanley H. Ore, 809 E. Hancock St., chairman, and Arletta Kuepper, 1712 W. Highland St., secretary-treasurer.

Dreams Occur During Periods of Light Sleep

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I'd like to know why I dream all the time. I'm a very light sleeper and never eat or drink coffee before going to bed. Some days I feel so tired when I get up that it doesn't seem as though I'd rested much because of dreaming so much. — T.P.

I'm not sure I can tell why you "dream all the time," and the probability is that you don't. It just seems that way.

Dr. Molner

Sleep (and dreaming) has intrigued mankind for many centuries. But it's only fairly recently that we have had mechanical instruments to learn much about sleep.

There are four stages of sleep, ranging from light to very sound. You can fluctuate from one stage to another as often as 20 to 40 times a night. Dreams tend to occur when one approaches the light stage of sleep in these fluctuations.

Depth of sleep is measured with an electroencephalogram (brain wave recording) and amount of dreaming is measured by instruments which show the amount of eye movement. Eyes move more frequently in a dream, perhaps because of efforts to "see" what we are dreaming about.

About 50 per cent of dreaming occurs in the last third of a night's sleep, because that is when we more often emerge into the stage of light sleep. Electroencephalograms can show when a person is entering the stage when dreaming is possible, and the eye movement studies confirm it.

Everybody dreams. Whether you remember the dreams depends in large part on whether you awaken. If you lapse back into deep sleep there is less chance of remembering the dream.

Whether you are tired because you were dreaming is doubtful. More than likely the opposite is true. You tend to be a light sleeper; therefore, you dream more. If you don't get enough sound sleep, you wake up tired. And you also dream!

We tend to be lighter sleepers as we grow older, and thus may have more opportunities to dream. You move enough in your sleep to rouse yourself partially to the light stage of sleep. You may even have some responsibility on your mind and go to sleep with a feeling that you should be listening for something — to take care of someone else, or some other worry.

We know that people who complain of insomnia tend to dream more than good sleepers. This seems logical enough. The insomniac sleeps more than he realizes, but he isn't a deep sleep.

Sleeping drugs and alcohol depress dream potential. I am not suggesting the latter, but your doctor might try giving you a mild sedative to help you stay longer in the deep phase of slep.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it safe to take a douche every night? Is it safe to use vinegar every time? — Mrs. B.A.N.

My recommendation is a flat "no" to both questions. Daily douching is not necessary for a healthy woman, and can wash away natural secretions and thus cause irritation. The best rule is to take a douche only when your doctor prescribes it for some specific medical purpose, and in tthat case he will also advise you what to use, and how often.

Note to Mrs. B.C.: X-ray should show whether a heel spur (a calcium growth on the bone) gives you that feeling of "something in your shoe." Cushioning or padding inside the heel of the shoe is the simplest answer and it often makes one comfortable. If not, surgical removal of the spur is the next alternative. If you are overweight, reduce to lessen pressure on your feet.

Residents Show 'Great Concern'

Rep. Laird Blames Johnson for Upward Trend in Cost of Living

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — How to continue to make both ends meet in the face of spiralling living costs is worrying Wisconsin families more than any one thing today except Viet Nam, according to reports from Badger State legislators.

This was particularly noticeable in answers to queries on national issues contained in a questionnaire which Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Marshfield), sent to thousands of residents in the 7th Congressional District. "Great concern" was expressed over current inflationary trends.

The Wisconsin congressman, chairman of the House Republican Conference, dumps the blame of today's inflation in the lap of President Johnson because he did not heed warnings of Republicans a year ago that unless government spending were curbed, Americans would be caught in a price squeeze.

'Blames Farmer'

"Yet in spite of all of this, the Johnson administration is trying to place the blame for the rising cost of living on the farmer, the working man and the businessman and even the consumer himself," Laird said during an interview.

Declaring that inflation is a "national emergency", Laird said that the unwillingness of the White House to exert leadership in combatting inflation was a major cause of the lengthy airline machinist strike.

"No wonder workers will balk at accepting a wage increase of 3.2 or 3.5 per cent when the cost of living is increasing at an annual rate of 4.1 per cent," he said.

Another Wisconsin lawmaker, Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Green Bay), also took the President to task for statements accusing others of being responsible for the current increases in cost of living.

'Phony Cuts'

"Mr. Johnson has blame Congress for increasing his spending budget," complained Byrnes. "He should be reminded that his budget submitted in January was full of phony cuts which he knew Congress would restore. A good example of this was the budget cut in the school milk programs, which we restored."

Byrnes also recalled that on "six economy roll-calls in the House, an average of 82 per cent of the Democrats voted for increased federal spending as against 93 per cent of the Republicans who voted against it."

"If he had thought our appropriations bills were inflationary, the President could have vetoed them," concluded Byrnes.

Appleton Plans Crackdown on Obscene Calls

City Ordinance Broadens Powers Of Police Force

A three-pronged crackdown on persons who make nuisance or obscene telephone calls is in the making in Appleton, where the number of complaints seem chronically high.

City Atty. David Geenen, acting on instructions of the city council, has incorporated a portion of the state law into an ordinance which will broaden police powers.

The city, district attorney's office and Wisconsin Telephone Co. are cooperating in locating, identifying and prosecuting persons who make unlawful calls.

Wisconsin law provides that whoever with intent to annoy another, makes a telephone call, "whether or not conversation ensues" may be fined $100 or jailed for 30 days.

Anonymour Calls

There have been incidents reported to authorities in which anonymous callers merely breathed into the phone or broke out in a laugh. These acts are against the law — not only state but now, also local.

It means that in addition to the district attorney's office prosecuting complaints for the state, the city attorney's office may do so on the basis of a complaint from a citizen, the telephone company or police.

Local police have served notice they, with the cooperation of the telephone company, intend to track down the nuisance calls and obtain city warrants against violators.

State and city prosecutors may join forces in prosecutions.

Same Penalty

The penalty for violating the city ordinance will be the same as for the statute.

Geenen said Monday afternoon he would not hesitate to prosecute anyone suspected of making obscene or any other type of calls that fall within the meaning of the laws.

"My office intends to work closely with the police department and telephone company officials in this matter," Geenen said.

Neenah Man Gets 5-Year Sentence

OSHKOSH — Benjamin Morford, 25, 1451 Harrison St., Neenah, was sentenced to five years at Waupun State Prison Monday afternoon by Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane on charges of robbery and check forgery. Morford pleaded guilty of all counts.

Morford and a companion robbed Herbert Wissbrocker of Neenah of $40 on June 13. Morford also admitted forging four checks in Neenah between June 7 and 14 totaling $95.

He was sentenced to five years on the robbery charge and to concurrent terms of one year on each of the forgery charges.

other requests at this morning's county board session.

Mares Electronics of Appleton will install an electric amplifying system at a cost of $577. The Mares firm was the lowest of three bidders.

The Civil Air Patrol was authorized to conduct an air traffic survey at the airport during August. The county will pay the Fox Cities CAP squadron $466 for the survey which is being taken, according to Appleton Supervisor Al C. Fischer, airport committee chairman, to "shore up our basis for a runway extension."

"We need documented evidence for the Federal Aviation Agency which will conduct the hearing on our request for runway extension," Fischer said.

Construction is expected to start this fall on a 5,200-foot runway at the airport. Eventual plans are to extend the proposed runway to 7,000 feet.

Anti-Pollution Projects Get First Shot at Aids

absolute proof of their legality in the form of a state Supreme Court judgment.

Remove Doubt

The Legislature has begun the process of amending the state constitution to remove all doubt about the legitimacy of such borrowing, but consent of the 1967 legislative session and an approving popular referendum following also are required to make that change effective. There is no assurance of popular approval of such an amendment, although Potter said he is confident of the approval of the next Legislature.

The designation of communities already under pressure on pollution matters for first priority in the distribution of state and federal aids will be the first step in a schedule of such disbursements. The board said it will announce other criteria for assistance later, but discussions indicated they almost surely will include a measure of the financial ability of local governments.

Board members debated briefly the desirability of using the state and federal aid program to persuade localities to improve their land use programs in connection with water protection efforts. Douglas Weiford of Eau Claire, a city manager, asserted the development of better sewage treatment and disposal works will encourage urbanization in some localities and warned that effective land use zoning is required in such situations.

Opposes Special Units

Weiford said there already are too many small and ineffectual government units and he would oppose establishment of new special units, such as sanitary districts, under the impetus of the new state subsidy program.

But Russell G. Lynch of Milwaukee protested that the most urgent challenge before the state is that of protection of waters and that if the creation of sanitary districts in rural communities is regarded as necessary in meeting the problem, the state should not stand in the way. Weiford insisted, however, that water quality and land use are inter-related and he will insist on a review of the subject at a later board meeting.

Board members held a closed session for the discussion of the selection of an acting director, and Potter reported later that the decision had been deferred until the board's next meeting Aug. 31. Several state officials are available for temporary service as chief of the new agency, he said, but there is a chance candidates for permanent appointment will be available for examination soon. In the interim, Wayne McGown of the State Department of Administration will be in charge of housekeeping chores for the department, Potter said.

Owner Loses Case, Keeps Fireworks

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller ruled Monday that 21,302 pieces of fireworks seized from a Grand Chute home Feb. 22 must be returned to the owner.

The ruling was handed down following a July 6 trial in which Mrs. Mary Ann Peters, 24, 916 Ridge Lane, was found guilty of possessing fireworks and firecrackers. The trial was held without a jury.

The question of confiscation of the fireworks arose during the trial and Judge Keller ordered Mrs. Peter's attorney and Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney, to file briefs on the matter.

In his ruling, Judge Keller said the fireworks are not made of materials that would make the items contraband and therefore they are not subject to confiscation.

Mrs. Peters is scheduled to appear in court Friday afternoon for sentencing.

some words in the Bible loosely," Dr. Becker said.

They contend that Genesis was not intended to give us a record of how, but that God did create the world, he said.

Ask Them Questions

"But we might ask these modern deniers of the teaching of the Bible two questions: if God did not intend to tell us how He created the world, why did He? and: how do you know He didn't intend to tell us how He created the world?"

And, he asked, "If we go one step further, and start denying the creation, the pastor asked, what will prevent us from denying the virgin birth and the resurrection of Christ, and start interpreting them loosely also?"

"The only way we can stop contradicting ourselves is to follow the belief that the Bible says what it means and to teach the Word in all its simplicity and purity," he concluded.

In other business, the 300 ministers, teachers and lay delegates heard a report from the board of education and the board of missions.

41 Lutheran Schools

There now are 41 Lutheran day schools, 180 teachers and 5,296 pupils in the district. There also are three high schools with 42 teachers and 790 students.

The board of missions informed the delegates that three new missions have been established in the past year. These are St. Luke, Little Chute, served by the Rev. James Diner; Divine Saviour, Shawano, served by the Rev. Larry Zwieg, and Bethany, Beechwood, Mich., served by the Rev. Richard Shinek.

The 50th anniversary convention at Fox Valley Lutheran High School, will end Thursday.

County Board Okays New School Rooms

Addition of two classrooms to Plamann School was approved this morning by Outagamie County supervisors.

The county board complied with a request by the Handicapped Children's Educational Board to employ an architect to draft plans for the additional classrooms needed, supervisors were told, as part of an expanded program for the trainable children.

Construction bids will be sought later and cost estimates will be played before supervisors at the November board meeting.

In another action this morning, the county board approved bids totaling $8,500 for construction of another shelter house at Plamann Park.

Low bidder was Kenneth Plamann who indicated cost of the shelter house would be $7,900. An adjoining $600 bid by Plamann is for installation of a septic system for the structure.

The resolution passed unanimously this morning permits the Parks and Recreation Committee of the county board to enter into contract with Plamann. Construction is expected to begin soon.

Festival to Honor Two Composers

Dr. Rudolph Ganz To be Present at Wednesday Concert

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — A pair of amazingly durable composers, both entering their ninth decade, will be honored at the Peninsula Music Festival here Wednesday night.

Dr. Thor Johnson and the Festival Orchestra will salute 90-year-old Carl Ruggles and Dr. Rudolph Ganz by performing the former's "Portals" and the Ganz Piano Concerto.

The third subscription program of the 14th annual series will be rounded out by the Telemann concerto for oboe, harpsichord and strings and Symphony No. 2 in B-Flat Major by Franz Schubert.

Soloists for the Telemann will be oboist James Caldwell, with Mary Sauer at the harpsichord. Curtain time in Gibraltar High School auditorium is 8 p.m.

Soloist Former Pupil

Dr. Ganz, Grand Old Man of Midwestern music, will be present for the performance of his concerto with his former pupil, Miss Sauer as soloist.

A native of Switzerland and a world-renowned concert pianist in his time, Dr. Ganz has lived for many years in Chicago, where he has been associated with the Chicago Musical College almost continuously since 1900.

Wednesday's performance will be the concerto's second at Fish Creek. It was first heard here in 1957 when Mayne Miller, played it. Like Miss Sauer, Miss Miller was a Ganz student. Then it was presented in honor of Dr. Ganz's 80th birthday.

The concerto was written for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and premiered by it early in 1941 under the late Dr. Frederick Stock, with the composer himself at the keyboard. Technically in the key of E-Flat Major, the work was then titled "Konzertstuck."

Discovered Late

Carl Ruggles is a New Englander who has lived most of his long life in Vermont. He does have Midwest ties since many years ago he organized a symphony orchestra at Winona, Minn. A painter as well as a highly original composer, Ruggles worked in almost complete obscurity until last year when his approaching 90th birthday sparked a "discovery" of his music.

Ruggles' entire output consists of exactly seven works, the smallest production of any major composer. All were written between 1922 and 1949.

"Portals," composed in 1926, is a short, tense work for strings. It is written in 12 contrapuntal parts without repetition of any ideas and with no imitation among the parts. Each instrument has its own melodic line that flows independently, in the manner of medieval polyphony, although there is nothing medieval abiut Ruggles' modern idiom.

Everyone Still Happy With 'My Three Sons'

Star Fred MacMurray Likely to Stay On as Long as Show Gets Top Ratings

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How long should a television series stay on the air?

"Not long enough so they get tired of you," opines Fred MacMurray.

Audiences show no signs of tiring of Fred on "My Three Sons." Nor, CBS will be happy to learn, is Fred wearying of the series—yet. Next season—who knows?

He was gratified that "My Three Sons" managed to bounce back to the top ranks in audience ratings after a switchover from ABC. He is likely to remain as long as it stays in the upper reaches. But if it starts to slide—

"Maybe Dick Van Dyke was smart," Fred observed. "Quit while you're ahead. Some of these shows just stay too long and wear out their welcome."

Easiest of Actors

Fred MacMurray appears to be the easiest of performers, but his work is harder than it seems. For example he is now playing the title role of a new Disney musical, "The Happiest Millionaire," in which he is required to dance an Irish jig.

"Pulled a muscle the first day," he reported. "I've managed to avoid dancing most of my career. I never did any on Broadway. And I had only one in a picture before: A Swiss slapping dance with Eddie Foy Jr. in some old musical. I was sore for weeks.

"Every time I go on a TV variety show, I say, 'I don't dance.' I managed to escape except on one Dinah Shore show when they had me do the number 'I Won't Dance.'"

"My Three Sons" also has its strenuous aspects. Originally Fred did all his scenes in a three-month period, then the rest of the cast filled out the scripts with their own scenes. Now he does his work in two or three sessions of shooting, a few weeks at a time.

Not a Soul Around

"It's better this way," he said. "But still, it can be tough. I do most of my scenes with no one else around. I address a roomful of kids, and there's not a soul there."

Greer Garson, who plays his wife in "The Happiest Millionaire," was passing by and she commented: "That happened to me in 'Blossoms In the Dust.' I was supposed to deliver my most impassioned speech before the City Council, pleading with them to allow the zoning for an orphanage.

"The first scenes were taken of the character actors who listened to my speech. They were released as the day progressed. When they got to my shots at 5 in the afternoon, I gave my stirring speech to an audience of iron posts that represented the City Council."

The Light Comedy About a Milwaukee girl's visit to Miami Beach, Joseph Masteroff's "The Warm Peninsula," is the current show at the Fish Creek Theatre-in a-Garden. Two of the Peninsula Players' cast are Lynn Bilek in the role of the Milwaukee girl and Douglas Greene playing the young man who makes her visit memorable. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. tonight through Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

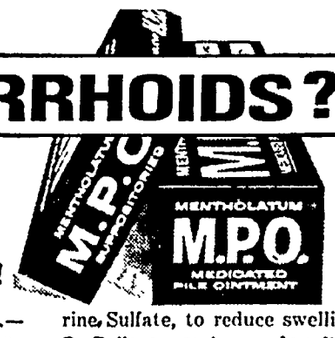
HEMORRHOIDS?



New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!

In clinical tests of new M.P.O.—an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids(piles)—doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients! M.P.O. works five ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:

1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.

2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.

3. Relieves embarrassing itch. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.

4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.

5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.

M.P.O. is a development of Mentholatum Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

CBS News Takes Look At Bridges

9:00-9:30 — Channels 2-12; 10:30-11 — Channel 7 — An Essay on Bridges, a CBS News special, is an informative little report on the "function, beauty, truth and everlastingness" of what producer-writer Andrew A. Rooncy thinks is man's most important contribution. Glimpses of bridges of the world are shown — from the classic Roman arch to the New Verrazano Bridge over the New York Narrows. Harry Reasoner handles the humorous narrative. (R)

* * *

6:30-7 — Channels 4-5 — "My Son the Criminal" on My Mother, the Car is a forlorn excuse for comedy. A mailman thinks Jerry Van Dyke has killed and cemented his mother into the floor of his garage. Little does he know that mom's battery is far from run down and that the old girl has plenty of miles left. (R-COLOR)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — "Run, Sheep, Run" is another harrowing look at the terrible side of war on Combat. Dwayne Hickman plays a GI who "wined and dined" by Sergeant Saunders and men for bravery. They think he is the hero of a battle which knocked out a German outpost. What they don't know is that Hickman is a coward. (R)

* * *

7:30-8 — Channels 11-6-9 — Baby talk almost sinks McHale's Navy when crewman Christy attempts to talk to his year-old son by shortwave. The enemy mistakes the bubbly chatter for all-out war and the push is on — and so is the nonsense which is enough to torpedo any fleet. (R)

7:30-8:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — Hippodrome, the British-produced variety show, again overflows with American talent. Heading the session is Trini Lopez, who wails "Cindy." "If I Had a Hammer" and "What I Say." Also on the bill is Enzo Stuarti, an all-American-Italian tenor, who offers a medley of tunes from "The Sound of Music." (COLOR)

* * *

8-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — "Wrongo Starr and The Lady in Black" on F Troop is a humorous bit of nonsense. Henry Gibson is Wrongo, a replacement at Fort Courage. A man of outrageous bad luck (the first day in the cavalry his horse dies of chicken pox) he hopes to change his name to Lucky Star. (R)

* * *

8-10 — Channels 4-5 — "Walk Like a Dragon" is one of those psychological westerns, popular a few years back. The Tuesday Night at the Movies entry is tiresome although there are some thoughtful performances by James Shigeta, a Chinese gunslinger, who is ready to shoot it out with Jack Lord over Nobu McCarthy, a Chinese slave girl. (R)

Bruised Guidelines Won't be Deserted By Administration

3.2 Per Cent Wage-Price Increase Limit Studied for Possible Change

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration may soon revamp — but not abandon — the buffeted and battered wage-price guidelines which have been left for dead by some of their critics.

At present, however, the 3.2 per cent guidelines which President Johnson's chief economic adviser has called far from ideal remain official administration policy.

But the White House said Monday the entire picture is under study and it's impossible at this point to predict what the President's labor-management advisory committee and his other advisers might recommend.

Hint of Change

Strong hints of a possible change came Monday from Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler after each held a separate conference with the President.

They said the guidelines must be continued as parts of the administration's efforts to fight inflation but not necessarily in their present form.

The guidelines call for a voluntary ceiling of 3.2 per cent on wage increases — representing the annual increase in productivity — and relatively stable prices.

Fowler said increased productivity is still the key to the entire concept while Connors said productivity in a specific industry must be taken into account.

"I think we'll continue to need something like the guidelines," Fowler commented. "They have served a useful purpose. They will always need adjustment and revision. They cannot be frozen always in a solid pattern."

Solid Pattern

Connor said the 3.2 per cent formula can lead to misunderstandings in specific industries.

The White House said the administration is not abandoning voluntary restraints which have been under especially severe strain the past 10 days with rejection by airline machinists of a contract agreement worked out under White House auspices. This provided a 6 to 7 per cent wage and fringe benefit increase.

Subsequently the steel industry announced its decision to raise prices by $2 and $3 per ton on sheet and strip steel, effective Wednesday.

Connor, in an apparent switch in administration tactics, said the steel price increases wouldn't be especially harmful and would give the industry extra money for expansion and modernization.

Ackley Call

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, last week called the price increases irresponsible and the White House called them inflationary. Johnson himself warned last Friday that the government might have to cut spending in areas of inflationary price rises.

There was speculation in some quarters that Connor, as head of the department dealing with business problems, was attempting to reassure businessmen that the administration still wants to maintain good will with industry.

It was Ackley who last weekend described the guidelines as far from ideal. But Fowler said they have been important factors in maintaining economic growth, a high level of employment and price stability.

Increased Demands Noted

Easing of Wheat Acreage Control Not Expected to Help Bread Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government says its new easing of wheat acreage controls is not expected to have an immediate effect on the price of a loaf of bread.

Citing increased demands at home and abroad, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Monday increased the 1967 national wheat allotment by 15 per cent — or 8.9 million acres — to a total of 68.2 million acres.

A department spokesman predicted that prices would continue strong. Announcement of the increase came after the close of trading on the grain market Monday and any impact on wheat prices would not show up until after today's market opening.

Effect On Prices

The spokesman added the increased acreage allotment isn't expected to have an effect now on bread prices which have climbed two or three cents a loaf recently.

The action comes at a time when U.S. wheat reserves are at their lowest level in 14 years. On July 1, the surplus stood at 535 million bushels, nearly a third less than a year earlier. Farm officials consider 600 million bushels a safe reserve level.

Freeman indicated the larger allotment is expected to produce a 1967 crop of 1.6 billion bushels, assuming weather is normal.

Additional Acreage

The spokesman also predicted two-thirds of the newly authorized acreage will be planted to wheat. Farmers also could plant feed grains, soy beans or flax seed on the additional acreage.

The new U.S. foreign aid chief, William S. Gaud, in a news conference Monday said the United States must reduce its surplus food shipments to needy countries by 25 per cent next year because of dwindling reserves.

Gaud spoke of percentages, but his aides said only 10 million metric tons will be available for food shipments next year compared with 12.5 million tons this year.

Congressional Candidate Gives Viet Nam Report

MADISON (AP)— A Republican congressional candidate who went to Viet Nam for 10 days presented the first copy of his report on the trip to Gov. Warren P. Knowles Monday.

William B. Smith of Madison, who is trying to unseat Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said the conflict was not an insurrection.

"If Ho Chi Minh pulled back to the 17th parallel the war would fold up in a day" from lack of support to the Viet Cong, he said.

His report said the United States should use its resources "to spur social revolution in various parts of the world," but he expressed regret toward U.S. involvement in the war.

He proposed a "Viet Corps" modeled on the highly successful peace corps to assist technological education. Smith suggested young persons entering such a program be given a draft exemption.

Carrier Wasp Fogbound on Family Cruise

1,300 Relatives Of Crew Members View Life at Sea

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP) — The carrier USS Wasp has added a novel page to naval history—it got fogbound at sea with some 1,300 of the crew's relatives aboard.

The cruise to show dependents what Navy life is like was scheduled to be a one-day affair, with the Wasp coming back into its home port here at dusk Monday.

But a heavy fog rolled in off the sea during the afternoon and Capt. Melvin R. Etheridge ordered the ship anchored at the entrance to Boston Harbor about 3 p.m.

The fog clung to the harbor, however, so Capt. Etheridge upped anchor and headed for Quonset Point, R.I., giving the 1,300 wives, children and other relatives an unscheduled overnight journey on the mighty warship.

Official Navy spokesman said the guests were housed in the aft section of the Wasp, with chiefs and officers giving up their quarters for the night. A spokesman said at least a third of the guests were women.

"Everybody is happy and comfortable," a spokesman said early today.

A number of dependents drove from Quonset Point to Boston for the cruise, the spokesman said, but didn't plan on returning by ship.

The trip from Boston to Quonset Point, the site of a naval air station, is about 60 miles by road, but at least 200 by water.

At Quonset Point, 18 children ranging in age from six months to 12 years, had been left at a base nursery. The Navy rounded up a number of other Navy wives to help with the smaller youngsters during the night.

A spokesman at the air station said it hadn't been decided how to get the dependents back to Boston.

Student Recalls Horror of Titan Silo Explosion Year Ago

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Gary Wayne Lay, 19, looks back on that dark afternoon one year ago and he knows it was a day that changed his life.

"I don't think I'll never get completely over it," he says.

"I still thank God for what happened to me but my nerves are just about gone.

"I had nightmares for several months and I still have them every once in a while."

Lay, a student at the University of Arkansas, was doing summer work as a part-time laborer helping renovate a Titan II missile site one year ago today when an explosion and flash fire tore through the nine-story underground structure — called a launch silo complex.

Minor Burns

Lay and another workman, Hubert A. Saunders, 60, of Conway got out with minor burns.

Another 53 men died in the dark horror of the big tube, either killed by the explosion or the fire, or trapped at various levels and suffocated.

The underground silo is one of 54 in the United States holding Titan intercontinental ballistic missiles cocked and ready for a one-way trip with a nuclear payload. This complex, one of 18 in Arkansas, is outside this north central Arkansas town of 8,269 population.

The missile wasn't armed at the time.

A 30-man investigation team concluded that the tragedy, worst in the history of this nation's space and missile systems, started when a welder's torch touched a fuel line.

Emergency Ladder

Lay, who was working on the second level when the fire started, climbed up an emergency ladder after walking through the fire.

"It was horrible. I could hear men screaming and crying. Somebody was yelling, 'Help me! God, help me!' I tried to go down the ladder, but the men were jammed up there, so I went up, through the fire. If it hadn't been for God, I'd never have got out of there," Lay said.

Saunders returned to the Titan job three months after the blast and stayed on it until it was completed last June.

He now is employed by a painting contractor in Morrilton.

"It didn't bother me at all," Saunders said. "I'm not the excitable type. My wife didn't worry either. Neighbors talked about it some, but everything was back to normal in a few days."

Arkansas to Select Foe For Rockefeller

Jim Johnson Segregationist; Frank Holt Backs Federal Policies

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Democrats select a nominee for governor in a runoff primary today. The choice is between a dedicated foe of the federal government and a man pledged to continue the state's friendly relations with Washington.

Jim Johnson, 41, who led a preferential primary ticket with 105,000 votes July 26, has pegged his campaign on criticism of President Lyndon B. Johnson and just about everything else that emanates from Washington.

His opponent, Frank Holt, 55, has warned that election of Jim Johnson might endanger the state's participation in dozens of federal aid programs.

Johnson, an avowed segregationist, has charged that Holt is a tool of the political organization which has supported retiring Gov. Orval Faubus for years.

Quit Undefeatde

Faubus, quitting undefeated after 12 years, with his eye on a possible race against Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright in 1968, has not endorsed either candidate in the runoff.

A few years ago the winner of the Democratic primary could sit back and wait for automatic election in November. This is no longer true. Winthrop Rockefeller and a revitalized Republican party are waiting for the winner of what has developed into a real fight among Democrats.

Johnson is the champion of the conservative element of the state party, a vigorous proponent of state's rights and an unrelenting critic of federal efforts in the field of civil rights.

Holt has never taken a stand on the race question, and Johnson did not remind him of this, so race technically was not an issue in the campaign. Johnson reminded his audiences, however, that he was a segregationist — then, now and always.

Tactics Change

The campaign techniques of the two candidates changed dramatically during the 14 days between primaries. In the first primary, Johnson spent much time attacking Holt and five other opponents.

During the runoff campaign, Johnson talked more and more about his program, Holt turned more and more to attacking his opponent.

Cofeatured in the runoff is a campaign in the 4th District for the congressional seat vacated by the resignation of Rep. Oren Harris who became a federal judge in February. The contestants are David Pryor, 31, of Camden, who led the ticket July 26, and Richard Arnold, 30, of Texarkana.

The winner will meet Republican Lynn Lowe in a special election in September to fill Harris' unexpired term. The winner and Lowe meet again in November for a full two-year term.

Voters cast their ballots between 8 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. CST (10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. EDT).

'Instant Beer' Product Of Hops Truck Fire

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A truck trailer carrying an estimated $20,000 in hops from Yakima, Wash., became something of a brewery Monday when it caught fire.

Having arrived at siding on a Milwaukee Road flatcar, the trailer burned because of a short circuit in its electrical refrigeration unit, firefighters said.

The trailer's 40 bales of hops were mixed with water, smoke and refrigerant gases in the flames.

2 Children Die as Tractor Overturns

A tractor accident on a Grant County road has raised the state's highway death toll to 605 compared to 571 on Aug. 9 last year.

Robert Klaas, 14, and his brother, James, 7, died Monday when their tractor plunged into a roadside ditch near their rural Livingston home as they were riding home from a neighbor's farm.

Foxes Extend Win Streak To Nine; at Home Tonight

Kaukauna Lions Club Night Set

The Foxes launch a 5-day homestand at 8 p.m. today against second-place Burlington with hopes of extending their victory string to 10 straight.

Tonight's meeting will serve as the annual outing for the Lions Club of Kaukauna.

The Para-naut skydiving team will be making its third and final appearance at Goodland Field prior to Wednesday's skirmish with Burlington. All three divers hit the mark in their first try at Goodland and two of three were successful on the second attempt. A parachute-folding demonstration will begin at 7:30 p.m., with "touchdown" slated for about 8 p.m.

3-Game Series

Clinton arrives for a 3-game series Thursday, with the game being designated as Little Chute-Kimberly booster night. Tickets for the 8 p.m. engagement are available at any of the merchants in the "Heart of the Valley" and the Village Musicians will perform at the game.

Village presidents Alvin Fulcer, Ed Spierings and Dan Williams have issued proclamations urging their constituents to support the booster night.

Clinton also provides the opposition for Friday and Saturday's 8 p.m. attractions, with the latter serving as "Advertisers' Appreciation Night." Tickets have been mailed to all scorebook and fence advertisers.

Foxes' fans are reminded that each time they attend a game they may register for an all-expense paid trip to Chicago's Comiskey Park for the White Sox-Baltimore Oriole series Sept. 3-4.

Braves Tip Dodgers In Slugfest, 10-9; Drop LA to Third

SF, Reds Have 48 Hits in Twinbill Split; Idle Pirates Take Over First

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron leads the National League in homers with 31 and in runs batted in with 85. Joe Torre is not far behind with 27 and 73. Felipe Alou has the most hits in the majors, 160, and the second best average, .330. Rico Carty is not far behind at .327.

Denis Menke is very far behind all of them. He has a .241 average, nine homers and 37 runs batted in.

But as far as the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants are concerned, Menke is far ahead of his Atlanta Brave teammates on their hate lists.

Menke didn't have a hit Monday night until the ninth inning when he singled home the fourth run of the inning and gave the Braves a 10-9 victory over the Dodgers that dropped them from first place to third in the hectic NL pennant race.

The Giants split a doubleheader with Cincinnati, winning 7-5 after losing 10-6, and moved into second place, three percentage points behind the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were idle. The Dodgers are one-half game out.

Game Winning Hit

Menke's game-winning hit was his third in the Braves' last seven victories. Two weekends ago the 26-year-old shortstop beat the Giants twice in less than 24 hours with run-scoring singles.

The Giants battled back for a 6-6 tie in the top of the ninth inning July 29, but Menke singled across the winning run in the bottom of the inning.

The next afternoon the teams fought into the 11th inning tied 5-5 before Menke ended it with a bases-loaded single.

His winning single that tumbled the Dodgers to third was the sixth single in the ninth. Ty Cline started the hit parade, and Mack Jones, Felipe Alou, Joe Torre and Rico Carty followed before Menke finished it.

That certainly didn't make Menke a hit with the Dodgers, who had erupted for three runs and a 9-6 lead in the top of the

Braves Fire Bragan, Hire Hitchcock

BULLETIN

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Bobby Bragan was fired Tuesday as manager of the Atlanta Braves and replaced by coach Billy Hitchcock.

Hitchcock managed the Baltimore Orioles of the American League in 1962 and 1963. He was a scout for the Braves in 1965 and was hired as a coach last winter.

Bragan's discharge had been the subject of speculation throughout the summer after the Braves skidded into the second division of the National League.

However, after Bragan survived a slump before the All-Star break, it was thought he probably would be kept as manager the remainder of this year.

Hitchcock had been considered a leading candidate to succeed Bragan since he joined the coaching staff.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Jim Nash, Kansas City, scattered seven hits, extending his unbeaten rookie streak to six victories in the Atlantics' 6-1 triumph over Minnesota.

Bill Melton, Jones Spark 13-8 Victory

QUINCY, Ill. — Husky Bill Melton, the Fox Cities Foxes' version of mythical slugger Ozark Ike, proved to be just that here Monday night as he combined with player-coach "Deacon" Jones to drive in nine runs in a 13-8 conquest of Quincy's Cubs.

The Foxes 6-foot 1-inch, 190-pound rightfielder singled in his first marker in the sixth and followed with a grand slam homer in the seventh inning. Big Bill also contributed a double to the Foxes' 12-hit onslaught.

Jones pushed four runs across the plate with a single in the sixth and a bases-loaded triple in the eighth to help the Foxes nail down an 8-6 season edge over the Cubs. Last night's clash was the final one of the season for the two teams.

The Foxes open a 5-day homestand at 8 p.m. today against Burlington, with Clinton moving into Goodland Field for a 3-day stint Thursday. Southpaw Abarbanel (11-3) is the probable starting pitcher for Fox Cities tonight.

Quincy tallied single runs in the first, third and fifth innings for a 3-0 lead, but the Foxes knotted the count with a trio in the sixth. Al Kirstowski walked and Jerry Boehmer singled, setting up Jones' run-scoring single. Melton followed with another run-producing base hit and reliefer Bob Terlecki wild pitched the third tally across the plate.

Solo Homer

Spencer Davis socked a solo homer in the bottom of the inning to put Quincy back in command, but the Foxes erupted for five runs in the seventh. With 2-out, Kristowski singled

Hathcock Has Determination, Desire to Make Packer Team

Memphis State Standout Played Only One Varsity Grid Season

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — If dogged Dave Hathcock crashes the Packers' championship roster, it will been an unalloyed triumph for determination and desire.

Making the Green Bay grade is no small achievement these days, but for this genial southern gentleman, it looms as a monumental challenge.

Decathlon-Type

A track star, he whirled through four action-packed years as a decathlon-type performer at Memphis State before taking a fling at football. "I played freshman football," he explained in discounting that experience, "but all you are is dummies. All I did was play defense."

Why had he waited so long? "I went to college on a track scholarship — I was Tennessee State decathlon champion as a senior in high school — and I had a pretty good year in track as a freshman at Memphis State, so I decided to stick with it."

Eight Events

Hathcock, a native of Memphis, amassed 244 track points as a junior, despite missing two meets because of a pulled muscle. "I was having a bad day," he says matter-of-factly, "if I didn't score more than 23 points."

"I was more of a decathlon man than anything else," he continued. "In my junior year, I was in eight events — shot put, discus, javelin, broad jump, triple jump, high hurdles, intermediate hurdles and the high jump. In my last meet, against Mississippi State, I won five firsts and two thirds for 27 points. That was the best day of my career.

"My senior year," Dave added, "was a kind of a letdown. I was in tremendous shape, but I pulled a muscle two days before our first meet and I was only able to compete in one all season. Scored 7 points in that one. It was really a disappointment, because I had worked so hard. I usually trained for six months before my first meet, and this year I had almost starved myself to get down to 175 pounds."

What prompted his second fling at football? "I needed another year of school, and since I still had three years of eligibility left for football, I thought I'd give it a try. Since I wouldn't have to play spring football, I figured if I could get a scholarship, it would take me through the last year of school."

Full Scholarship

"I talked to the coach and he said he'd give me a full scholarship if I still liked to hit. That was fair enough, because I had been away from it three or four years in track, where there's no contact."

"I said it was all right with me," Hathcock said, appending with a wry smile, "the first day I hurt my ribs. As I was walking off the field later, next to a bunch of guys who towered over me, I said to myself, " "What in the world am I doing out here?' "

"I thought they'd put me on defense, but they started me at tailback. When I came back the following Monday, after the injury, they put me at wingback, and later at split end. I

Reichardt to Have Kidney Surgery Today

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — California Angels outfielder Rick Reichardt was scheduled for exploratory surgery today at St. Mary's Hospital in hope of finding a way to correct a congenital kidney defect.

Reichardt underwent tests at the Mayo Clinic last week, and a clinical report made public Monday said: "The tests have confirmed abnormalities in reduced function of the right kidney."

Reichardt checked into St. Mary's Hospital late Sunday for more tests and to prepare for surgery.

The young Madison, Wis., athlete, who was signed by the Angels in 1964 for a reported $200,000, complained of headaches and dizziness before coming to the Mayo Clinic.

Steffen& suffered a collapsed lung and four broken ribs in the exhibition game against the Baltimore Colts last Wednesday night.

Some Easing of Hunting Restrictions Seen

Favorable Outlook for Duck Season

By W. JOYNES MCFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A moderate increase in the fall flight of ducks in all four flyways was forecast today.

Waler F. Crissey, director of the migratory bird populations station of the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, made the prediction to the waterfowl advisory committee in a detailed report on the 1966 status of waterfowl.

The committee and officials of the bureau meet today and Wednesday and will make recommendations to be considered in drafting proposed 1966 - 67 hunting regulations for approval by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Ease Restrictiones

Director John S. Gottschalk of the bureau already has said the outlook is so favorable there will be some easing of hunting restritions.

Crissey said there will be a moderate increase of ducks in each of the four flyways as compared with last year, but cautioned that in each the flight will be less than the 1955-65 average.

He also emphasized that the popular mallar ducks apparently still need special protection, although there was a good comeback in the breeding population this year, with an increase of 29 per cent over 1965.

Crissey said the mallard population still is 16 per cent below an 11-year average that includes very low populations during the six years ended in 965.

Below Average

Pintails also increased this year, up 23 per cent from 1965, he said, but still are 29 per cent below their average and have been at disturbingly low levels since 1961.

Surveys show the duck population at the beginning of the season varied from the low 1965 level, in the tri - state area of South Dakota, North Dkota and western Minnesota to an increase of 58 per cent in southern Saskatchewan.

Crissey's fall flight forecast by flyways included:

Mississippi flyway:

Ducks — a moderate increase is indicated, and the wood duck breeding populations appear to be at least as high as in 1965.

Geese—the flight probably will be as good as the one in 1965, based on questionable decreases shown in the winter survey. White-fronts increased.

Coots—there probably will be an increase over 1965.

SPORT FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

In the history of big-time pro football, there has been only one player who led the league in rushing every year he played . . . Know who it was? . . . None other than Supreme Court justice Byron "Whizzer" White . . . White played his first year in the National Football League in 1938 and led the league in rushing . . . He left pro football in 1939 but then came back for one more season in 1940, and again he led the league in rushing! . . . That was his last season in pro football, so he quit with a perfect record.

Who do you think does better in golf — the player who can drive the ball farther with less accuracy or the one who can drive the ball less far but with more accuracy? . . . The U.S. Golf Assn. recently compiled statistics which show that, of the two, the player who drives accurately is better off overall than the longer, wilder hitter.

Do you know which big league baseball team holds the record for finishing in last place the most consecutive years? . . . It's not the Mets . . . All-time record is held by the old Philadelphia A's who finished in last place 7 consecutive seasons, from 1915 through 1921.

With just two weeks of action remaining in the Dairyland League, three Northern Division teams and two participants in the Southern Division remained tied for the lead in their respective divisions as all posted victories in games Sunday.

Freedom and Garsow are setting the pace in the Southern circuit, while Bonduel, Hofa Park and Navarino are bidding for the second round crown in the Northern loop.

Freedom tallied single markers in the first five innings and three in the sixth frame in downing Nichols, 8-3. Jerry Marohl clouted a solo home run for the winners while Jack Plamann and Doug Dudek had round-trippers for Nichols.

Homer in Ninth

Bill Danforth slapped a 4-bagger in the bottom of the ninth to give Garsow a 9-8 win over Black Creek.

Garsow tallied first in the contest, but Black Creek came up with six in the third on four hits to take a 6-3 lead. In the fourth, Hubert Jordan rapped a 3-run homer and Dan Ferry followed with a solo shot to make it 7-6 in favor of Garsow. Black Creek caught up and knotted the score at 8-all in the seventh.

Danforth's winning blast was his third safety of the game.

The only other Northern Division game between Seymour and Oneida was rained out and will be played Thursday.

Convincing Win

Bonduel recorded a convincing 20-4 victory over Bear Creek, slapping out 16 hits, including Pat Wudtke and Ron Rosenow.

Wudtke's round-trippers both came in the fourth inning when Bonduel tallied 10 times. His first came with two on and the second with one man on. Rosenow followed Wudtke with a solo homer and after Don Kroll homered with one on in the eighth, Rosenow hit another solo shot.

Hofa Park erased a 3-0 deficit and went on to top Shiocton, 9-3.

The losers tallied three in the first, two on a circuit drive by Harry Johnson, but Dick McDermid closed the door the rest of the way.

McDermid was nicked for 10 hits, but walked only one while striking oucounted for four runs with a pair of 4-baggers.

Arlin Pues and Bruce Landsverk cracked home runs to give Navarino an 8-5 decision over Cecil. Pues had two other hits in addition to his round-tripper and Jim Mitchell hit safely three times for the losers.

Waterfowl on Wing

August by Calendar, But Fall Already in Air

BY DAVE DUFFEY
Post-Crescent News Service

By the calendar it's still summer. The coats of the deer venturing out into the clearings in the evening are still sorrel-colored and not all the fawns have lost their spots.

But fall is in the air in Wisconsin, even though it is early August as this is being written. This is evident in the evenings when a man is on foot in the fields and woods, either starting the annual shaping up of hunting dogs for the coming season or simple because it's coiler and a fine time to browse through the brush.

The air is cool, but as you walk through a certain spot the ground, still retaining warmth from the day's hot sun, transmits a puff of heat to a man's face almost six feet about it. Dog trainers should bear in mind that their charges are down at that level, working at a warmer temperature than the air above it and must not overdue the hard running.

Mosquitoes There

The openings and fields are relatively insect free, but back in the swamps and timber mosquitoes still swarm. Dusk is heavily laid in by 9 p.m. watch time, which is really only 8 p.m. sun time, and this year's broods of waterfowl are on the wing, the young pheasants can get up and fly and some of the roosters show some color.

The skunk parades across the roads feature three-quarter grown young ones behind the mother and the rabbits the dart off are of a size capable of taking care of themselves as they ever will be.

In a short time, dogs who have only recently finished shedding their coats, will be seeking out sun spots in the morning rather than the shade, following cool nights and even frost in the low places.

Fall is on its way. No sense fighting it. Nor does any sportsman have any intention of bucking the trend. Instead he savors the preview and welcomes the signs for they mean those alternating damp and snappy mornings, mellowed like wine by the sun at mid-day, when the days in the hunting field are at their best, are now only weeks away.

Cedar Rapids Beats Clinton, 14-4, in ML

No teams in the first division could gain any ground on Midwest League-leading Cedar Rapids as the Cardinals continued their winning ways by trouncing Clinton, 14-4, in action Monday night.

Ray Medrano stopped Waterloo on six hits, giving up a lone tally in the ninth as Burlington won, 6-1.

Wisconsin Rapids teed off on Decatur's Jesse Huggins in his route going-Performance for 10 runs on 16 hits in downing the Commodores, 10-8. The Twins held a 10-2 lead going into the bottom of the ninth, but stopped a Decatur rally after six runs had scored for the victory.

In another game, two Quad Cities hurlers limited Dubuque to just four safeties in a 4-2 conquest.

Foxes Extend Win Streaks To Nine Games

and stole second. Jerry Boehmer and Jones walked, setting the stage for Melton's blast over the right field fence. First sacker George Hunter followed with a solo homer and the Foxes enjoyed an 8-4 advantage . . . momentarily at least.

Quincy bounced right back to knot the count at 8-8 with a 4-run outburst in the bottom of the seventh. Ace reliefer Gary Schaefer was the victim as Jim Atterbury and Bob Rossi walked and scored on Gary Jestadt's single. Davis walked, but was forced at second by John Hairston, and Billy Johns drove in Jestadt and Hairston with a double.

Willie Hooker bailed out Schaefer, who failed to work a full inning, and the Foxes' veteran was credited with his 13th victory of the season against just five losses as Fox Cities iced the game with three runs in the eighth and another pair in the ninth.

Doug Adams and Hooker walked in the eighth, with Adams being forced at the plate by Kristowski. Boehmer walked to jam the sacks and Jones came through, as usual, with the 3-run triple to the right field corner.

Al Fitzmorris survived on an error in the ninth and Berke Reichenback flied to Leroy Haynes, who dropped the ball, allowing Fitzmorris to score. Hooker singled in Reichenbach for the Foxes' 13th marker.

Mets Defeat Farm Club, 4-1

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The New York Mets, handcuffed for six innings, came from behind to whip their Eastern League farm club Williamsport 4-1 Monday night.

Jerry Hinsley held New York scoreless through the first six innings, but the parent team erupted for three runs off Al Schmelz on three hits, two wild pitches and an error in the seventh.

The Mets scored another run in the ninth on a walk and run-producing double by John Stephenson.

Williamsport scored off New York starter Dic Rustek in the first inning on a double, a wild pitch and a single. Hinsley protected the one run lead through six innings, giving up only two hits.

Hathcock Determined To Make Packer Team

learned all three positions. Later they switched me to defense after the second game. I was a monster man. It's nothing more than an outside linebacker — you go to the strong side on every play. They were starting another kid, but I made up my mind if I got another chance, he'd never get back in. I got in just a few plays before the end of the first quarter. He replaced me a little later, but I went back in before the half was over and I had the job the rest of the season.

His selection by the Packers in last December's draft "was a complete surprise," says Hathcock, who still shakes his head over the wonder of it all. "When my mother said I had a telegram from Western Union to that effect, I couldn't believe it. I called Western Union myself and made 'em read off the message before I'd believe. It instructed me to call Pat Peppler (Packer personnel director). I did and when Pat told me I was drafted 17th, I still couldn't believe it. I had no idea of playing professional football."

Nice Fellows

"It was a great honor," he smiled, "particularly to be drafted by the world champions. When you get up here you can tell why they're world champions. They're all real nice fellows."

As might be expected, the 6-foot, 195-pound freshman finds pro football somewhat of a change. "You're more on your own here than you are in college football. You have more responsibilities, as far as doing your job is concerned. In track, you're on your own. But in a team sport, like football, you're depending on someone else and someone is depending on you. That's my greatest worry," he said soberly, "that I'll let somebody down."

Hathcock, who obviously enjoys what he is doing, further noted with a grin, "It's kind of hard to believe you get paid for doing something that you really like."

How does he assess his chances? "It's really hard to say. You don't know you're going to be leaving. I've had some good days and I've had some real bad days . . . if I don't get hurt, and if I keep my head, I think I've got a chance. I have so much to learn — I've missed so much that the other boys have had."

Packer Patter — A thunderstorm abbreviated the Packers' Monday practice . . . their first exercise in preparation for Friday's date with the Bears . . . they toiled through 15 minutes of pelting rain but, at the first flash of lightning in the area, Coach Vince Lombardi ordered a cease-fire . . . Donny Anderson, injured in last Friday night's All-Star game, ran with more ease than expected . . . fellow bonus baby Jim Grabowski, a well-soaked citizen who also had just undergone his first Packer workout, observed with a rueful grin, "there's no such thing as slowing down is there . . . it's enough to scare out a poor rookie like me."

ninth. John Roseboro doubled in the first two runs and scored the third on Torre's error.

Before that, Los Angeles had rallied from a 5-0 deficit behind the hitting of Ron Fairly, who added three hits to a four-hit performance the day before. Fairly collected two homers and a double, driving in three runs and scoring three. His two-run homer in the eighth tied the contest 6-6.

The Giants and Reds exploded for 48 hits in their doubleheader, eight of them home runs.

Willie Mays hit the 531st of his career in the opener, but the Reds overcame that and other Giant homers by Willie McCovey, Len Gabrielson and Jim Hart with five runs in the fifth, the last three on a homer by Leo Cardenas.

McCovey snapped a 5-5 tie in the seventh inning of the nightcap with his 23rd homer. He added his fourth hit of the game, a single, in the ninth and scored the Giants' last run.

The Reds had tied it 5-5 in the fourth as reliever Jack Baldschun, who later gave up McCovey's homer, singled in one run and scored another on Pete Rose's single.

In the American League Detroit trimmed Washington 5-3 in 12 innings, Kansas City whipped Minnesota 6-1 and Boston beat Cleveland 3-1.

Athletics' Nash Still Unbeaten; Bosox Tip Indians on Scott Homer

Associated Press Sports Writer

The only thing blocking Johnny Podres' American League comeback appears to be his National League teammate's helping hand.

Podres, who joined the Detroit Tigers last spring after 13 National League seasons with Brooklyn and Los Angeles, was deprived of a victory for the second time in a week Monday night when reliever Larry Sherry, his ex-Dodger teammate, failed to protect a late-inning lead.

The Tigers finally beat Washington 5-3 on Willie Horton's two-run single in the 12th inning, but by that time Podres was just another name in the box score.

Makes Fourth Start

The veteran left-hander, making his fourth start after 23 consecutive relief appearances, checked the Senators on six hits for eight innings before leaving for a pinch hitter with Detroit ahead 3-0.

Sherry, however, couldn't hold the lead in the ninth. He gave up a single to Fred Valentine and a two-run homer to Frank Howard, another former Dodger. Then he was clipped for a two-out single by Paul Casanova before being replaced by Hank Aguirre. Aguirre walked Jim King, and Ed Brinkman tied the score with a single off Dave Wickersham, the eventual winner.

Last Wednesday night, the Tigers led Chicago 3-1 after seven innings when Podres, who had allowed five hits, was forced to leave the game with a stiff shoulder. Sherry came in at the start of the eighth and served up a two-run homer to John Romano. The White Sox scored three more runs in the inning and won 6-3.

In Monday's other AL activity, the Kansas City Athletics trimmed Minnesota 6-1 behind unbeaten rookie Jim Nash and the Boston Red Sox downed Cleveland 3-1 on a two-run homer by rookie George Scott.

Horton's two-out single off Bob Humphreys in the 12th broke the deadlock at Washington after the Tigers loaded the bases on Jim Northrup's single, an error by Brinkman and an intentional walk to Al Kaline.

Run-scoring doubles by Horton and Orlando McFarlane gave the Tigers a 2-0 lead in the second inning and Kaline, who had four hits, singled a run across in the eighth.

Scatters Seven Hits

Nash, the Athletics' 21-year-old sensation, scattered seven hits and boosted his season mark to 6-0 since coming up from Mobile of the Southern League last month. He struck out six and blanked the Twins until the sixth, when Tony Oliva tripled and Russ Nixon singled him home.

Ed Charles drove in two Kansas City runs with a triple and single as the A's handed 15-game winner Jim Kaat his ninth defeat.

Scott's 21st homer broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh, enabling Jose Santiago to gain his 11th victory in a duel with loser Gary Bell. Scott connected after the game was delayed 21 minutes by heavy fog.

5 Young Finns Claim World Swimming Mark

HELSINKI (AP) — Five young Finnish skindivers crawled ashore at Mariehamn on the Isle of Aland in the Bothnian Gulf Monday, claiming a long distance swim world record after covering a distance of about 100 miles in 17 days.

The swim started last July 23 when the quintet, dressed in frogmen's rubber suits equipped with cyclops eyes and snorkels, dived into the dirty water of the Aura River at their hometown of Turku on the Finnish West Coast.

It ended Monday when the five swimmers wearily went to a steamed-up Sauna after a hearty welcome by a large crowd complete with official greeters and brass band. The five were in good condition but each was about 10 pounds lighter than when they started.

The swimmers were not in the water all the time during the past weeks. They spent nights on small skerries dotting the Finnish Archipelago, they swam about eight hours a day accompanied by a dinghy. Once they were feared lost during a storm. They harpooned some pike along the way.

During the final six miles the swimmers had to be escorted by a Coast Guard vessel fending off a host of small craft threatening the swimmers with their propellers.

The five, headed by 24-year old Goldsmith Kalevi Krulin, are in their twenties except for Hannu Koskinen, a student, who is only 17. They started their venture to publicize the skindiving club they founded in Turku.

"We arrived exactly according to the schedule we had made before we started," Kurlin said.

Lions Obtain McGuire For Future Draft Pick; Kramer Breaks Bone

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Rookie tight end John McGuire was acquired by the Detroit Lions from the Baltimore Colts Monday in exchange for a future draft choice.

McGuire, 23, was the Colts' No. 5 draft choice a year ago. He had been drafted while a junior at Syracuse.

Ron Kramer, one of the Lions regular tight ends, will be out of action for two more games because of a broken bone in the back of his hand. Jim Gibbons, another tight end, has been bothered by a knee injury.

Dark Guards Against Unnecessary Injury

Athletics Boast Great Future on Wings of Youthful Pitching Staff

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "This Kansas City club has a great future with the arms on this young pitching staff," says Manager Alvin Dark. "I promise you their arms won't be ruined from overwork.

"We're protecting them by holding them to about 100 to 110 pitches a game. I don't want any of them to look back three or four years from now and wonder what might have happened if their arms hadn't been ruined."

Dark believes it's better to lose a game occasionally by strictly observing the 100-pitch rule than to leave a youngster in and win.

"I've talked to doctors," Dark said. "With a young man of 19, 20 or 21, the muscles aren't as fully developed as the bones. They are not fully developed until they are 25 or 26."

Most Impressive

Unbeaten Jim Nash, 21, the most impressive member of Dark's young staff, got his sixth straight victory Monday night by taming the slugging Minnesota Twins, 6-1, moving the A's into a seventh place tie.

Nash threw 114 pitches on a cool evening, his highest figure of the season. He threw only 84 eight days ago in a one-hit job against Detroit, left with one out in the ninth and the A's blew the game.

He threw 105 in seven innings at Boston and left with a 14-2 lead.

"You can use a young pitcher 19 to 21 every fourth day, keep him around 100 pitches and never hurt him," Dark said. "But you can rest him two weeks, let him throw 175 to 200 pitches and he might ruin his arm.

"He won't know he's hurting himself. He'll feel strong as a bull."

Physically Imposing

The A's young pitchers are imposing physically. Nash is 6-foot-5, 225 pounds. Gil Blanco, 20-year-old left-hander, is 6-foot-5, 220. Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 20, is 6-foot, 190. Chuck Dobson, 20, is 6-foot, 200.

Johnny (Blue Moon) Odum, 21, is the smallest at 6-foot and 175.

The A's other two starters also are young and strong. Lew Krausse, 23, is 6-foot-1, 187. Paul Lindblad, the other lefty, is 25, 6-foot-2, 185. Krausse and Lindblad started the season as relief men.

Average Age Is 21.4

This means Kansas City's seven starting pitchers average 21.4 years of age. Their combined record, as starters, is 30-24 with a earned run average. Two of them are out — Hunter because of an appendectomy, Dobson with back trouble.

Dark's relief corps includes Jack Aker, 26, with a 6-3 record, 19 saves — tops in the American League — and a sparkling 1.74 ERA.

"These young guys know how to pitch," Dark said. "We can teach them the rest of it up here. I want to be around with this club 10 years from now with (A's owner) Charley Finley and see the results."

Steiger Hits at Administration Contradictions

Policies, Goals Often Contradictory, GOP Aspirant Says

CHILTON — "The Johnson-Humphrey administration continues to maintain an information gap between its policies and goals and the American people," Assemblyman William A. Steiger said here Monday.

A six-year veteran of the Wisconsin Legislature, Steiger told Republican Party volunteers that "the administration's approach to public information has not been candid and has often been contradictory."

Steiger, of Oshkosh, is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth District. He said a case in point was reported in a news analysis by Martin Agronsky.

"Mr. Agronsky noted that Under Secretary of State George Ball on July 16 said information from Hanoi indicates 'a greater war weariness among the people' of North Viet Nam.

Who to Believe

"Five days later, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said 'we see no sign in North Viet Nam that they lack the will to continue the aggression in the South.'"

Steiger asked, "Now just who are we to believe?

"As a leading Los Angeles Times correspondent pointed out, 'The trouble is that the administration has consistently made ringing pronouncements on Viet Nam that sooner or later proved false.'"

Another case in point, Steiger said, was the White House report carried by the "Washington Post," Dec. 3, which said that President Johnson had ordered elimination of 25,000 federal jobs by June of this year.

"But the Tax Foundation, Inc., has reported that at the end of April there was an estimated 2,644.44 civilian employes in the federal government. There was an increase of 33,464 in that month alone," Steiger said.

Steiger told the GOP volunteers "there is a greater need than ever before to give the American public the full story before the crisis in confidence becomes even more disturbing."

Market Steady, Trade Average

Changes in Key Issues Vary From Fraction to Point

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were steady in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Changes of key issues ran from fractions to a point or so.

Brokers found some encouragement in good employment figures, rising steel production and the acceptance by administration officials of the steel price increase.

Airlines, which had been weak in early trading, found some strength on the news that the striking machinists and the five struck airlines would resume negotiations this afternoon. Eastern Airlines advanced 2 points.

Steels, motors, aircrafts and electronics advanced.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .3 at 306.7 with industrials up .2, rails up .1 and utilities up .7.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was unchanged at 849.05.

Jones & Laughlin gained about half a point and U.S. Steel was up by a lesser fraction.

Homestake Mines, which had been strong recently, lost more than a point.

IBM and Xerox fell about 2 points.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Governor Calls For Publicity in Road Death Fight

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles met with an emergency task force of state officials Monday in renewed efforts to slow Wisconsin's mounting traffic death toll.

The governor called for more publicity efforts to make motorists alert to the perils of poor driving. He expressed the hope that "more and more as the public becomes aware that death can come to them, they'll drive more carefully and more defensively."

The meeting came within hours after 19 persons had died over the weekend and early Monday despite an emergency bolstering of highway patrols.

Knowles had called out National Guardsmen and other agencies to aid in the patrols after a record 24 persons were killed the previous weekend. Fourteen persons died over the latest weekend and four more youths died in a one-car crash on an expressway west of Milwaukee before dawn Monday. A woman was also killed in an accident Monday.

Steiger Hits at Administration Contradictions

Policies, Goals Often Contradictory, GOP Aspirant Says

CHILTON — "The Johnson-Humphrey administration continues to maintain an information gap between its policies and goals and the American people." Assemblyman William A. Steiger said here Monday.

A six-year veteran of the Wisconsin Legislature, Steiger told Republican Party volunteers that "the administration's approach to public information has not been candid and has often been contradictory."

Steiger, of Oshkosh, is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth District. He said a case in point was reported in a news analysis by Martin Agronsky.

"Mr. Agronsky noted that Under Secretary of State George Ball on July 16 said information from Hanoi indicates 'a greater war weariness among the people' of North Viet Nam.

Who to Believe

"Five days later, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said 'we see no sign in North Viet Nam that they lack the will to continue the aggression in the South.'"

Steiger asked, "Now just who are we to believe?

"As a leading Los Angeles Times correspondent pointed out, 'The trouble is that the administration has consistently made ringing pronouncements on Viet Nam that sooner or later proved false.'"

Another case in point, Steiger said, was the White House report carried by the "Washington Post," Dec. 3, which said that President Johnson had ordered elimination of 25,000 federal jobs by June of this year.

"But the Tax Foundation, Inc., has reported that at the end of April there was an estimated 2,644,44 civilian employes in the federal government. There was an increase of 33,464 in that month alone," Steiger said.

Steiger told the GOP volunteers "there is a greater need than ever before to give the American public the full story before the crisis in confidence becomes even more disturbing."

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were steady in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Changes of key issues ran from fractions to a point or so.

Brokers found some encouragement in good employment figures, rising steel production and the acceptance by administration officials of the steel price increase.

Steels, motors, aircrafts and electronics advanced.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .3 at 306.7 with industrials up .2, rails up .1 and utilities up .7.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was unchanged at 849.05.

Jones & Laughlin gained about half a point and U.S. Steel was up by a lesser fraction.

Homestake Mines, which had been strong recently, lost more than a point.

Gains of around a point by Eastman Kodak and Du Pont helped keep the averages from sagging.

IBM and Xerox fell about 2 points.

Polaroid advanced more than a point.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Governor Calls For Publicity in Road Death Fight

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles met with an emergency task force of state officials Monday in renewed efforts to slow Wisconsin's mounting traffic death toll.

The governor called for more publicity efforts to make motorists alert to the perils of poor driving. He expressed the hope that "more and more as the public becomes aware that death can come to them, they'll drive more carefully and more defensively."

The meeting came within hours after 19 persons had died over the weekend and early Monday despite an emergency bolstering of highway patrols.

Knowles had called out National Guardsmen and other agencies to aid in the patrols after a record 24 persons were killed the previous weekend. Fourteen persons died over the latest weekend and four more youths died in a one-car crash on an expressway west of Milwaukee before dawn Monday. A woman was also killed in an accident Monday.

North Vietnamese Down 3 More American Airplanes

10 Planes Lost in Two Days in Bomb Raids Over Communist-Held Sector

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam's antiaircraft defenses knocked down three more U.S. planes Monday as American jets pounded the Communist north with a record 139 combat missions. Ten American planes have been lost over North Viet Nam since Sunday.

More than 300 planes probably took part in the assault, since a mission may involve three or four planes. But a U.S. spokesman said there had been other days on which more planes had been sent against the north although on fewer missions.

The three planes lost Monday were all Air Force Thunderchief fighter-bombers, the U.S. command said. Two were shot down 60 miles northwest of Hanoi. The third was hit 55 miles northwest of Dong Hoi. Only one pilot was rescued, and two are missing.

Five of the seven planes lost Sunday were Thunderchiefs. Six pilots are missing from those raids.

As the North Vietnamese brought the number of U.S. planes lost above the 17th Parallel to 329, the ground war picked up in South Viet Nam. U.S. Marines battled a North Vietnamese company through the night near the demilitarized zone and other American troops tracked a battered Communist battalion in the central highlands after it mauled a U.S. 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Company.

Reports from the highland battleground said the cavalrymen counted at least 85 enemy dead and estimated at least 100

4 Persons Shot in Racial Violence in Lansing, Mich.

Gangs Throw Bricks, Bottles, Fire Bombs at Passing Cars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four persons were reported shot, non seriously, as Lansing, Mich., Monday had its second straight night of violence. Gangs of Negro youths threw fire bombs, bricks and bottles at passing cars.

Several other persons were injured before 250 city, county and state police — armed with shotguns and ax handles and using tear gas grenades to disperse crowds — brought the situation under control.

The officers sealed off a section of the city's predominantly Negro West Side when a crowd of about 200 gathered at an intersection and began throwing missiles at passing cars.

20 Youths Arrested

Police said at least 20 Negro and white youths have been arrested since the trouble began Sunday night.

In Mississippi, civil rights leaders have charged that state highway patrolmen used tear gas to break up a Negro voter registration rally at Grenada.

Highway patrol and city police were unavailable for comment.

A Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker, Robert Johnson, claimed that one state trooper fired two gunshots — "one at me."

Hosea Williams, an aide to the conference president, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was addressing about 600 Negroes attending the street rally, Johnson said, when a highway patrolman ordered the crowd to disperse. "When they didn't move, the officer opened fire with tear gas," Johnson said.

The alleged incident was announced to the conference's annual convention, being held i Jackson, Miss., just after U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had finished speaking.

The senator proposed a massive program to upgrade the lives of Negroes in this country. He said the United States is spending $2 billion a month to defend the 14 million people of South Viet Nam, and asked:

"Why shouldn't we make the same kind of effort for the 20 million people of the Negro race right here in America whose freedom and future is also at stake?"

Kennedy also urged Negroes not to draw away from their white supporters. "The greatest gains in civil rights have come when black and white have worked together," he said.

King also called for a massive effort to help Negroes reach a higher living standard. And he said the civil rights bill pending in Congress is virtually useless.

Without the open housing provision, he said, the measure would only "continue the pattern of leaving Negroes in overcrowded ghettos with no possibility of ever gettnig out."

In Chicago, a conference spokesman told a civil rights rally Monday night that the next major target of their open housing drive would be Cicero, an all-white suburb on Chicago's western border which had one of Illinois' worst race riots 15 years ago.

No date, other than sometime this week, was set for the demonstration at Cicero.

No Injuries Reported

Blast Rips NAACP Milwaukee Office

MILWAUKEE (AP) — An explosion blew windows out of a building housing the Milwaukee offices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People early today and caused minor fire. There were no injuries.

The blast, the cause of which has been undetermined, occurred about 2:15 a.m. At about 3 a.m. a local radio station (WOKY) received a call from a man who said he had planted a bomb in the building.

Firemen said that when they arrived at the scene they found several small fires in and around the building which were quickly put out with hand extinguishers.

Back Hallway

The first floor of the two-story office and apartment building also housed a realty firm office. The structure has two apartments upstairs, one of which is vacant and the other occupied by two elderly women. They were not injured.

Firemen said the explosion occurred in the back hallway of the building.

Detective Inspector Leo Woelfel said after visiting the scene that officers could not determine immediately what caused the blast other than "some kind of explosive."

He said there wasn't "too much fire damage" but that the windows in the NAACP offices had been blown out, the door to the office was damaged, and some windows in buildings nearby had been shattered.

Woelfel said, however, that there appeared to be no damage at the realty firm or in the apartments on the second floor.

The explosive, he said, went off near a milk chute just below a window in the back hallway.

Search Party Finds Body of Slain Texas Girl

Two Youths Held In Three Killings Near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A search party has found the body of a teen-age girl who police say was raped and choked to death after her two male companions had been shot and killed.

The discovery Monday night ended a search touched off early Sunday when a curious fisherman opened the trunk of an abandoned auto and found the bullet-riddled bodies of two teen-age boys.

Green

Investigators charged Roy Green, 18, and Kenneth McDuff, 20, both from the Marlin area 100 miles south of here, with murder, then lodged rape complaints on the basis of a statement by Green.

The two youths were accused of slaying Robert Brand, 17, of

Negotiators in Airline Strike To Try Again

Labor, Management Yield to Appeal of House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for striking mechanics and five trunk airlines agreed today to make another effort at solving the dispute that has grounded about 60 per cent of the nation's airline capacity.

The parties, who met into Monday night without narrowing the gap between their positions, yielded to urgent personal requests from the House Commerce Committee, which is considering a back-to-work bill already passed by the Senate.

Rep. Samuel N. Friedel, D-Md., presiding over today's hearing, asked first the president of the International Association of Machinists, P.L. Siemiller, and then the chief negotiator for the airlines, William J. Curtin, whether they were willing to meet this afternoon. Both said they were.

Afternoon Meeting

The meeting was set for 2:30 p.m. at the Labor Department.

Nothing happened at today's committee hearing that gave any indication the negotiators would do any better at reaching common ground than they did Monday.

The assessment when they broke up Monday night was "ceiling zero, visibility, zero," on prospects for a negotiated settlement in the month-old walkout.

The committee has before it a Senate-passed resolution that would order the 35,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists back to their jobs on five

Milwaukee Area Lumbermen Vote To Go on Strike

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Teamster and lumber yard employes voted Monday to strike today against 22 Milwaukee-area lumber yards in Milwaukee, Washington, Ozaukee and Waukesha counties.

Lumbermen's Local 1582 and Teamster Local 200 voted rejections of a wage increase of 20 cents an hour offered by the Greater Milwaukee Lumbermen's Association which represents the 22 affected yards.

Union spokesmen said talks would continue in pursuit of a contract replacing one that expired June 1. They said the walkouut involves about 225 lumber yard workers and 60 truck drivers.

Study Landing Sites

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Lunar Orbiter, a flying photography lab was poised for launching today toward an orbit about the moon to snap pictures of the hidden backside. Surveyor 1 and nine potential astronaut landing sites.

An Atlas-Agena rocket was to blast off between 2:03 p.m. and 4:42 p.m. EDT to start the 850-pound spacecraft on its intended 238,944-mile journey.

With its four solar panels folded down to give it the appearance of a giant four-leaf clover, Lunar Orbiter was to dart through the weightless world of space for 90 hours, reaching the vicinity of the moon Saturday morning.

Previous Attempts

If successful, it would be the first payload sent into orbit around the moon by the United States. Seven previous attempts failed, six in the early days of rocketry between 1958 and 1960. The Soviet Union succeeded with Luna 10 last April but it carried no cameras.

Lunar Orbiter is a much more sophisticated vehicle than any of the others and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it had a much greater chance of success than the earlier U.S. tries.

About 550 miles from the moon, after two tricky midcourse maneuvers, a ground signal was to trigger a spacecraft motor, slowing the speed so the probe would be caught in the moon's gravitational field.

For several days, the ground planned to track the craft as it whirled in an orbit ranging from 110 to 1,100 miles above the moon. Then the motor was to be fired again to drop the low point to 26 miles above the sunrface.

While in the high orbit, Lunar Orbiter's two cameras were to take a few general interest pictures, including glimpses of the side of the moon that never faces the earth. The only previous shots of the backside were made by the Soviet Union's Luna 3 and Zond 3—from 37,000 miles and 6,000 miles as they raced past the moon.

Photos of the nine potential astronaut landing areas were to wait until the spacecraft dipped to the lower course, starting about Aug. 22.

The nine areas are located in a narrow band stretching across the moon's equator and include major types of terrain — flat plains, craters and highlands.

One of the areas is in the Ocean of Storms near the crater Flamsteed where Surveyor 1 landed in June and transmitted 11,237 closeup pictures. Officials hoped Lunar Orbiter would ob-

Nigeria's New Military Boss Orders Reform

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigeria's new military boss, Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, has ordered an end to the central government and promised elections. But he set no "firm timetable" for returning the nation to civilian rule.

In a broadcast Monday, Gowon presented a three-stage plan to:

Repeal at once the decree of the previous military government creating a unitary state. The nation will return to the federation form that Nigeria had before the military coup in January ousted the civilian government.

Convene an advisory committee, including nominees of the military governors of the four regions, to recommend "a form of constitution best suited to Nigeria."

Hold a referendum on the constitution.

Senators Vote 'Yes' On Jobless Measure

Final Challenge Remains

House Expected to Pass New Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House passage of a broad new civil rights bill is expected today but a final challenge still remains to its key open housing provision.

Voting should begin late in the day after the House completes its section-by-section consideration of the measure.

It wrapped up the next-to-last section Monday night, writing a federal antiriot law into it, and leaving only two relatively noncontroversial provisions to be disposed of today.

All actions taken by the House during the 12 days it has been working on the bill are subject to separate roll call votes just before final passage.

Final Attempt

Opponents are believed ready to press a final attempt to defeat the housing provision by asking for a roll call on an amendment exempting individual homeowners from the proposed ban against racial discrimination in housing.

The amendment, which House leaders consider vital to final approval of the measure, was adopted by a one-vote margin, 180 to 179. If it should be defeated on a roll call, a final motion to knock out the whole section of chance of carrying.

The House wrote a major change into the bill Monday when it adopted an amendment by Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., aimed at prevening outside agitators from inciting racial riots.

Little Dissent

The amendment, shouted through with little dissent, would make it a federal crime, punishable by up to five years in jail or a $10,000 fine, for anyone to cross a state line with the intent of encouraging, inciting or taking part in a riot.

Cramer and many other speakers said the rash of racial violence in some northern cities in recent weeks calls for a federal law to protect citizens against such violence.

Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., one of the few who spoke against it, said it would mark a severe encroachment by the federal police power on state and local jurisdictions. He said there is no evidence local authorities have failed to enforce their own laws against rioting, looting and burning.

Crimes of Violence

Senate Okays Jobless Pay Regulations

Federal Standards Will Go Before Conference Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to write compulsory federal standards into the 31-year-old unemployment insurance law, sending the measure to a Senate-House Conference Committee where fate of the controversial standards is uncertain.

The 53-31 Senate vote Monday on the bill which would impose such requirements on the states for the first time was an important victory for President Johnson who had asked Congress to fix such standards. The Senate bill fell somewhat short of his proposals, however.

Labor Consolation

It also was some consolation to the AFL-CIO which has had rather lean legislative pickings in the current Congress. AFL-CIO President George Meany had declared the unemployment compensation measure would be worthless without federal standards.

These are the standards the states would have to meet under the Senate measure:

1. Some benefits would have to be paid to a worker after 20 weeks of employment in a year. Only two now fail to meet this.

2. An employe qualifying for benefits would have to get 50 per cent of his own pay up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the statewide average wage. Thirty-two states now fall below this standard.

3. A worker employed for nine months in a year would be assured 26 weeks of jobless benefits if he needed them. Ten states do not meet this now.

Broader Coverage

In addition to fixing standards, the Senate bill would broaden coverage of the law to bring in 2.3 million more workers in addition to 49.7 million now eligible for benefits, set up a permanent program of 13 weeks' extra benefits in times of recession, and raise unemployment compensation taxes to pay for the broadened program.

The House, in passing the bill June 22, did not include any standards provisions.

Nurses Carry On Tradition of Burma Surgeon

Namkhan Hospital Continues Work of Gordon Seagrave

By PETER BOOG

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Namkhan Hospital, in the wilderness of northeast Burma, is carrying on the tradition of humanitarian service set by its legendary founder, "Burma Surgeon" Gordon Seagrave.

All missionary hospitals, including Namkhan, were nationalized last year by Burma's military government. At Namkhan service is still free and, while Seagrave's American assistants have been replaced by Burmese, his famed nurses are still there.

The hospital previously operated with a $10,000 yearly government grant and about $20,000 in private contributions from the United States, mostly in the form of medicines.

Now the Burmese government provides approximately $60,000 annually to help the hospital service a wider area than it did during Seagrave's time.

Seagrave Trained

Some 200 nurses serve in the hospital, all Seagrave trained.

Funds were never sufficient and medicine was scarce.

Now a substantial budget allocation has been provided to insure adequate medical and operating facilities.

Seagrave built the hospital when he moved into Namkhan village, in the fertile Shwei River Valley bordering China, in 1922.

He started with a variety of medical equipment scrounged from Johns Hopkins Hospital.

From its small thatched hut beginnings, the hospital grew to the modern plant that it was when Seagrave died in March 1965.

Today the hospital continues to serve some 10,000 Shan and Kachin tribesmen.

Seagrave's nurses — he trained more than 1,000 in his lifetime — are the backbone of the hospital. He once said his major contribution in Namkhan was the nursing corps.

The nurses won their spurs in battle during World War II.

Under the command of Gen. Joseph Stilwell, they served in field hospitals despite heavy bombing and enemy harassment, and cared for thousands of troops. Two nurses who were awarded medals are still on the staff.

Many of the nurses are full-time instructors in a special training center set up by Seagrave. Others provide the only medical assistance available in remote villages.

Machinists' Rebuff Blow To President

Withdrawal From Strike Settlement Indicates Dilemma

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Accustomed to ordering Congress around, President Johnson has now given a most un-Johnsonian demonstration of withdrawal symptoms from the exercise of Presidential power in the airline strike.

Evans

Novak

As of this writing, he has flatly refused to say where he stands on the vital issue in the strike: whether there should or should not be legislation to end it by Presidential fiat.

In short, Mr. Johnson has buckled to terrific pressure from organized labor, led by AFL-CIO president George Meany. He tossed the hot potato of anti-strike legislation into the lap of Congress without a recommendation of any kind. Having intervened in the strike and having engineered a settlement that fractured the wage-price guidelines, Mr. Johnson then simply walked off the field when the machinists' union, in a direct insult to him, rejected the settlement.

Called Ugly Names

Thus, in Congress this week the President was being called some pretty ugly names, both by the liberals, who themselves don't want to take the initiative in ordering the strikers back to work, and by the conservatives, who privately charge him with ducking a clear Presidential responsibility.

So strong is the feeling among the conservatives that two of the President's close friends in the Senate, neither known as pro-labor, told us Mr. Johnson should have summoned Congress to an emergency session on last Sunday, the day the union rejected the settlement, and asked quick passage of a law ending the strike.

"When the union showed its muscle to the President," said one senator, "that's when the President should have showed his muscle right back."

But Mr. Johnson refused to take the risk of antagonizing labor. He had failed organized labor on two counts in the 89th Congress. He was unable to get Congress to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act, which now permits states to pass right-to-work laws banning all forms of compulsory unionism, and he had failed to get Congress to liberalize another section of Taft-Hartley which bans certain types of picketing.

Big Grievance

Thus, the unions already have a large grievance against the President they helped elect in 1964. Furthermore, the political arm of organized labor has an entirely separate grievance, dealing with the President's handling of the Democratic National Committee. The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) was angry when the National Committee's beefed-up Registration Section was virtually dismantled in an economy move. And in Texas, the AFL-CIO has refused to endorse the Democratic senatorial nominee, Waggoner Carr, despite backstage Presidential pressure.

In short, Mr. Johnson has precious little money in labor's bank today. He is obviously unwilling now to take the lead in legislating an end to the airline machinists' strike, just as he has been unable to recommend a new law for handling crippling local strikes, such as last winter's transit strike in New York City. The administration has been unable to agree on the form the new law should take.

Future Looks Bad

Coming on the heels of his dramatic, 11th hour entry into the airline dispute at 2 a.m. July 29, Mr. Johnson's sudden withdrawal from the battle bodes ill for the far more serious labor problems that await him next year when major contracts in rubber, the auto industry, oil, communications, and meatpacking are up for negotiation.

The White House handling of the airline strike is not reassuring for these harder battles. For example, no one in the administration anticipated rejection of the President's suggested settlement. Mr. Johnson counted on the union president, P. L. Siemiller, to sell the new contract to his union, while Siemiller counted on President Johnson's prestige to put it over. Both were wrong.

But more important than this failure of intelligence, and the specifics of the airline strike, is the President's wholly uncharacteristic withdrawal from the fracas at the climactic moment. It has hurt him badly on Capitol Hill — and will make it all the more difficult when he confronts the next challenge from a labor union.

The Law and You

Manendangering Act Can Lead to Murder Conviction

Mike Madd picked up his pistol, aimed it at his wife and fired. But Mike is a poor shot. The bullet accidentally killed a neighbor next door. Mike is charged with attempted murder of his wife, and with his neighbor's murder.

Though Mike did not mean to kill his neighbor, the law says that it is still murder. The law transfers his intent to kill his wife to intent to kill his neighbor. Mike can be convicted of both charges.

This same rule applies to other highly dangerous acts. Suppose a person shoots into a crowd or at a moving train or car, or commits any "manendangering act" with malice. He can be convicted of murder. Such an act alone is enough to become murder.

From this a "felony-murder" rule has grown up in the law. The person who commits a felony in the course of which he accidentally kills someone can be charged with murder.

Dangerous Felony

The person who commits a highly dangerous felony, such as robbery, arson, or mayhem runs the risk of a third degree murder charge. If such a crime results in a death, the court can find the felon guilty of third degree murder, the penalty for which is not more than 15 years in prison plus the sentence for the felony.

For years the law did not examine how the death came about just so long as it was a part of some felony, say robbery or kidnapping.

Under a recent Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling it was held that the Wisconsin Statutes now contain what was the felony-murder rule at common law. The proper test as to whether the rule will be applied is whether or not the murder was a natural or probable consequence of the commission of the felony, and whether or not the murder occurred by reason of or as part of such felony. In other words, there must be a connection between the felony and the murder under Wisconsin law.

Club Plans Donkey Game In Greenville

GREENVILLE — The Greenville Athletic and Civic Club will sponsor a donkey baseball game Aug. 16 at the Community Park.

Plans for the game were made at the club's August meeting. Fredrick Kaphingst was appointed chairman. Those in charge of recruiting teams are Louis Rudloff, Kenneth McClellan and Chuck Schroeder.

The club will hold an appreciation night for the homecoming workers and members Tuesday, Aug. 23, at the park shelter.

A favorable report of the homecoming proceeds was given at the meeting. The Helpful Hands 4-H Club, which built 50 saw horses; Alois Griesbach, who worked on the farm and home space advertising, and the town board, which authorized blacktopping the park driveway, were lauded by the club.

In other club business, members decided to support Assemblyman Ervin Conradt's proposal to repave State 76.

'Carry All' Amphibious Vessel Is Launched

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — A 570-foot Navy "carry all" amphibious assault ship has been launched here. The $26-million vessel will carry six helicopters, 850 combat troops and 118 officers in the assault force, plus a crew. She was christened the Dubuque.

Anti-Pollution Projects Get First Shot at Aids

on the division of the state into districts for the administration of the new water protection law recently enacted by the Legislature.

Such a mapping of the state and creation of district advisory committees must be completed by Jan. 1, the new law provides.

The decision of the board to channel federal aid in a different fashion may affect the plans and hopes of some localities severely.

Assure Aid

But it evidently will assure such assistance, as well as early state credit assistance if requested, for communities now under state clean-up orders including Algoma, Cecil, Kaukauna, New London, Potter, Wabeno and Winneconne, among others, which already have aid applications on file.

Heart of the new anti-pollution program is a plan for state underwriting of the interest costs of up to $300 million worth of municipal pollution control projects, and local government use of state building corporations for the issuance of bonds.

Board members expressed confidence the court will uphold the constitutionality of such a program, but Chariman John Potter of the group explained that bond counsel in New York and other bond markets will withhold approval of such issues unless there is literal and absolute proof of their legality in the form of a state Supreme Court judgment.

Remove Doubt

The Legislature has begun the process of amending the state constitution to remove all doubt about the legitimacy of such borrowing, but consent of the 1967 legislative session and an approving popular referendum following also are required to make that change effective. There is no assurance of popular approval of such an amendment, although Potter said he is confident of the approval of the next Legislature.

The designation of communities already under pressure on pollution matters for first priority in the distribution of state and federal aids will be the first step in a schedule of such disbursements. The board said it will announce other criteria for assistance later, but discussions indicated they almost surely will include a measure of the financial ability of local governments.

Board members debated briefly the desirability of using the state and federal aid program to persuade localities to improve their land use programs in connection with water protection efforts. Douglas Weiford of Eau Claire, a city manager, asserted the development of better sewage treatment and disposal works will encourage urbanization in some localities and warned that effective land use zoning is required in such situations.

Opposes Special Units

Weiford said there already are too many small and ineffectual government units and he would oppose establishment of new special units, such as sanitary districts, under the impetus of the new state subsidy program.

But Russell G. Lynch of Milwaukee protested that the most urgent challenge before the state is that of protection of waters and that if the creation of sanitary districts in rural communities is regarded as necessary in meeting the problem, the state should not stand in the way. Weiford insisted, however, that water quality and land use are inter-related and he will insist on a review of the subject at a later board meeting.

Board members held a closed session for the discussion of the selection of an acting director, and Potter reported later that the decision had been deferred until the board's next meeting Aug. 31. Several state officials are available for temporary service as chief of the new agency, he said, but there is a chance candidates for permanent appointment will be available for examination soon. In the interim, Wayne McGown of the State Department of Administration will be in charge of housekeeping chores for the department, Potter said.

Enzyme Found To Make Frozen Milk Possible

BOSTON (AP) — The housewife may get a chance within a year to put a glass of frozen milk on the table.

She'll merely have to follow the same trick other frozen concentrates require — add water, shake and serve, a science convention was told Monday.

Dr. William D. Powrie, a University of Wisconsin food scientist, told the Society for Cryobiology that frozen concentrated milk would come in cartons one-third the size of standard milk cartons.

He said development of frozen milk had been delayed by crystalization caused by lactose. The crystalization, he said, made the milk look curdled and taste chalky.

It now has been discovered, Powrie said, that the addition of an enzyme called lactase prevents crystalization.

'No Choice' Except Appeal on Hutnik

LaFollette Challenges Murphy Ruling of Innocent of Bribery

NEENAH — The state has no choice but to appeal the ruling of Judge Murphy who dismissed bribery charges against Assemblyman Willis Hutnik last week, Attorney General Bronson La Follette told a group of Neenah-Menasha women Monday morning.

It is unfair that one man should be sentenced under the law and another excused for similar charges under similar circumstances, he continued. "If this is to be condoned, something is seriously wrong."

La Follette's talk was sponsored by Mrs. Erwin Winter, 515 Cecil St., Neenah. Attending the coffee hour were members and guests of any interested women's clubs, members of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council and the Neenah-Menasha Realtors Board.

La Follette also discussed his appointment to the President's Consumer Advisory Council and expressed concern for national and state legislation in the area of consumer representation. He explained the organization of the new Wisconsin Consumers' League and said this voluntary group will be functioning soon. Any legislation affected by the League will give the consumer equal voice with private and special interest groups," he said.

Members of the Fox Valley Human Rights council queried the attorney general on the passage of the federal civil rights bill and the possibility of further open housing legislation on the state level.

La Follette tagged the bill "a bone thrown to satiate the appetite of those interested in civil rights" and said he would never have voted for such a bill because it doesn't go far enough.

Questioned on the strength of the anti-secrecy law, La Follette admitted "there are no teeth in it."

"We are making every effort to amend it to make it workable," he continued without elaborating.

Appleton Plans Crackdown on Obscene Calls

City Ordinance Broadens Powers Of Police Force

A three-pronged crackdown on persons who make nuisance or obscene telephone calls is in the making in Appleton, where the number of complaints seem chronically high.

City Atty. David Geenen, acting on instructions of the city council, has incorporated a portion of the state law into an ordinance which will broaden police powers.

The city, district attorney's office and Wisconsin Telephone Co. are cooperating in locating, identifying and prosecuting persons who make unlawful calls.

Wisconsin law provides that whoever with intent to annoy another, makes a telephone call, "whether or not conversation ensues" may be fined $100 or jailed for 30 days.

Anonymour Calls

There have been incidents reported to authorities in which anonymous callers merely breathed into the phone or broke out in a laugh. These acts are against the law — not only state but now, also local.

It means that in addition to the district attorney's office prosecuting complaints for the state, the city attorney's office may do so on the basis of a complaint from a citizen, the telephone company or police.

Local police have served notice they, with the cooperation of the telephone company, intend to track down the nuisance calls and obtain city warrants against violators.

State and city prosecutors may join forces in prosecutions.

Same Penalty

The penalty for violating the city ordinance will be the same as for the statute.

Geenen said Monday afternoon he would not hesitate to prosecute anyone suspected of making obscene or any other type of calls that fall within the meaning of the laws.

"My office intends to work closely with the police department and telephone company officials in this matter," Geenen said.

Under the city ordinance, such calls fall in the category of disorderly conduct.

Problem Discussed at Conference

School for Unmarried Teen-age Mothers Suggested for Appleton

The plight of the unmarried teen-age mother is causing mounting concern in Appleton and other parts of the country.

Considerable attention was focused on the problem at a recent National Conference on Social Welfare in Chicago.

"Continuation schools" were suggested as one of the main instruments in helping the young mothers-to be, according to Appleton Welfare Director Merten Ehricke.

Ehricke made a report on the conference to the city council's welfare-ordinance committee and indicated that teen-age illegitimate births continue to mount in Appleton, following a trend in the Fox Valley and country in general.

Great Impact

Not only is the plight of the unmarried mother or mother-to-be adding to welfare costs in most communities, but very often a sociological problem with far-reaching impact is involved.

Alluding to the conference, Mrs. Edith Zobar, Des Moines, Iowa, research director for the Iowa Children's Home Society, gave a hard-hitting report on the problems of unwed pregnant teen-agers who are forced to leave school and become dropouts, Ehricke said.

In Des Moines, a "continuation school" is operated, providing the young mother-to-be with many services besides completion of a formal education.

There, the girls learn housekeeping, child rearing, hygiene and many other helpful things. They also are given psychological testing, evaluation and medical treatment.

'Excellent Program'

Referring to the "continuation school", Ehricke said, "This would be an excellent program in our area if the community would recognize the problem."

Ehricke said that in 1965, and so far in 1966, the local welfare department is getting more and more illegitmacy cases referred to its office.

"There is little to offer these girls outside of financial help for their current needs and I strongly feel much has yet to be done in this area in our community," Ehricke added.

"Once again, community action and attitudes must be secured before anything can be accomplished," Ehricke continued.

Should be Aware

Ehricke recalled Mrs. Zobar emphasized that communities should be aware of the type of project (continuation schools) with attention given to rural as well as urban areas.

He quoted her as saying "School age marriages seldom endure."

As of July 1, Appleton Health Department records indicated 32 illegitimate births had been reported here as required by law.

Authorities say others go unreported.

Over the past six-year period, 215 illegitimate births have been reported in Appleton.

The high for a one-year period was registered in 1965 when 50 were recorded.

Unions Okay Contracts At 2 Paper Companies

Fox River, Appleton Coated Locals Ratify Pacts Calling for Wage Hikes, Benefits

Unions at the Fox River Paper Corp. and Appleton Coated Paper Co. ratified new two-year contracts at separate meetings Sunday afternoon, and in one instance averted a strike threatened for Monday.

The members of Local 16 of the International Papermakers and Paperworkers Union, AFL-CIO, previously had served the strike notice on Fox River Paper.

District 50, Local 15014 of the United Mine Workers Union, representing production employes at Appleton Coated, had not served strike notice as previously reported, and wrapped up negotiations with management Saturday.

In both instances, new contracts call for wage increases, added fringe benefits and other adjustments.

Ratified by Union

The bargaining committee for Local 16 at Fox River did not present a recommendation on the proposed pact to the membership but the union ratified it by a 72-69 vote. The meeting was held at the Appleton Labor Hall, 527 N. Appleton St.

Fox River Paper and union spokesmen confirmed the terms of the new contract in a joint statement.

Retroactive to June 1, employes will receive a general increase of 5 per cent per hour, and a special adjustment of two cents per hour; an increase in shift differential; a fifth week of vacation after 25 years' service; several group insurance improvements, and rate adjustment on certain jobs.

The second year, effective June 1, 1967, there will be a general increase of 6 per cent per hour; a three-cent per hour general wage adjustment across the board and a fourth week of vacation after 15 years' service and two weeks after four years' service.

4-Week Vacation

Under the old agreement, a four-week vacation was granted an employe upon reaching 20 years' service.

In addition, there is a new grievance procedure in the contract and a protective conversion rate in the event there is a cutback in production.

The company received the option of operating any departments on alternate Sundays if necessary, excluding legal holidays, Easter, Mother's Day, Palm Sunday and the Sunday before Labor Day.

More than 250 persons are employed at the firm with Local 16 representing an estimated 200 production workers.

Owner Loses Case, Keeps Fireworks

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller ruled Monday that 21,302 pieces of fireworks seized from a Grand Chute home Feb. 22 must be returned to the owner.

The ruling was handed down following a July 6 trial in which Mrs. Mary Ann Peters, 24, 916 Ridge Lane, was found guilty of possessing fireworks and firecrackers. The trial was held without a jury.

The question of confiscation of the fireworks arose during the trial and Judge Keller ordered Mrs. Peter's attorney and Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney, to file briefs on the matter.

In his ruling, Judge Keller said the fireworks are not made of materials that would make the items contraband and therefore they are not subject to confiscation.

Mrs. Peters is scheduled to appear in court Friday afternoon for sentencing.

Frinzi Demands Carley Quit as Committeeman

SHEBOYGAN (A)P — David Carley should resign his post as Democratic national committeeman, Dominic H. Frinzi, one of Carley's rivals for their party's gubernatorial nomination, said today.

"I am shocked," Frinzi told a meeting of supporters, "that Mr. Carley, unlike Mr. Lucey, did not feel obligated to resign his role as patronage dispenser when he became a candidate for our highest office."

"State law explicitly forbids a candidate to promise or secure a job as inducement for support," Frinzi said after saying a committeeman's duty "is to nominate people for jobs."

"If nothing else," Frinzi added, "the threat of criminal penalties should scare a candidate from such an obvious conflict of interests and potential criminal violation."

Corporations Expect to Net $100 Million

Sagging by Three Motors Won't Hold Back Top Earners

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The profit-setting pace of the top money makers points to at least 40 corporations that should net $100 million or more this year. This would increase the membership in this club of really big earners by three more than at the end of 1965.

And the total earnings of these leading corporations will be well above last year's, despite some foot-dragging by the three motors and one of the two steels in the club.

At the half-way mark in the race this year, 18 companies already had made more than $100 million each.

With the few exceptions, most of the compnies are setting a faster earnings pace this year than at the same time in 1965. This was also true of the majority of corporations, those who make more modest profits.

Earnings Up

The after-tax earnings of 1,316 nonfinancial corporations tabulated by the First National City Bank, New York, totalled $13.3 billion, or 12 per cent more than in the 1965 first half. Year-to-year gains were reported by 83 per cent of the companies. Their second quarter profits this year came to $6.9 billion, up 8 per cent from the March quarter and 12 per cent above the like 1965 period.

Manufacturing companies showed an 11 per cent gain in the first half of 1966 over the year earlier figures. Railroads were up 30 per cent. Electric and gas utilities were up 6 per cent and telephone and telegraph companies 12 per cent.

But it is the biggest money earners that produce the really flashy figures at the half-way point in 1966.

General Motors

As compiled by The Associated Press, the nine biggest kept their comparative rank — from No. 1 General Motors with $1.14 billion in net income in the first six months to No. 9 California Standard Oil with $212,929,000. But Mobil Oil had moved into 10th place with $174.6 million. For the whole of 1965 General Electric was 10th, but in mid-1966 it was 11th with $172.6 million.

After GM, in order, come AT&T as No. 2, Jersey Standard Oil, Ford, Texaco, IBM, Gulf Oil. Du Pont is No. 8.

Other companies making more than $100 million in the first six months of 1966 — their fiscal year — are Eastman Kodak, Indiana Standard Oil, U.S. Steel, Shell Oil, Union Carbide and Chrysler, with Sears, Roebuck also seemingly assured of a place in the club on the basis of its first quarter performance.

Seventeen other old-time club members already have reported better than $50 million for the first half and thus remain in good standing.

Good Standing

The three newcomers likely to enter the $100 million club for all 1966 are those who made more than $50 million in the first half, although not netting $100 million in all 1965. They are American Cyanamid, Alcoa and International Paper.

While GM and Ford retained their rank at the half-way mark, Chrysler had slipped from 16th place in all 1965 to 17th at mid-1966. U.S. Steel which was 13th last year is now 14th in rank. But Bethlehem Steel has advanced to the 19th post this year from the 21st spot for all 1965.

Despite the slippage in auto and steel earnings in the first half, the profit outlook for all 1966 was bright for most corporations. Profit margins have held high because of rising sales and use of more technically efficient plants. Threats of rising materials and labor cost next year may change the picture, but at the 1966 mid-point continued profit gains for the rest of the year seemed likely for most members of the $100 million club.
